

INSIDE EIGHT PAGES FROM SUNDAYIS

New

YOR

WEEKLY REVIEW

PA sets up roadblocks outside

Bethlehem

HERB KEINON

THE Palestinian Police set up roadblocks at the entrances to Bethlehem yesterday, protesting work the IDF is carrying out near Rachel's Tomb to further fortify the site.

15 NO.

blic

ned;

o low

file

rdan

 $= - 2 \omega_{\rm el}$

. tr c.

-----

. . .

1.11

1.1.2.2

. . .

. . . . .

1.11

· · · .

-----

. . . . . . .

. .

. . .

·. - <sup>12</sup>

.

----

upic

.

-____

 $e^{-\lambda'}$

F

· - 3157

. : **. :

 $q_{\rm e} = 1$

1.141

Peres calls for early elections SARAH HONIG

PRIME Minister Shimon Peres kicked off the 1996 campaign season last night by announcing – as long expected – that he is moving up election day. He did not specify a date. Likud leader Binyamin Ne-tanyabr. tanyahu retorted by saying that elections should have been held long ago, that he welcomes them, and that the date doesn't matter.

Both spoke at press conferences - first Peres, then Netanyahn in reply. Peres will invite Netanyahu to discuss neut. He began by recalling in detail the night of the Rabin as-sassination, down to the appear-ance of the dead prime minister in the morgue. He then listed the achievements of the current government, . including "the fact that immigration has continued unabated, unemployment had been drastically cut, the educational system has become one of the world's best, new overpasses have opened up the country, terror has dropped, the prophets of doom have been proven wrong, and even those who poured scathing criticism on the Oslo accords now grudgingly admit that they are the only real path to peace. The way has been opened for peace with Syria and peace in the entire Middle East." Peres admitted that negotiations with Syria on "security arrangements and water issues are

Israeli security sources said the roadblocks are an infringement of the Oslo accords, since the Palestinian Police did not inform the IDF of its intention to set them

Bethlehem Mayor Elias Freij held a press conference and sharply criticized the work near the tomb.

They are building a Berlin Wall through the center of the Prime Minister Shimon Peres announces last night in Jerusalem that he has decided to call early elections.

State Warren "Christopher's successful visit to Damascus showed taking longer than expected." He . that peace can be pursued while said he decided to advance the an election campaign is under elections after US Secretary of way ... I felt that to continue in the path forged hy Rabin and my-self, I need a renewed mandate." He elaimed that an electioo campaign "encourages the temptation for pressure and extortion.

It is best to cut such periods campaign without epithets like short. Elections are essential for 'murderer' and 'traitor.' We will exercise restraint - and I hope the democracy, hut a long campaign opposition can." is a waste of time and resources." He called for "a short, fair

Meretz, Hadash spurn Likud bid to join forces against Labor move said he didn't think that advanc-ing the elections is admitting failure in the talks with Syria. "It is an admission that the talks with Syria are taking longer than I thought, and we opted for early elections only after making sure. they won't halt the process." The issue of the Golan Heights will be subject to a separate referendum after the elections, he said.

Channel 1 several times focused on the face of Peres's bodyguard, as the prime minister spoke. A short while later, the name of the hodygnard was flashed onto the screen - Yoram Rubin, the same bodyguard who was wounded during the Rabin assassination.

In his response, Netanyahn ar-gued that these "are fateful elections, in which each citizen will have to ask whom he trusts more to conduct the negotiations and maintain Israel's security. We will pose a clear alternative to the government's policy.

"Unlike the government, we will make sure Jerusalem remains undivided, that the Golan prospers under Israel's control, and that a Palestinian state is not established, hut limited to self-rule areas. We will have to stabilize a situation gone ont of control in a foolhardy, hasty, and reckless negotiating process with too small a return. We will manage the talks responsibly, with utmost concernfor Israel's security."

Though he "does not subscribe" to Peres's vision of a new Middle East," Netanyahn did speak of. the oced for "a revolution in education to meet the new challenges in technology and communications ... till every child in Israel, (Continued on Page 2)

it

١đ

of 1-a-

a-

it

ut

ď-

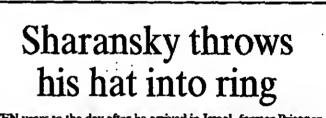

۱đ

id

1d

io

ry in

main street." Fren sa wall, if it continues, will kill the city of Bethlehem, the economy of Bethlehem, and will hurt everybody."

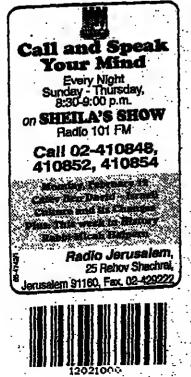

Gush Etzion residents on their way to work in the morning reported long lines of cars near Solomon's Pools, and many then decided to take the bypass road around the city. The Palestinian Police were reportedly stopping . both Israeli and Palestinian cars. Settlement activists said that work to further fortify and make changes at Rachel's Tomh in Bethlehem has been going on for about a month.

According to settlement sources, a wall is being built on the island in the middle of the road outside the tomb. The plan calls for a roof to then run from the wall to the tomh compound.

The road will continue to pass under the roof, but can be closed off when there are large numbers of worshipers at the tomb. The worshipers themselves will then be protected by the wall, rather than be exposed outside the complex. In addition; settlement officials said, two more IDF guardposts are being built just south and north of the tomb. Work is also under way to take down walls and place a ceiling over parts of the compound to make the interior larger. Settlement sources put the cost of the work at about NIS 6 million.

According to the Oslo agreements, the tomb and the road leading to Jerusalem are to re-(Continued on Page 2)

and the second second

Gozansky: Early elections bad for us, but worse for Likud HADASH and Meretz reported yesterday that the Likud had attempted to coordinate opposition to early elections with them, but both parties said they rejected the Likud's overtures.

Yasser Arafat's adviser Ahmed

However, Hadash MK Tamar

Tibi.

Hadash and Meretz, like the us is that early elections are bad for the Likud, and we are willing Likud, are known to have good to sacrifice our interests if this political reasons for opposing will hurt the Likud." early elections.

Environment Minister Yossi The Likud has been trailing in the polls since the Rabin assassi-Sarid (Meretz) was not as blunt, nation. Meretz has been also dobut expressed a similar sentiment. "We would not even dising badly in the polls and was hurt when its leader, Communicuss the matter, despite our very cations and Science Minister deep reservations about early elections. We sent the Likud em-Shulamit Aloni, announced she issary packing. We would not deal with them." would not be running again. Hadash, like the Democratic Arab The only parties who volun-Party, fears the challenge being posed by the new party being formed by PLO Chairman teered to support early elections came from the opposition. First was Moledet, though it is not clear just how many of its three MKs Moledet leader Rehavam Ze'evi actually speaks for.

Gozansky minoed no words: "We would have given serious consid-"Anything which can shorten eration to any such offer, had it the term of this disastrous government must he welcomed wholeheartedly," Ze'evi said. come from any other party but the Likud. Since the Likud came

SARAH HONIG

The National Religious Party to us, it made us determined to also endorsed carly elections, mostly because it thinks it has a support early elections, even though they are detrimental to good chance to increase its oumour interests. More important for ber of seats.

Prime Minister Shimon Peres won reluctant support for advancing elections from Meretz, Hadash, the Democratic Arab Party, and the two Labor MKs -Avigdor Kahalani and Emanuel Zissman - who will officially become Third Way candidates when the movement formally declares itself a political party tomorrow.

Meretz explained that it agreed to early elections after it received assurances that the peace process with Syria will not be halted or slowed down. The Third Way wanted assurances that it would be given sufficient time to register as a political party.

Thus Peres has more than enough votes to pass early elections legislation in the Knesset. Lahor faction chairman Ra'anan Cohen will tomorrow submit a bill calling for elections on May 21.

This is seen as a tactical ploy to enable Labor to "compromise" on May 28, which is said to really be its target date. However, some in Labor continued to predict that elections may, in the end, take place on Jane 4.

Likud leader Binyamin Netanyahu called a meeting of top aides and MKs yesterday.

Among the topics on their agenda was Labor's intention to abolish the law limiting TV news coverage of candidates in the month prior to election day, which the Likud sees as benefiting the party in power. According to surveys, it was said, Labor leaders enjoy a 70 percent advantage in the coverage accorded them on TV.

If the restrictions are abolished, the Likud argued, it should be for the elections scheduled for the year 2000, not for the present elections.

vears to the day after he arrived in Israel, former Prisoner of Zion Natan Sharansky yesterday formally entered the race for the Knesset.

(Brian Hendler)

Answering questions, Peres

The leadership of his movement, Yisrael Ba'aliya, unani-mously decided to become a political party and run in the upcoming elections. According to recent polls, an immigrant party is likely to win four to six Knesset seats.

Internal elections to select the 1,500 delegates to the party's convention, scheduled in mid-March, will be held at the end of the month. The convention will choose a 400-member central committee, which will select the Knesset list.

"This is the natural extension of our struggle to promote aliya in the Soviet Union," Sharansky said. "We want to make this country not merely a place of refuge, but a land which attracts Diaspora Jews because it offers a high quality of life and extensive opportunities."

(Jerusalem Post Staff)

Swiss Private Banking is moving now to you Bank Heusser, Basel Founded 1855 A group company of CS Holding Since 1855 committed to clients around the world, demanding the best in safety, discretion and asset performance. Backed by our parent company CS Holding (Credit Suisse), one of the leading Financial Organizations, with 500 subsidiaries. Meet our delegate, Mr. Josef Hess, on his coming trip to Israel (February 12-15, 1996) For appointments call 0041-61-2729525 (direct line)

or fax to 0041-61-2729533 (direct line) or call during his stay in Israel 050-298-764

والمراجع المراجع والمراجع الأشروح ويرون المرقع المصوف والمحصور والمراجع

King Hussein to Mecca to repair Gulf War damage

DUBAI - Jordan's King Hussein performed a pilgrimage in the holy city of Mecca yesterday and held talks with Saudi Crown Prince Abdullah, Saudi TV reported.

The Jordanian monarch traveled to Meoca to perform the Umra, a minor pilgrimage, after he arrived in Jeddah.

He is hoping to restore once incrative ties with Saudi Arabia that were severely strained by Amman's sympathy for Iraq in the 1990-91 Galf crisis.

Jordan's relations with Gulf countries have improved in the last few months, as Amman has begun to take a strong stand against PresiNews agencies

dent Saddam Hussein in Iraq. "The trip itself is very important and will provide an opportunity to discuss all that could bring good for the two countries," King

Hussein said on leaving for his first meeting with King Fahd since the crisis. King Fahd, who less than two years ago snnbbed King Hussein while on a pilgrimage, flew to Mecca last week to receive visitors. It was his first travel since suffering a stroke in November. Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak arrived

on Saturday, but Jurdanian and Egyptian officials said there were no plans for a three-way summit in Mecca involving Jordan, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia.

Jordan's newspapers, whose optimism on earlier fence-mending exercises proved un-founded, were confident that this time the Gulf War rift would finally be healed.

"King Hussein's impending visit to Mecca to hold a meeting with the Saudi leadership will mark the beginning of a new era in relations between the two countries after a hiatus of several years," wrote the Jordan Times.

Hadassah finds genetic marker for muscle disease

HADASSAH-University Hospital researchers have discovered a genetic marker for hereditary inclusion body myopathy (HIBM), a disease that is most common among Jews of Persian (Iranian) said.

origin. The finding two weeks ago could lead to the discovery of the actual gene, and already makes it possible to give families genetic counseling to determine who is a possible carrier

Prof. Zohar Argov, a senior neurologist at the hospital in Jerusalem's Ein Kerem, said the disease occurs in one out of every 1,500 Jews of Persian origin. There are about 80 Israelis who have been diagnosed with the disease, but "we believe others remain undiagnosed, appareotly because they are ashamed. We'd like to find them," he Other ethnic groups, hoth Jewish and oon-Jewish, suffer from the same or similar types of inherited muscular dystrophy, but with a lower frequency. Argov discovered the disease in the late Seventies and has searched for the genetic marker for the past 15 months. "Of ethnically related diseases, it is very important, and oo drug or other treatment is available," he said. HIBM is characterized by the appearaoce of progressive weakness during the patient's twenties; it causes difficulties in walking and using the hands. Patients don't die of it, hut some are very disabled due to extensive muscle damage. Until now, the disease was only detectable when the patient hecame ill.

JUDY SIEGEL

Molecular geoetic research, conducted hy Argov with Dr. Stella Rosenhaum of the unit of molecular genetic development at Hadassah-University Hospital on Mt. Scopus, led to the discovery of the genetic marker in all the patients examined. They discovered that the defec-

any and the second s

tive gene is located somewhere on Chromosome #9 and now want to find the exact locatioo.

"A more exact characterizatioo of the gene is likely to bring great advancement in understanding the course the disease takes," Argov said. "Therefore, we would like to examine as large a number of patients and their families as possible. In the not-too-distant future, there may be a genetic test to determine whether a fetus is affected.'

Families with a member who has been diagnosed with the disease are asked to contact Argov at (02) 776938.

÷

NEWS

Women's advocacy group for Knessest fails to woo press

GREER FAY CASHMAN

AN effort yesterday by the coalitioo of women's organizations to recruit female journalists to give publicity m women running for the Knesset backfired badly, as the journalists refused to allow feminist sympathies to intrude on journalistic ethics.

issues.

While agreeing to look into any newsworthy story, the journalists drew the line at running stories merely to give greater exposure to women candidates.

"Other than gender, you haven't brought us any political message," charged Hatzofeh's Naomi Golan. A male panel, she ### commented, would definitely not have focused on gender, but on Speakers representing WIZO, Na'amat, the Israel Women's Network, and Emunah were unanimous in ooting that the record oumber of womeo caodidates reflects a growing political awareness among womeo. Altogether, 69 women have submitted their candidacy. In the Labor primaries, 33 are running, 15 of them on the national list. There are 15 womeo would-be womeo MKs in the Likud, two io Hadash, two in David Levy's party, one in Tsomet, one in Moledet, two in the National Religious Party, and 13 in Meretz. Although WIZO is apolitical, said its world chairwoman, Helena Glaser, she would have oo the threat: "If yoo're oot with us, hesitation in calling on WIZO members to back Na'amat chairwoman Ofra Friedman in the Labor primaries. Conceding that NRP teaders have yet to understand that women have no less an important political role than men. Jerusalem City Counselor Yehudit Huebner advocated that women become more assertive. She proposed that the coalition hold a meeting with some of the most influential men in politics to make it clear to them just how much voting power women have and to spell out we're not with you." Alice Shalvi, of the Israel Womeo's Network, is convinced that the number of women candidates can be increased next time around, if the right training is provided for them.

Monday, February 12, 1996

THE upcoming election is likely to have a profound impact on the Middle East peace process, but ooe would not know that, given the declared positions of the two maio candidates for prime minister.

When it comes to spelling out specifics, there are few ostensible differences between the two on the two major peace issues: the Golan Heights and the future of the territories.

Prime Minister Shimoo Peres indicated he would not see these elections as a mandate on the Golan. Instead, he said, withdrawal from any part of the heights as part of a deal with Syria will necessitate a referendum.

Yet, if this election is not supposed to be about the Golan, it also comes at a time that the differences between the two big parties on the territories have apparently narrowed. So is this election the first post-ideological election? '

On the surface, this may be true. It was only four years ago when Likud standard-bearer Yitzhak Shamir declared that the IDF could not leave Gaza due to the ideological attachment to the biblical land of Israel. The center of political gravity has certainly moved since then.

COMMENT DAVID MAKOVSKY

Likud leader Binyamin Netanyahn is now saying that not only will Israel not return to Gaza, but it will not return to those cities in the territories now controlled by the Palestinian Anthority.

Now the Likud, alongside Labor, puts forward maps that illustrate which percentage of the territories would be controlled by Israel. The dehate seems more about numbers than principles.

Yossi Beilin favors a final map whereby Israel would keep most of the settlers - nothing radically different from Netanyahu's plan. Each side also pays fealty to a onited Jerusalem under Israeli sovereignty.

However, serious decisions will in fact have to be made regarding the Golan and the final-status talks. Yet doubts about the sincerity of Netanyahn and Peres in tackling these issues remain.

When Netanyahu pledged last week that he would never meet with elected Palestinian Authority leader Yasser Arafat, it reinforced doubts that the Likud leader is serions about continuing the current peace process. Rather, according to this school of thought, what he really seeks to do is to chip away at and ultimately destabilize the Oslo process and undermine any hope for a deal on the final status.

The Jerusalem Post

Some suspect that Netanyahu's gambit is to profess support for the peace; process, but only to capture the floating vote in the political center.

hifa

anor:

pineline

ngerou!

1.2

3....

All the second s

Same of the last

the second second

Stover and and the way

Set in the

C. .

MEDICI OF TWO

Mainride

2 20 200

THE STATE

ALL ST IN

ALZ ST

Carl State

1.12 - T. L.

1944 - A.

R

229.19

in 11

RECYCLOPEDIA OF R May the 23th Carrienty

Athan to Zhow Ennie

Allen Joines and Lines

- 18 N.

Le the to the 82.

á.

1 .--- i .--

Sec

44

2: . . .

1

. . .

1

ς. γ.,

وجكا

-12-

<ر :

1

The argument can also be made that Peres's maceuvers, such as flip-flopping on early elections, reinforce doubts about his sincerity. And unlike Yitzhak Rabin, who favored a referendum because he had a change of heart since pledging during the 1992 campaign that he would not relioquish the Golan, Peres seems to want a referendum after the elections to simply to defuse campaign attacks by Netanyahu.

But elections, and not unprecedented referendums, are the best times to thrash out issues of national importance. The public is entitled to demand from Peres and Netanyaho a campaign as meaningful as the consequences it is likely to face after the election. This campaign should not just produce a winner, but also a mandate for a definite policy.

Palestinian policemen stop cars at a roadblock at the entrance to Bethlehem yesterday. The IDF said the roadblocks, set up to protest construction around Rachel's Tomb, are a violation of the Oslo accords. (Brian Hendler)

(Continued from Page 1) main under Israeli cootrol. The accords also stipulate that Israel has the right to build two more guardposts at the site.

Last night, it was announced that the dispute between the PA and Israel will be resolved oo a Atrash.

ROADBLOCK

Rabin.

political level. The accoucceians against the huilding is schedmeot came following a meeting betweeo liaisoo committee heads uled for today. A settlement official said the PA is gettiog Brig.-Gen. Herzl Getz and Ziad pressure both from its oppositioo the construction. Meanwhile, PA officials said A demonstration by Palestin-last night that Yasser Arafat is to be sworn in this week, possibly this evening, as president of the national authority.

Jerusalem Post Staff

and from the Wakf to act against

NEWS IN BRIEF

Norway's detense minister arrives today Norwegian Defense Minister Jorgen Kosmo arrives today for a five-day official visit as the guest of Prime Minister and

Savir, Brodet leave for Jordan

Defense Minister Shimon Peres. He will meet with Peres and Defeose Ministry Director-Geoeral David lvry. He will also

Foreign Ministry Director-Geoeral and peace negotiations coordinator Uri Savir is to leave today for a short visit to Jordan

During their visit, the two will discuss hilateral relations, visit an air force base and lay a wreath at the grave of Yitzhak

Prototype next step for Nautilus

THE next stage of the Nautilus program is to develop a prototype laser system that can track short-range rockets and destroy them, Defense Ministry Director-Geoeral David Ivry said yesterday.

He said Friday's successful destruction of a Katyusha rocket by laser represented the end of the first phase of the Nautilus program, which was designed to determine the feasihility of the weapoo. The next stage is to build a prototype of a full system that would include a radar sensitive enough to detect short-range missiles and mortar shells. "The major problem is accuracy and detection," Ivry told reporters at a briefing. "You need a very strong radar and to coordinate the radar with the laser. This is a major challenge."

STEVE RODAN

Ivry said that the laser would undergo another test before the program enters the next stage. He said it is too early to provide an estimate on how much the development of a laser system would cost.

Defense officials have generally played down the success of Nautilus. They said the program is mostly directed by the US starting from the Strategic De-.

fense Initiative in the mid-1980s with Israeli involvement begioning only a year ago.

Ivry said the Nantilus's success would have no affect on another Israel-US program on missile de-

Unlike Nautilus, Ivry said, Arrow, which is being funded at $500 million over the next five years, is meant to intercept and destroy ballistic missiles at ranges way beyood that of the laser program.

He said another test of Arrow 2, the operational model of the missile, will take place soon, He. said the demonstration would not try to intercept an enemy missile.

Two killed, 39 hurt in road accidents

TWO people were killed and 39 city. She later died at Haifa's injured, two seriously, in road accidents vesterday. The driver of a car was killed

Rambam Hospital. bus was at a con

A van collided head-on with a minibus coming in the opposite. Police were trying to determine direction, and the minibus was whether she had slipped when the then hit from behind by a light truck. All 21 victims were Pales fense, the Arrow.

ine Leadership and Staff of israel Bonds mourn the untimely passing of

FRANK SIMMONS "

a longtime and faithful employee and Director of Israel Bonds Speakers Bureau.

Our condolences to the grieving family.

British Emunah

Child Resettlement Fund

mourns the passing of its mentor

CHANNA MICHAEL TY

Former leader of Emunah - Israel and extends heartfelt condolences to the family.

המקום ינדה אתכם בתוך שאר אכלי ציון וירושלים

World Emunah

mourns the passing of

CHANNA MICHAEL my

Honorary Vice-President, World Emunah

and extends condolences to the family.

הסקום ינהם אתכם כתוך שאר אכלי ציון וירושלים

To Mr. Zelig Barenholtz

Deepest sympathies on the death of your Brother

בנחמת ציון וירושלים תנוחם

ברוך דיין האמת

With great sorrow, we announce the passing of

Rabbi SHALOM ZVI

BARENHOLTZ 5"ST

Former spiritual leader of Congregation Ahavat Achim,

East Flatbush, Brooklyn, NY

Devoted to Tora study, love of Yiddishkeit, supporter of Hachnasat

Kalla - Yad Binyamin, dedicated and built many mikvalot in Eretz Yisrael and abroad, to beautify the ideals of Taharat Hamishpaha.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday, February 13, 1996 (23 Shvat)

at 12 noon, at the Old Cemetery, Tiberias.

Details from Tel. 02-664148.

The Family

The M Zimlichman Family

The M. Moskovitch Family, New York

The Z. Zur Family

Nathan Sharony (Major General Ret.) President and CEO

along with Finance Ministry Director-General David Brodet. especially economic cooperation and joint projects, with Crown Prince Hassan and other Jordanian officials. Savir will also meet with the new Jordanian prime minister, Abdul Karim JP Staff Kahariti.

Deputy FM to dress down Bassiouny

Deputy Foreign Minister Eli Dayan has demanded an urgent meeting with Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed Bassiouny to discuss recent Egyptian press reports that claimed IDF soldiers used Egyptian POWs as live targets, abused their bodies, and sold their internal organs for transplant.

Dayan oo Saturday night expressed anger at the reports, calling them an "ugly blood libel."

Dayan is expected to reprimand Bassiouny and thus send a message to Cairo demanding some cootrol over the sharp anti-Israel stories that have been appearing in the Egyptian media, official and opposition alike. Itim

EARLY

the Likud.

(Continued from Page 1) has a computer ... but we also need to anchor this new age in our roots, because there is a basic loss of values, of the spirit of the

to keep the election campaign return to Zion, to Eretz Yisrael, free of violence. and our rights in this land." path to elections ... and call on The elections, according to Nethe public to maintain a decent tanyahu, "should have been held standard." he said after conferloog ago. Therefore, the Likud ring with Peres on the date of the and Tsomet will support legislatioo to bring them forward. The election. date is not the most important

Batsheva Tsur contributed to this report

PA, Israel in row over airport site

Israel of trying to impose security control over a Palestinian airport under construction along the Gaza Strip's border with Israel. "Israeli soldiers have for the past 10 days tried to prevent work on construction of the airpor ...

north of Bert El when his car collided head on with an Egged hus and was thrown off the road and down a hill. No one oo the bus was reported hurt. A 70-year-old Safed womao was fatally injured when she slipped and fell off a bus in the from

US Jewry

MARILYN HENRY

Barak asks for support

whether the driver had not closed the door and begun driving, causing the women to fall off.

Twenty-one people were hurt, two seriously, in a three-vehicle collision at the Mashtela junction on the Beit Lid-Tulkarm road.

tinians on their way to work in Israel. Eighteen people were lightly injured when a milk truck skidded at the junction between Ashdod and Gedera, and hit a buscarrying workers. (Itim)

Syrians visit LA Holocaust museum TOM TUGEND

LOS ANGELES.

THE Simon Wiesenthal Center's Cooper, the Wiesenthal Center's Museum of Tolerance, which is associate dean. accustomed to a wide range of first last week when it hosted a six Syrian writers and artists. The group included three writers, a journalist, a painter, and a sculptor. They were conducted on a two-and-a-half hour tour of the museum by Rabhi Abraham

On leaving, two of the group international visitors, recorded a recorded their impressions in Arabic in the visitors' book. One wrote: "A very fortunate visit, with a lot of information on these 'ugly crimes against humanity." The second wrote that it was "a revealing and moving experience.

ATTENTION TOURISTS: Your vacation dream come true! And a profitable investment too! SHIRAT HAYAM ASHKELON An spartment hotel is being crected on the magnificent beachfront - for observant families. You'll enjoy full services of a luxury hotel with full bank guarantees. Call Nof Real Estate, 050-259919, 02-375161. Thedroom from $110,000 + 2 is drooms from $170,000 Listen to Arutz 7, 711 and 1143 AM, 105 FM super charter Galilee Jours THE LEADING COMPANY TO JORDAN AND EGYPT EBRUARY SPECIAL OFFER 🗢

PETRAORE day tour 120 INCLUDE VISITING PETRA, ENTRANCETEE $ 120 LOCAL GUIDE AND LUNCH REE PERSON

JORDAN DISCOVERY 4 DAYS / 3 NIGHTS B/B From SUL VISIT: AMMAN, UM-OEIS, MADABA, MT. NEBO, WADI WITH TLANES, SHARE

EGYPT 4 DAYS / 3 NIGHTS From, VISIT: CAIRO, PYRANYDS, EGYPTION MUSEUM 5 stars from 57$ per might BUS: ONE WAY TO CARO :30

FOR GROUPS CALL DORON AT 05. CALL-NOW 03-5252999 FOR FURTHER DETAILS. CALL ANY OF THE TRAVEL AGEN GALILEE TOURS BRANCHES: TEL-AVIV. 42 BEN YERUBA ST JERUSALER: 02-258866 TIBERIAS 06-720330

"We most keep standards of both verbal and physical non-vioelement here, and we will not leoce," Weizman said. "We have quibble over a week here or a experienced the terrible things week there." which are the result of both ver-Netanyahu spoke about bringhal and physical violence," he લ્યાંન

"including David Levy.

A PLO official vesterday accused and this is a flagrant violation of the accord we signed with them," said Brig.-Gen. Fayez Zeidao,

drop out of the race for prime minister and would not return to.

President Ezer Weizman,

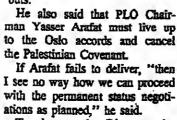

"I wish the natioo a smooth

meanwhile, called on the public head of the Palestinian Civil Aviatioo Authority. The IDF had no immediate comment on the allegation. (Reoter)

NEW YORK FOREIGN Minister Ehud Barak appealed to American Jews to support the peace process and engage in a partnership with Israel, but noted that Israel and the Diaspora each has different oriorities. Barak was in St. Louis yesterday for the plenum of the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council, an umbrella organization representing 117 local community relations councils as well as several oatiooal agencies.

He is scheduled to meet with delegates from the UN Security Council tomorrow

In a wide-ranging speech, Ba-rak assured NJCRAC of the governmeot'a commitmeet to Jerusalem.

"In the permanent status talks, our position-will be that Greater Jerusalem should remain undivided, under our sovereignty, the eterual capital of Israel Period." he said. "There are no compromises here. No 'ifs,' 'ands' or 'buts.' "

If Arafat fails to deliver, "then I see no way how we can proceed with the permanent status negotiations as planned," he said.

Turning to the Diaspora, he said, an agenda for relations is conspicuously, absent. Relations most move heyood charity to partnership, he said, but added, "a complete convergence of interests and concerns between Israel and the Diaspora is neither possible nor desirable. We each have our own priorities."

at a light of the test state at the second se

ing the national camp together, But speaking on Channel 1 last night, Levy said he would not

The Jerusalem Post Monday, February 12, 1996

ly set

NEWS

Klingberg seeks rehearing of parole request

CONVICTED spy Marcus Klingberg yesterday asked the High Court of Justice to rehear his request for parole before an expanded panel of justices.

47. 1

lus

ia z tria

1.717

- 23

 $\{ 1, 2, \ldots, n\}$

- 11 1.12

e . ve

. . . . .

- - - - - -

たいため

. .....

. . . .

1977 -14

· . . * .

- 1 - N

- :-:--

. : . .

1.4

. . .

_

12.1

SELON

بعرشية المرازي

33

يتريين المري lents

- t)

Klingberg, 78, was sentenced to 20 years in prison in 1983 for giving the Soviet Union information on chemical and biological warfare while he was serving as deputy head of the Biological Institute in Ness Ziona.

He appealed for parole last summer on humanitarian grounds, since he is suffering from several potentially fatal mayor:

Haifa

Pipeline

dangerous

DAVID RUDGE

THE cahinet decided yesterday to permit, for the time being, the continued use of a petroleum pipeline which runs under residential areas of Haifa, despite warnings that it represents an en-

It was also decided, however, that a thorough survey of the danger should be conducted by an independent body, which is to who has been leading the campaign for the closure of the pipeline, known as the "White Pipeline," following an alleged leak

last year in the Neveh Sha'anan

A high school in the neighborhood was closed for several weeks after teachers and pupils complained of feeling sick because of fumes from the suspect-

The Energy Ministry maintained that no breakages had been discovered after tests were carried out on the pipeline, and eventually the school was Nevertheless, Mitzna, with the full backing of local residents, maintained that the incident was

The Municipality has petitioned the High Court of Justice caused by a leak.

district.

ed leak.

reopened.

vironmental and bealth hazard.

A. three-justice panel rejected his request two weeks ago, saying they accepted Klingberg's claim that he has no intention of betraying additional secrets, but he might still do so unwittingly, and this is a danger that can only be guarded against by keeping him in prison.

Klingberg's attorney, Avigdor Feldman, argued that this ruling was a radical departure from the standards the court had previous-

Therefore, he said, the case merits a reheating before an expanded panel.

EVELYN GORDON

In the past, Feldman said, the standard has always been the prisoner's intent: Before someone's freedom could be curtailed, the state had to prove not only that he possessed dangerous information, but also that he was very likely to give this information to an enemy. Under this new test, however, anyone with any access to classified information could be thrown in jail, since anyone could inadverteatly reveal such information, Feldman noted.

"A legal system that curtails rights ... to defend against the unknown is, with all due respect, on the slippery slope toward becoming a legal system that neglects the defense of human dignity and freedom," be wrote in his request for a second hearing. The court's ruling, Feldman argued, rests on several assumptions: that Klingherg possesses information which he does not realize could endanger state security, that this information is still dangerous after 17 years, that it could be unwittingly conveyed in no more than a few casual words dropped in conversation, and that Klingberg is incapable nf controlling his tongue.

"With all due respect, this is a chain of assumptions that deviates in an extreme fashion from the wisdom, restraint, and sobriety that usually characterizes this court in matters relating to fundamental freedoms and permissible infringements thereof," he wrote.

He noted that Klingherg has complied completely with all the restrictious placed upon him in prisnn, even to concealing his name from his jailers. Druse begin demo Office

DRUSE and Circassian Incal council heads began an indefinite tent protest outside the Prime Minister's Office in Jerusalem yesterday, to press the government to honor its promises to increase their development budgets.

The council leaders maintain that they have received only half of the funds that had been promised them in a written agreement with the Finance and Interinr ministries.

They pitched their tent in virtually the same spot as the one that was crected last week hy leaders of the Union of Local Authorities (ULA), in a demonstration against proposed hudget cutbacks.

The ULA demonstration ended after a meeting between its representatives and Prime Minister Shimon Peres last Thursday night.

An agreement was reached to rescind the planned cuts and make funds available to consolidate deficits of the councils and increase regular budgets.

The Druse and Circassian council leaders, however, decided to continue with their own

Bus company must reinstate union workers

3

151

MICHAL YUDELMAN

pleased.

Gurion Airport.

dismissal.

faith.

organization process. But when

Histadrut queried management,

Gal Tapuz replied that the Hista-drut had no standing in the affair

In October 1994, the company's employees elected a works committee for the Tel Aviv and central area. The management confirmed its recognition of the committee's status and wrote a letter tn the hank, opening an

In December 1994, the workers declared a labor dispute, in conrdination with the Histadrut.

Ten days later the two committee members received letters of

Attorneys Naomi Landau and

Francis Raday, who represented the union members, said the freedom to organize is a basic right.

They maintained the two workers had not been dismissed in good

The court ruled that the dis-

IN a precedent-setting ruling, the Tel Aviv Regional Labor Court yesterday ordered a private emplayer to reinstate workers who were fired over a year agn for and the company could do as it union activity.

The court ruled that the Gat Tapuz bus company, which had fired two workers on the pretext that they had committed disciplinary vintations, had really dismissed them due to their efforts to expand the workers' rights and nblain a collective wage a subsidiary of Egged, to reinstate the two workers immediately, to pay their accumulated wages for the lost year of work and to grant them all the rights and benefits they would have accumulated during this time.

The court also ordered the company to cover court expenses of NIS 1,500.

The workers, Yisrael Yaniv and Avraham Steinherg, who represent 130 hus drivers in the Tel Aviv, Holon and Ben-Garion Airport area, were employed as drivers by Gat Tapuz in 1991.

The company employs drivers, conductors, supervisors, mechanics and administrative workers. all on personal contracts.

In September 1992 the Histadrut received complaints from Gat Tapuz workers, that they were being threatened and pressured hy management to stop the flights are to be from Tunis, with passengers having the option of buying a flight ticket or a full tour package. Yossi Tours has also arranged for a hotel in Djerba to provide kosher food. For the past two years, the company has brought Israelis to Tunisia on package tours via Rome and Malta. Englander said he hopes to initiate a weekly charter flight. The Lag Ba'omer flight will cost $500 to $600. In other air news, Adria, the Slovenian national airline, has resamed direct flights hetween Ljubljiana, the capital of the former Yugoslav republic, and Tel Aviv. The airline is represented here by Mirus Services.

missals had in fact violated the Basic Law: Human Dignity and Freedom.

First direct flights to Tunis this spring

HAIM SHAPIRO

:d

of 1-

а-

1-it

ut d-

١đ

id in ID ID IT

submil its findings within 90 days. This decision was welcomed by Chief Rabbi Yisrael Meir Lau meets with South African President Nelson Mandela during his five-Haifa Mayor Amram Mitzna, day visit to South Africa, which ended yesterday. 'I hope to visit Israel in 1996,' Mandela told Lau.

NEWS IN BRIEF

14 years for rape Talat Gazawi, 27, from Kalansuwa, was sentenced yesterday to 141/2 years' imprisonment by Haifa District Court for raping a hitchhiker. Last March, Gazawi picked up an 18-year-old woman up at Kfar Yona on his way to Haifa, pulled off the road at a deserted spot, and raped her. He confessed to the crime. In sentencing, Judge Micha Lindenstrauss said the courts are "obligated to fight against criminals and to protect women and girls against sexual assault." Itim

· · · · · ·

Con man sentenced on 24 counts Zion Avraham, 57, was convicted on 24 counts of aggravated fraud and extortion and sentenced to four years in prison by the Tel Aviv District Court yesterday. Between 1987 and 1992, Avraham, described as a smooth talker, operated a pyramid scheme in which he convinced people to invest money with the promise of better returns than a bank. He then used money from later investors to partially repay previous ones, pocketing a good deal in the process. Eventually, of course, the pyramid Itim collapsed.

Ethiopian immigrants and will be organized with the cooperation of the United Ethiopian Jewish Organization, the immigrants' umbrella Jerusalem Post Staff group.

Road safety chief quits Othniel Schneller, head of the Transport Ministry's Road Safety Administration and the head of transport negotiations with Jordan, announced his resignation yesterday. Schneller, in the post for over eight years, was heavily criticized for _lost of that time because of the continuing high number of road accidents. Supporters said, however, that he was never able to directly affect such essential factors as the number of police on the roads, or the physical condition of the highways.

The resignation is to take effect April 1. following the completion of the transport agreement with Jordan and the accident Haim Shapiro prevention campaign for 1996.

at PM's DAVID RUDGE

agreement

The court nrdered Gat Tapuz, committee members. In November 1994, the company canceled Yaniv's entrance permit to Ben-#### account for the committee. But once the committee, which was also recognized by the Histadrul's trade union division, actually began to act in matters relating to workers' welfare. management hegan harassing

for an injunction closing the pipeline, which runs from the Oil Refineries in Haifa's bayside suburbs to the center of the country.

Mitzna charged that the Energy Ministry had completely ignored the danger of the pipeline, despite surveys which had revealed that it constituted an hazard.

"The ministry has until now has opposed an examination by an objective body, as was decided by the cabinet, which will be conducted in accordance with the instructions of the Environment Ministry. This we welcome," he said.

Indictment of two 'Yediot' editors today

INDICTMENTS against Yediot Aharonot editor Moshe Vardi and former news editor Rath Ben-Ari will be filed in Tel Aviv Magistrate'a Court this morning, Justice Ministry sources said.

The two will be charged on three counts of commissioning and use of illegal wiretapping. The charges relate to listening to a cellular phone conversation between Yediot publisher Arnon Mozes and Ma'ariv publisher Ofer Nimrodi; attempting to tap Yediot graphic artist Orit Lipshitz'a phone; and commissioning bug on the phone of former Yediot editor-in-chief Dov Yudkovsky after he moved to Raine Marcus Ma'ariv

Tolerance program set up The Anti-Defamation League and the Absorption Ministry have agreed to cooperate in developing and implementing tolerance programs here. The initial effort will focus upon near Dimona goes online today. This is the fourth Channel 2 relay station, and will enable clear reception in the entire Negev from Ofakim to Yeruham, including Beersheba and Arad. The other relays are in Eilat, Givat Morch, and Bnei Yehuda, Previously Negev residents received Channel 2 via Bezeq transmitters in the Helen Kaye

Channel 2 comes to Negev Channel 2's new relay station on Har Mirbatz

TESTS on strawherries in the Even Yehuda area revealed unacceptably high levels of pesticides, and the Agriculture Ministry has destroyed 200 kg. of the fruit. The pesticide can damage an effort to take more serious measures against farmers who ignore instructions on the use of pesticides. In particular, the ministry began monitoring strawberries more carefully over the past month. Major growing areas checked included Kedma and he Royal Road to

The ministry's action is part of the nervous system.

Kalansuwa.

demonstration, specifically relating to the additional funding promised for development in their villages. These include the development and improvement of road, sewage and water networks and other mnoicipal projects. The council heads are to meet with Finance Minister Avraham Shohat later this week to present their demands.

Twenty-four hours after the ministry took the strawberriea

from the fields of Avraham

Karmi, who had leased them to

Nasser Abed from Tira, it was determined that the fruit was a danger to public health. Strawherries fram Kalansuwa were also had fnund to have high levels

The reports of pesticide incidents have caused the public to stnp buying strawberries, and farmers have complained, so the ministry decided to publish the names of the locations and own-

(Itim)

of pesticides.

ers involved.

Pesticide-contaminated

strawberries destroyed

Yossi Tours, who reached an agreement with Tunisian Tourism Minister Sallah Moani. Yossi Tours signed an agreement to execute the flights with TTS, a large Tunisian tour operator and owner of Nouvel Air, a Tunisian char-

THE first direct flights between Israel and Tunisia are 10 take groups of Israelis to a religious celebration on the Tunisian is-

This was announced yesterday land of Djerba for Lag Ba'omer.

by Yossi Englander, chairman of ter company which is to carry out the flights. The first three flights are to be on MD83s, carrying 167 passengers each, with flight time about three and a half hours. The return

HOW WILL YOU KNOW WHEN IT'S TIME TO RETIRE?

Age has something to do with it. So do the years you've put in at work. But one of the main factors in planning for retirement is preparing for financial security.

CommStock introduces Pre-Retirement Consultation.

Regardless of how close you are to retiring, now is the time to set up a portfolio that will provide maximum income when you need it. Consulting now with CommStock's financial experts can help you insure that when you're ready to retire, your finances will be ready t00.

For an introductory appointment call Douglas Goldstein, Director of Securities at (02) 244963.

COMMSTOCK

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO SUCCEED

CommStock Trading Ltd. (Est. 1981) Futures, Options, and Stock Brokers Jerusalem: City Tower, 34 Ben Yehuda St. Tel. 02-244963; Fax. 02-244876 Ramat Gan: Beit Silver,7 Abba Hillel St. Tel. 03-575-8826/27; Fax. 575-6990 Home-quote terminals-and beepers available.

OME 1,200 police complaints	ing of protected flowers and ere filed last year for violations	herbs such as hyssop; and lum-nature protection laws, includ-	bering. Most of the 367 files
g illegal hunting, damage to	opened on public disorder
tural sites and plants and litter	charges involved illegal driving nature reserves.	and damage by 4x4 vehicles,
The Nature Reserves Anthor-	quarrying, and littering or dump-ger enforcement.

ity yesterday released the figures for prosecutions it initiated in 1995. The report shows an increase of more than 100 percent in criminal proceedings initiated since 1990, which, according to seems to be one reason for the NRA spokeswoman Dina Weindrastic drop in the number nf stein, can be attributed to stron-Among the most common, serious violations prosecuted were

1,200 prosecuted under nature protection laws

LIAT COLLINS

herbs such as hyssop; and lumbering. Most of the 367 files opened on public disorder charges involved illegal driving and damage by 4x4 vehicles, quarrying, and littering or dumping waste in nature reserves. Of the illegal hunters, 82 were caught for hunting deer, a protected species. According tn Weinstein, illegal deer hunting > deer found in the north, a decrease of 700 between 1994 and 1995. Other offenses inclode hunting without a license, nut sticking to quotas and hunting in protected areas. Deputy Interior Minister Salah Tarif is among the people facing these charges.

136 cases of damaging natural as-sets, mainly the theft of corals from the Eilat reserve; the hunting of protected species; gather-Understanding the 20th Century -THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF REVOLUTIONS AND REVOLUTIONARIES From Anarchism to Zhou Enial - Martin van Creveld, Editor-in-Chief alphabetically in this unique, first-of-its-kind encyclopedia profiling periods of unrest and change from antiquity to the present: individuals, movements, events. Jerusalem Publishing House/Facts on File Publication. B & w illustrations throughout, hardcover, 496pp., extensive bibliography, index, chronological index.

Background to history and current events are covered

JP Price: NIS 179 + NIS 5 for mailing in Israel For door to door delivery (where available) please add NIS 15

To: Books, The Jerusalem Post, POB 81, Jerusalem 91000 Please Send deliver The Encyclopedia of Revolutions and Revolutionaries. Enclosed is my check, payable to The Jerusalem Post, or see my credit card details:

	/MCD Diners D	AmEx	Exp	1/2002
CC No:		Address	ID No.	\
City Tel./Fax (day)		Signature

WORLD NEWS

The Jerusalem Post Monday, February 12, 1996

> gerous game of brinkmanship with the paramilitary groups."

This theme was taken up in Spain, where Basque separatists have killed more than 800 people enormous responsibilities for having resorted to all manner of tricks," the conservative daily

ABC newspaper said. France's Le Monde said the Irish republicans' search for international respectability had been efforts by Sinn Fein's leaders to appear respectable." said the

But it added that "to say the least," Britain shared responsibility for the paralyzed peace process.

The British government, under

Unionist pressure, is more intran-

Nonetheless, it concluded:

"There is still hope this was only a warning shot and peace has not yet been killed off."

The detonation of the huge bomh in the Canary Wharf financial and media district is the latest in a long line of IRA attacks to hit

IRA bombings of department stores, bars and political or military targets in Britain in the 1970s and 1980s have given way to attacks on institutions at the core of the country's financial power.

The attack killed two people, injured more than 100 others and caused damage estimated at up to 100 million pounds (NIS 465 million), although the Canary

Wharf tower itself did not take the full force of the 250 kg

The IRA heralded its shift in tactics on April 11, 1992, when it bomb.

still ча . н

4.11

ia . .

Britain where it hurts most.

influential ceoter-left daily.

The bombing ruins years of wrecked by the blast.

sigent than ever.

Car bombs kill 17, wound 93 in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) - Powerful car bomhs killed 17 people and wounded 93 others yesterday in this North African country convulsed by an Islamic insurgency. Seventeeo people were killed and 52 injured when a car bomb exploded at about 3 p.m. io the Belcourt quarter of the capital, Algiers, according to official sources

The bomb exploded just as a minihus was passing a building that houses the Algerian newspaper Le Soir d'Algerie and the offices of several independent journalists and photographers. Witnesses said it blew a crater in the ground.

It was not immediately known whether any journalists were among the dead or injured. Islamic radicals began intentionally targetiog journalists in May 1993, and 58 have been killed, most recently an Algerian news-paper editor shot to death Saturday.

Earlier yesterday, a car bomb planted in another bustling quarter of the capital, Bah el Oued. exploded and wounded 41 people. French television sbowed dozens of people peering at the mangled wreckage of a small car used to conceal the bomb in the Bab el Oued attack. A woman wearing a headscarf and holding a baby on her hip picked her way through chunks of concrete. No one immediately claimed responsibility for either attack, but suspicion fell on Islamic radicals trying to topple the militarybacked government and replace it with strict Islamic rule. The government, reacting to the widening violence, clamped down by ordering Algerian newspapers to submit reports on terrorism to a government censor. The bomb that wounded 41 exploded io front of a heavily protected city office, and the building was heavily damaged. A hospital source said seven of the wounded were gravely injured and that the casualty toll could rise.

A source, speaking on condition of anonymity, told The Associated Press that the bombiog may have been the work of the Armed Islamic Group, the most extreme of Algeria's militant factions.

The source said a suspected group commando bad been seen walking in the area with an armload of materials. There were no other details, and the government did not confirm the report.

The bombings were the 11th and 12th attacks since Ramadan hegan three weeks ago.

STUNNED by a deadly IRA bomb attack in London, British and Irish leaders searched yesterday for political initiatives to restore damaged hopes for peace in Northern Ireland, despite obvious Irish government anger at what it sees as British prevarication.

As Prime Minister John Major summoned his cabinet for crisis talks, his erstwhile Irish partner in the peace process said London and Duhlin must act decisively to keep the shaken peace process alive.

"Risks have to be taken for peace. Governments are the only people who can make that judgment at the end of the day and indeed ensure that the violence is stopped," former Irish premier Albert Reynolds told GMTV.

Irish Prime Minister Jobn Bruton accused Britain of "pouring petrol on the flames" licking at the peace process in Northern Ireland by insisting on elections in the province ahead of all-party talks

He said that the British position on elections - thought to be behind the breakdown of a 17month IRA cease-fire - would only deepen the crisis into which the process had been plunged by a lethal IRA bomh attack in Loodon on Friday.

"I believe the idea of having an election of the kind suggested immediately after the resumption of violence would pour petrol on the flames," Bruton told Irish radio.

He was reacting to remarks by Sir Patrick Mayhew, Britain's Northern Ireland secretary, which he called a grave error.

"I would urge Sir Patrick not to pursue that path, to accept the advice of the Irish government on this matter," Bruton said,

Bruton reiterated that the Dublin government would not bold talks with Sinn Fein, the political wing of the IRA, until the cease-fire was reinstated. But his remarks on Britain's handling of in a 27-year campaign. "Major's government bears the crisis showed the clear rift between London and Dublin.

News agencies LONDON

In London, a spokesman for the British government said he was aware of Bruton's remarks but had no comment. A senior member of Sinn Fein, said yesterday the current stage of the peace process had collapsed but could be rebuilt if all parties involved worked together.

The peace process which was constructed over many years has collapsed. Now we have to go back to the drawing board and we have to start to rebuild it yet again," Mitchell McLaughlin

President Clinton led a chorus of international condemnation of the London bomh but some foreign newspapers accused Prime Minister John Major of playing a dangerous game of brinkmanship with the IRA.

Clinton said: "The people of Northern Ireland have chosen peace. They do not deserve to have a small group choose blood-shed and violence and wreck the peaceful life they long for." Newspapers around the world expressed outrage at the IRA's return to violence, with some saying its Sinn Fein political wing's quest for respectability had been shattered. There was also stinging criticism of Major for his hard stance at the peace talks. Saying there was no justification for such a "wanton attack" and that the IRA had made a "terrible mistake," the New York Times in an editorial yesterday said the bomb should be a warning to those involved in the conflict Urging Major to change track, it said: "He has been playing a dandestroyed London's Baltic Exchange, the world's leading international shipping market, in the heart of the centuries-old City financial district.

Computer beats Kasparov

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - A chess computer turned retreat into a winning attack Saturday to defeat world champion Gary Kasparov in the first of a six-game match. IBM's Deep Blue can master a move no human can accomplish: sifting through more than 200 million possible chess maneuvers per second. The duel is the first to pit human against machine for a regulation, six-game chess match. Kasparov ceded defeat on the move when Deen Blue

(AP) Rescue workers and police officers stand outside the Toyohoma tunnel where 20 people have been trapped since Saturday.

Dynamite gamble fails in Japan tunnel tragedy

JAPANESE rescue workers yesterday failed to dynamite a giant boulder off a collapsed road tunnel in which 20 people were entombed in two vehicles and hope had virtually run out of finding the motorists alive. The blasting operation been blasted off the roof, they might have been able to reach the motorists from the tunnel roof.

Workers, only able to see the scene through special scanning equipment poked through debris, they said. he front and back of a Geology

Japan coast between the towns of Yoichi and Furubira. Authorities said they would aim to conduct a second blast before noon today. Preparations for the blast would be made overnight, appeared steeled for bad news even before the dynamiting was carried out.

The bus is crushed, and I doubt if my daughter is still alive. I just want them to burry up with the work," the father of a 17-year-old girl on the bus told television staUS envoy tries to mend fraying Dayton deal KURT SCHORK SARAJEVO

US envoy Richard Holbrooke, architect of the Dayton peace agreement for Bosnia, flew into Sarajevo yesterday to tackle what he called the gravest challenge to the deal yet.

He warned the rival parties they had no choice but to fully implement the peace accord, threatened over the Bosnian gov in protest at the Bosnian government's detention of several Serbs, including a general and a colonel, on suspicion of involvement in war crimes.

Mladic himself has been indicted as a war criminal by a UN tribunal and is ineligible, under the terms of Dayton, to hold a public proposals in regard to Mostar."

Hans Koshnick, the EU administrator for the divided southern town, was attacked in his car on

(Reuter)

Holbrooke

arics.

last-ditch gamble to reach the vicums -19 in a hus and a lone motorist - who have been trapped since Saturday morning in the tunnel on Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido.

Relatives gave permission for the blasting operation after roundthe-clock efforts in light snow to reach the vehicles from either side were thwarted by tons of fallen rock and soil.

The tragedy happened when a giant rock slab slid off the side of a mountain overlooking the tunnel and speared into its roof, opening a breach through which poured dozens of tons of debris.

Rescue workers hoped that if the giant boulder could bave were crushed and there were no sounds or signs of movement. They were able to see the bus driver's hat and one hand, but keted by snow for up to six calls to him weat unanswered. months of the year. "We are worried time has prob-They said earth tremors first ably run out now for the people opened small cracks in rocks inside," one rescue official said. which were widened by ice forming in them from the constant When the rock slab fell, a 40meter stretch of the ceiling snow leading to regular massive crashed down from just inside one rock falls. A police spokesman said all of the entrances of the 1.086 meter-long Toyohama tunnel about 50 km. northwest of family members of the victims gave their consent to the blasting Hokkaido's capital city of operation and were aware it could Sapporo. The rupture started before the have caused a new collapse, which would have made the plight tunnel burrows into the mountain of their loved ones even more desthrough which it passes on a highperate. way running along the Sea of

However most were a constant hazard on tions. Hokkaido, an island regularly

"My son appears to be trapped in the back of the bus between shaken by earthquakes and blansome rocks, and he could still be alive. But, if I don't give my consent work won't progress," another father said.

Rescue workers planted a total of about 220 kg. of dynamite at 21 points in the slab, but when they were detonated, the massive boulder only slid about a foot off the tunnel roof, leaving most of it still on top. "We did not achieve our aim of removing the boulder because we cut the amount of dynamite for safety reasons," rescue official Makoto Niiyama said."

(Reuters)

ernment's arrest of suspected Serb war criminals and conflict in the divided Moslem-Croat city of Mostar.

"We are here to insist on full compliance with Dayton, no exceptions, no changes, Holbrooke told reporters in Sarajevo.

"We consider this as the first serious challenge to the Dayton agreement. All three parties are still saying they will comply but they are arguing over what compliance means. We are bere to help them straighten it out."

Serb army commander Gen. Ratko Mladic on Thursday ordered his troops to break off contacts with NATO peacekeepers peace process.

pinned his king between a knight met Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic soon and a rook.

Playing black, Kasparov was after arriving in the Bosnian capiputting heat on Deep Blue's king tal yesterday and told reporters: We absolutely reaffirmed full in the 28th move when the computer managed to maneuver its compliance with Dayton ... We furthermore reaffirmed America's way out of a defensive posture by capturing a key Kasparov pawn. The pawn was in position to snpport for Mayor Koshnick's move to the computer's final rank and be exchanged for a queen, which would bave dramatically strengthened Kasparov's hand.

Wednesday by Croats angry at his By the 29th move, Grandmasters plans for new municipal bound-Yasser Seirawan and Maurice Izetbegovic was earlier quoted Ashley were saying that Kasparov lost. The glowering, 32-year-old as saying his government would Ukrainian champion left the game hold on to those guilty of war site in Philadelphia's Convention crimes even if that jeopardized the center without a word.

COMPLEMENTARY MEDICINE HOLISTIC APPROACH
OPTIMUM TIME FOR ACUPUNCTURE	ידיית קינ אין
A Collection of Traditional Chinese Chronotherapeutics
The effectiveness of acupuncture is increased, when needles are inserted at optimum time intervals, according to the chronobiological theory of the interrelationship of the human body and the natural environment, times and seasons. Translated from the Chinese: hardcover, 126 pp., Includes tables, charts, illustrations.	Sami VICT
JP Special Price: NIS 79	Trans
EMOTIONAL HEALING with HOMOEOPATHY:	revie
A Self-Help Manuel	upon
FMOTIONAL by Peter Chappell	story
Traumas are the patterns behind	high
HEALING suffering: emotional traumas that come from feeling hurt. This	Pape JP P
with practical guide explains how to	JEF
MOMOEOPATHY unblock the traumas, with the help	Ahar of homoeopathic remedies.	FOR
IP Special Price: NIS 65	Trans Holo
And a second sec	stude
To: Books, The Jerusalem Post, POB 81, Jerusalem 91000	go "ir
Please send me the following:  Optimum Time for Acupuncture,	JP P
Emotional Healing with Homoeopathy	L
Enclosed is my check payable to the Jerusalem Post or credit card	To: Bo
details:     Visa   Isracard   Diners   AmEx	Please
CC No Exp
Name	l [
Address
CityCode
Tel./Fax (day)ID No	POST
Signature

relatives

IA

ed by Datya Bilu (1995). First d in The Jerusalem Post in 1993 Dublication in Hebrew, Jeff Green at Michael is "an enthusiastic er who does not shy away from ama." Sensual, poetic atmosphere. ack, 343pp. e: NiS 54

Appelfeid: /ERY SIN (1989) ted by Jeffrey M. Green. In post-, makes his way home, intending to straight line." Hardcover, 168pp. e: NIŠ 25

To: Books, The Jerusalem Post, POB 81, Jerusalem 91000 Please send me the following books:

E: NIS 5 for one book; NIS 9 for 2 or more:

TOTAL _

Aharon Appelfeld: THE HEALER (1990)

Translated by Jeffrey M. Green. In Austria on the eve of World War II, a businessman seeks a cure for his daughter. Appelfeld's evocative nightmarish atmosphere. Hardcover, 220pp. JP Price: NIS 25

Batya Gur: MURDER ON A KIBBUTZ: A Communal Case

Translated by Dalya Bilu (1994). The third Michael Ohayon mystery with plenty of local color," by the author of The Saturday Morning Murder and Literary Murder. Paperback, 356pp. JP Price: NIS 45

Itzhak Yanai (Kashisha):

Price

LONELINESS IS HIS DAILY BREAD Bilingual edition, English translation by Izhar Amon (1995). Yaron Golan Publishing House, softcover, 48pp. JP Price: NIS 25

Karen Aikalay-Gut: RECIPES: Love Soup and Other Poems (1993) Translator, poet, teacher at Tel Aviv University. Yaron Golan Publishing, Softcover, 64pp. JP Price: NIS 20

O.B. Kraus:

THE PAINTED WALL (1994) Diaries of Alex Ehren describing life in the Children's Block during the last three months of the Family Camp in Birkenau. Real events, in a fictional form. Yaron Golan, softcover, 224pp.

Enclosed is my check payable to		A495 A 2 2 - 2 4	1282
		C) Fax: 32-	241212
The Jerusalem Post, or credit car	d details.

4 . . **. .

The Jeru	salem Post, or cro	edit card details	SL of
UISA	ISRACARD	DINERS
CC No		• .
Name		Addresse

ID No

Tel.(day)_

City_

Please list gift recipients' names and addresses separate

Signature_

_Code

The Jerusalem Post

Monday, February 12, 1996

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Organ transplant

plistic

MICHAEL AJZENSTADT

the centerpiece of composer Ari Ben-Shabtai's latest symphonic work is an instrument that hasn't been heard in about 2,000 years.

Ŋ

The set of the set of the set of the $\sim 1.5 m_{\odot}$

- ----

.

112.00

2775

1.7

. 71 2

5 . L.

د... بيترين

· .

1. (m.445 **%)

1. A. A.

10 C 10 C

A. 27 A

. . . . .

. . .

. - .:

ىتدە .

1.20

- - - -

1.1

أتقييه

2.25

. 2

, . . . . .

000

-,10

54 - <sup>- - 7</sup>

The title of the 12-minute Magrephah is also the name of a type of organ that was used in the Temple, according to the 42-yearold Jerusalemite.

"Through this work I m trying to recreate in my mind how this instrument sounded," he noted a few days before its local premiere. Lorin Maazel will lead the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra within the framework of the Jerusalem 3000 celebrations. The work was first played in December in Pittsburgh, where one critic dubbed it "an important contribution to contemporary music."

When he received the commission, Ben-Shabtai began searching for a meeting point between the Jerusalem 3000 theme and the American orchestra.

The work, he says, "follows one-day in the life of the Temple. Israelites approach the altar as they are dancing and getting very excited." The American aspect was added once Ben-Shabtai imagined a Cecil B. deMille cinematic extravaganza. "It's not that the music is Hollywood film music, quite the contrary," he states. "It is my musical impressions of a sort of a huge Hollywood-style backdrop." In fact, the highly programmatic Magrephan is also subtitled Symphonic Pictures from King Herod's Temple.

Black,

Length was also a consideration in Ben-Shabtai's approach. There is a prohlem "when we are asked to write a short piece that opens a concert and which a large part of the audience can avoid by simply coming a little bit late. It does not enable you to explore and develop certain ideas. For such a piece you must write more simple music, although not necessarily more simond symphonies.

as part of Jerusalem 3000.

the recent Israel Philharmonic Orchestra competition for a new symphonic work. "It is still an overture, but a much that the IPO also performed on tour under the baton of Zubin Mebra. "Maazel leads the PSO in Magrephah Tuesday in Jerusalem.

His twice-as-long Symphania

Lorin Maazei will conduct Ari Ben-Shabtai's 'Magrephah'

Chromatica won the first prize in longer one," he says of the work

The program includes Mendelssohn's fourth and Sibelius's secMetal to go, hold the subtlety when we started hands.

distinction between the various areas of above-mentioned metal music blur together into a big white noise that sounds like it's played at 78 speed. And since trained listeners most likely can't hear anymore, we must generally

However, I can vouch for Aedy

tars will not make your speakers melt. If you could survive Black

"My dad played a bit of guitar. I

V out, and everyone else was hard-core and speed metal." If you understood anything in the previous quote by Paradise Lost guitarist Aaron Aedy, you should be writing about this kind of music instead of me.

I just mumbled "uh-huh" and continued jotting his pearls of wisdom on a call to Halifax. Yorkshire, last week.

take the bands' word when they The ex-death, hard-core, and describe what category they speed metal and now just rock-'n'belong to. roll-with-a-touch-of-metal band will be making an impressive third that the hand's latest release, visit to our shores this month for a Draconian Times, has tempos concert at the Tel Aviv Hangar on found in the real world and the gui-February 20.

"Our musie has progressed. I haven's listened to any of that stuff in years," Aedy explains.

Sahbath 20 years ago, you can It was the un-rock-'n'-roll hour make it through Paradise Lost of 8 a.m. and Aedy had just finloday. ished digging his girlfriend's car In fact. Aedy points to Sabbath front-man Ozzy Osbourne as the out of a snnw drift and was settling into a moming of telephone interband's main influence. views with Israeli journalisis. MTV has helped make Paradise remember him playing along to

DAVID BRINN

Lost one of the country's, and Queen and ELO, and my mom like Europe's, most popular metal Abba." Acdy says with a snicker. "But once I borrowed Blizzand of Oz (an Osbourne solo album], 1 To most untrained listeners, the knew what I wanted to do." The band members - Nick Holmes on vocals, Greg Mackintosh on guilar, Slephen Edmonson on hass, and Lee Morris on drums - met in their early teens and formed a band for the fun of it.

"We were basically a bunch of teenage drunks hanging around the puhs until someone suggest making a record to us, and we said. 'all right, we'll give it a go." Aedy recalls. Today, they are neither teenage nor drunk, but they have finished a five-week tour of Europe and Japan with their hero Osbourne and are preparing to crack the lucrative US market.

"We're relatively unknown in the US, but we hope that will change. Our previous records were handled there independently, but the new one has a lot of backing," he says.

a weakness for fried chicken.

McMillan and Bass's script swings between the four of them, and in this way keeps the action

But at two hours and a minute,

Waiting to Exhale is definitely too long. The episodic nature of the outline, slick veg-out quality of the photography and genial shallowness of the characters would be better enjoyed in one quick, glossy shot than in the film's present dragged-out form.

lively, for at least the first half.

The hand is anything but unknown in Tel Aviv.

"The last time we came here, in '94, we had a record signing appearance at Tower Records, and we couldn't believe how many people showed up. We thought a couple dozen might come, but there were hundreds. They chased through the mall there. We felt like the Beatles," Aedy says.

The band played three shows in five days, so they had plenty of time in between to act like tourists, which was fine with Aedy.

"I remember seeing a picture when I was a kid of a man reading a paper floating in the Dead Sea, so when we came here. I made sure to drag everyone there. I loved it in Israel. I'm into history and mythology, so I loved all the archeological sites and visiting the Wailing Wall," Acdy says.

"You read about the trouble here and think everything is going to be in conflict, but it was fine. We even gave a lift to a couple of soldiers who were at the Dead Sea."

Time flies for new music fest

MICHAEL AJZENSTADT

The music and the venue will be Israeli, hut the announcement came from the American Midwest.

Speaking via satellite from Chicago, composer Shulamit Ran announced last week the inauguration of a hiennial music festival. Tempus Fugit, that will take place at the Tel Aviv Museum from March 18 to 21.

The Israeli composer noted that her major aim is "to give this festival an Israeli look.

"A third of this festival is Israeli, Twenty of the 53 composidons that will be performed were written by 16 Israeli composers." She asserts that the festival's other goal is "to provide contemporary music a chance to survive after today and into the future. It is only for the performers to do that, and the audience, too, of course. Only through musicians who really care for the music of our time does this music stand a chance."

Ran, a Pulitzer Prize winner and the composer in residence of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, teaches at the University of Chicago yet maintains a connection with Israel. Ran was not ready to predict the possible commercial success of this new venture and whether local music lovers will actually show any interest in it. "This is a question with no answer. But the classical music of our time really suffers and the time has come to change that." Tempus Fugit will feature 20 different events in four days, most of which are no longer than one hour. Among the numerous musicians from abroad coming to the festival are the Arditti String Quarter, the Peabody Trio, clarinetist Charlie Neidich, and soprano Phyllis Bryn-Julson.

***

Directed by Forest Whitaker. Screenplay by Terry McMillan and Ronald Bass. Based on the novel by Terry McMillan, Hebrew tide:. Kmo Avir Lenestima. 121 minutes, English

Savannah	Whitney Houston
Bernadine	Angela Bassett
Gloria
Robin	Lela Rochon

pleasant, moody and trivial in its essence, Waiting to Exhale is the cinematic equivalent of easy-listening music. The film tells the story of four gorgeous black women looking for love in Phoenix, Arizona, and is perhaps best appreciated for its smooth veneer and overthe-top glamour. The stars' covergirl looks, silky wardrobes and postcard-perfect desert surrounding are hardly the stuff of tough It's a fantasy, then, a hip, black treatment of the themes that have filled the dizzy heads of white women's pictures from How to Marry a Millionaire on. In this sense, it's also a rethinking - if think isn't too hefty a term to use for such deliberate mindlessness of the sociology-strapped bestseller hy Terry McMillan, on which the movie is based. (She co-wrote the screenplay with Ronald Bass.) That 1992 novel also relied on an ample dose of schlock to keep us entertained. ("I fell on the bed and, through the open door, looked at his steamy silhouette in. the mirror, feeling my body's growing excitement.") But at the same time it aspired to be something more: a pointed message

Ьν

1$t

Эŋ

٧ê

d

it

ιđ

nt

ď

۶f

j-

a-

a-it

ut

d,

۱d

id

1d in ty in

from the front lines about the difficulty of being single, middle-class, black and female, while the only available black men are, in the characters' own words, "ugly, stupid, in prison, unemployed, crackheads, short, liars, unreliable, irresponsible, too possessive..." etc.

McMillan's novel may well be an accurate depiction of the sorry state of African-American romantic relations and of the companionship that so many black women can only find with their girlfriends. On a literary level, though, the book suffers from a tendency both to grandstand, Oprah-style, about male shortcomings and female strength, and to indulge in the sort of slapdash wishful thinking that lets the narrator describe the moming after a hotel-room tryst this way: "James thanked Bernadine for easing his pain. Thanked her for trusting him .... He thanked her for everything, hut especially ... for restoring his faith in black women."

The movie, though, doesn't mess around with too much of this leaden sanctimony. First-time director Forest Whitaker has both a fluid visual sense and a musician's ear fnr speech rhythms. These let him weave the plot's loose pieces together into a sexy. coherent whole. And his own acting persona is apparent here not only in his work with the cast, but in terms of his personality. In places the film has the same goofball charm of one of Whitaker's own gently self-deprecating performances.

Viewers might wooder when Oprah Winfrey is going to pop up from behind the coach, as these four black women talk about their problems finding good men.

Because of the revolving-door nature of the women's love lives, it's crucial to create four likable and sturdy characters at the center. (At a certain point, keeping track of each new guy begins to seem futile.) Whitaker and his cast manage this well. A surprisingly down-to-earth Whitney Houston plays Savannah, who's new to Phoenix, tough, and still half in love with a married man. The livewire Angela Bassett is Bernadine, a well-to-do wife and mother who learns in the film's opening scenes that her hushand is leaving her for a white woman. Robin (Lela Rochon), meanwhile, is a cutie-pie airhead who starts up with a different man almost every week. And Gloria (Loretta Devine) has a 17-yearold son, a hairdressing salon, and cold. Back in 1963, when the William Morris agency told him that that he had a nightclub gig in London, the American told them "no way. I don't want to go. It's too cold over there.

['ll follow the sun,' says tap-dancer

"I got off the plane and I was wearing a suit, long johns, an overcoat, a scarf, gloves, and a hat, and you know what, they had a heat wave over there. He's since hung his hat in England, permanently. He wanted to come here in the '60s, he says over the phone from his agent's office in London, "to get some of that good sunshine you have there," but it didn't work out. However, he's finally coming to appear with Gilad Atzmon and his band in the sixth Jazz, Blues and Videotape Festival at the Tel Aviv Cinematheque from February 22 to 24.

The band will play bebop, and instead of percussion Gaines will tap up a storm. That's how he started: dancing to bebop in a Detroit nightclub called The Frolie Showbar in 1948.

Born in Baltimore in 1928. Gaines grew up in Detroit, where he started to tap at an early age. He also began entering neighborhood competitions and winning "a couple of dollars. I didn't think about being a tap dancer, it was just a way to make money.

At the Frolic, "they had an amateur competition every week, and one week I won it. The prize was

HELEN KAYE

$50 and a week's work. But the owner, he liked me, and he kept me on for 13 weeks. The drummer was Babe Waters and he knew that I didn't know what I was doing, that I didn't know how to count. I listened for the melody, and there it was, every show, three shows a night and six on Saturday." When the Frolic Showbar closed, its owner got the boy an agent. Pretty soon he was tapping in nightclubs throughout the Midwest and "Babe Waters would call ahead and tell the drummer l didn't know how to count but that I could learn the melody."

Pretty soon, Gaines went to

New York and all through the '50s go to Ed Sullivan?' I said, 'Yes, I he was the opener for the higgest was there.' names in show business like Duke He nearly refused a gig at the Ellington, Sara Vaughn, Charlie "Bird" Parker, Ella Fitzgerald and Lionel Hampton. The high spot of bis career, and his big break, came when I did the last live show ever with Cab Calloway at the Harlem

Cotton Club." Gaines then went solo, making a name for himself in the clubs, and one day Ed Sullivan wanted him on his enormously popular variety show, "but I didn't like TV," Gaines says. "You make a mistake and a million people see you. So I went to the studio and went out again the back way. When the William Morris people [Gaines's agent] called and said, 'Did you tronic material.

arrangements in the disc are exceptional, "Some are rather hland, We dancers.

1

London Palladium for the same reason, but appeared there when he discovered that "white folks got rhythm after all. Jack Parnell's hand played with Count Basie and Duke Ellington when they were there."

and nightclubs all over Europe. He danced for Princess Margaret in a command performance at Cnvent Garden. He danced at St. Paul's Cathedral in Ellington's Sacred Concerts. He has even gotten used to the cold, but with snowdrifts piling up all over Europe this week, "I'm looking forward to the sunshine."

He has lived in England since, performing regularly at jazz elubs

It only took 10 years, but trumpet disc is finally completed

MICHAEL AJZENSTADT

Trumpet player and amateur athiete Ilan Eshed has run in many marathons, but none has taken him as long as his most recent race.

Ten years after the project began, the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra musician is about to release A Dance with a Trumpet, a CD of light classical arrangements on the Helicon label

It is a trophy at least as precious as the silver medal he was awarded in his age category from the most recent Eilat Triathion. "Now at home I have two display shelves. One includes trumpet mouthpieces and the other showcases sport awards.

Record-label founder Roni Brown had strong ideas about the project from the start. "He wanted to combine two opposing poles. He suggested that I meet with the best rock-and-roll musicians around, some of whom probably never even heard about Bach, and he said that they would provide the contemporary arrangements." The first musician he worked very lyrical arrangements for me. I remember that in the first recording sessions there was this soldier who hing around the studio. Later she became Rita. Rami put all his energy into her career, so my disc

Eshed got an unexpected boost

during the Gulf War when the IPO wasn't working much, giving him was frozen."

time to devote to the recording. "So for me when the cannons were firing the muse was working full speed. The producers opted for more dance-style arrangements. "Eventually I worked with with was a young Israeli returning Yehoshua Ben-Yehoshua who home after studies in the US by the arrived from the US and inauguratname of Rami Kleinstein. "We ed a huge recording studio here. worked together and he did some

We finished the work and I was thrilled that I did it, but nothing materialized. I almost forgot about it until suddenly Helicon showed renewed interest." Eshed is very happy with the disc, which features operatic chestnuts by Saint-Saens, Verdi, Donizetti, Bizet and Mozart side by side with selections by Vivaldi.

ing in the second

Bach and others in arrangements were working with new techniques for acoustic trumpet with what he at the time and it took time to masdescribes as "contemporary elec-There is talk about shooting a videoclip to help market the disc, using the exotic Bacchanalia from Saint-Saens's Samson et Dalila and shooting it with authentic belly Eshed concedes that not all the

"Of course there are always those who say that this is not the way to create classical music, that it is too cheap. But on the whole the disc has already gotten great exposure on the various radio stations, and ter them. The selections which were arranged last, sound the best." Still, he's satisfied with the result and easily brushes off criticism. I'm very happy with that."

OPINION

THE JERUSALEM OS

£

ł

5

C

- 15

C

Ξ

Ģ

F

2

F. DAVID RADLER, Chairman, Board of Directors YEHUDA LEVY, President & Publisher

Founded in 1932 by GERSHON AGRON

DAVID BRINN, Night Editor SAM ORBAUM, Features Editor THOMAS O'DWYER, Foreign Editor JUDY MONTAOU, Op-Ed Editor AMOTZ ASA-EL, Business Editor AVI GOLAN Executive Vice President, Ma PAUL STASZEWSKL, CPA, Vice President, Finance

DAVID BAR-ILLAN, Executive Editor

JEFF BARAK, Managing Editor ALEC ISRAEL, Associate Editor, Copy DAN IZENBERG, News Editor

YOSSI HORN, Vice President, Production STANLEY SCHRIGER, Circulation Manager BENZION MILLER, Tel Aviv office Manager

EDITORIAL OFFICES AND ADMINISTRATION The Jerusalem Post Building, PO.Box 81, Romema, Jerusalem (91000) Telephone 02-315666.Fax 02-389527. CIRCULATION - 02-315610. Fax 02-389017. ADVERTISING - 02-315608, 02-315637-40 Fax 02-388408. TEL AVIV: 5 Rehov Hamsser, PO.Box 28398 (61280) Telephone 03-6390333, Fax 03-6390277. HAIFA: 20 Nordau, Hadar Hacarmel, Telephone 04-623166. Published daily, except Saturday, in Jerusalem, Israel by The Palestime Post Ltd. Printed by The Jerusalem Post Press in Jerusalem. Registered at the G.P.O. O The Jerusalem Post 1996. Reproduction, or storage in a renieval system, or any other form, is prohibited without permission. Editors: 1932-1955 GERSHON AGRON, 1955-1974 TED LURIE, 1974-1975 LEA BEN DOR, 1975-1989 ARI RATH and ERWIN FRENKEL, 1990-1992 N. DAVID GROSS

The first fusillades

RIME Minister Shimon Peres made it official last night: the elections will be held early, probably on May 28. And for the first time in Israel's history the electorate will be faced not with a supermarket of choices but with the need to decide between two candidates for prime minister.

Some aspects of the direct election for the premiership may be troublesome. Not least of these is that Arab voters, who represent more than 15 percent of the population, may determine the winner by voting en bloc. That a community which clearly empathizes with the Palestinians should affect the country's destiny is as anomalons as it is risky. But the new system should teach the Israeli electorate that political fragmentation is not preordained, and that overcoming minor differences to unite behind a central idea can lead to efficient and stable government.

Though popularly elected, the prime minister will need a Knesset coalition to be able to rule. But his personal mandate will make his authority greater than that of any of his predecessors, and be will be freer to implement his policies.

Yet it is not the dramatic innovation in the system of government which makes this election perbaps the most fateful in the nation's history. There has never been a time in which the stakes were bigher and the differences between the two main parties more pronounced. Given these differences, it would have been nice had the contenders made their positions clear and their plans lucid. Unfortunately, both sides are guilty of obfuscation.

If Peres's presentation yesterday is an indication of the line be intends to follow, the public will know almost nothing about his program. Peres devoted a sizeable portion of his speech to recapitulating in detail the late Yitzhak Rabin's last moments. This not only belied his vow not to exploit the assassination for electoral purposes. It gave the distinct impression that while he may avoid verhal violence in the campaign, he will not eschew a shameless appeal to irrational emotionalism. Counting on the assassination backlash to award him the personal mandate he craves is hardly a sign of responsible leadership.

Peres painted the region's future in glorious colors, but he was less than forthcoming about his plans. Convinced that the Oslo agreements are working, he claimed that even their opponents now accept them. There is, however, a substantial difference hetween recognizing the reality these agreements have created and accepting them as beneficial for Israel. Nor can Peres's assurances about the waning of terrorism be taken too seriously. The lull in terrorist activity is described by the intelligence community as a temporary stratagem intended to last only until after the elections. And the massive, belligerent Palestinian participation in the Yihye Ayyash commemoration in Nablus over the weekend tends to confirm that Peres's assurances may be premature.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

All commentators have praised Peres's cunning in announcing that the Golan issue will be submitted to a referendum following the election whenever an agreement with Syria is reached. This enables those who oppose the retreat from the Golan - according to polls a large majority of the population - to vote for Labor confident that they can still oppose the withdrawal in a referendum.

But it is doubtful that there are Israelis wbo believe that a Labor government will not relinquish the whole Golan in exchange for a peace treaty. It would enhance Peres's credibility if. having told the Syrians that he is ready to withdraw from the Golan, he will also say so to the Israeli electorate

Nor is there any doubt that Peres, for all his hawkish talk about Jerusalem's integrity, has approved of Oslo-like negotiations on the city's future, and that a "compromise" to divide the city will he reached if be is elected. This, too, may be a price Israelis are willing to meet in return for the promise of permanent regional peace. But the public deserves an honest appraisal of the price it is expected to pay for this gamble.

Above all, Peres has yet to tell the electorate bow he aims to reconcile the inevitable consequence of the Oslo process - the establishment of a PLO/Hamas state ahutting Israel - with the country's security requirements.

Regrettably, his opponent Binyamin Netanyahu has been just as evasive and murky in presenting the opposition's case. What the public wants from a challenger is not bland assurances hut a blueprint of what he intends to do if and when he assumes power. Such an account is even more pertinent when the opposition claims that the facts created by the current government are mortally dangerous to the country's security.

The question is not whether the opposition will "accept" these accomplished facts - that it will not start a war to reverse them should be taken for granted - hut what precisely it intends to do about containing them. The public would like to hear not only that a government under Netanyahu's leadership is committed to keeping the Golan, preserving Jerusalem's unified status and making peace, but how be intends to hring all this about. Last night both candidates promised to conduct a clean, civilized campaign. But it is also imperative that at this crossroad in the nation's history the campaign contain a frank and honest debate over the fateful national issues. Anything less will be an insult to the voters' intelligence.

HANDS ACROSS THE CONTINENT Dreams and doubts of the peace agreement - remains unacceptably high. And the insta-

Sprime minister, Shimon Peres has abandoned nearly every tenet of Israeli policy vis-a-vis the Golan. Not only has Israel's strategy shifted, introducing a "new approach" to the negotiations; its leaders have declared their intention to offer Hafez Assad a deal he "can't refuse" code, words for complete Israeli withdrawal. Israel has even expressed a readiness to compromise on the heretofore non-negotiable demand for Israeli-manned early warning stations.

Going against every negotiating rule, Peres has announced not Israel's opening position, but its final negotiating stance - leaving very little to give when the actual negotiations begin.

The mandate for Peres's policies must have originated in his dreams, because the Israeli people have rejected the idea of ahandoning the Golan. Labor's platferm during the last elections - on which the nation elected Rabin, and to which Peres is still morally bound - clearly states that the Labor Party sees withdrawal from the Golan as a security danger.

Why have we changed our strategy? Whence the new confidence that the Syrian government is prepared to make peace with us?

Our northern border is still harassed by Hizbullah, whose attacks are sponsored (or at least acquiesced in) by Syria. Official Syrian declarations are at best inconsistent. The only "concession" hy Damascus has been to agree to restart negotiations (so they can hear more about our concessions); and for all our optimism over the talks in Maryland, the only true advance has been that the Syrians are now willing to allow us to fold

The irony is that if it wasn't for the Irish Republican

Army, Ireland would be effectively united hy now. But you still can't help feeling sorry for Being the spokesman for the

Sinn Fein, the IRA's political front, is always a thankless joh,

for some of the people Adams represents are fanatics he cannot con-

But calling the White House to tell President Bill Clinton that the poor old Gerry Adams.

trol.

Syria is making unrealistic and impractical demands, and insisting on them in the knowledge that we are more eager than they, and that we will eventually comply. Our leaders have all but confirmed this. And yet Assad is making these demands at a time when the Syrians are most vulnerable.

Politically isolated, effectively stripped of their peace veto (the Palestinians and Jordanians went ahead without them), militarily exposed and economically depressed, the Syrians need peace with Israel far more than Israel needs peace with Syria.

Still, Peres tells President Clinton that Syria is the key to

The benefits of peace with Syria do not offset the risks

regional peace - an absurd declaration that has served only to nentralize Syria's shortcomings and guarantee greater American pressure on Israel to compromise.

Talk about dreams ... Assad conidn't have dreamed of a more helpful Israeli approach - nor for a more naive negotiating partner.

bility of the Syrian regime, with no known clear successor to Assad, increases the risk further. Those who declare that territory is less important in the missile age are misleading the public. Nations are conquered with tanks and infantry, and land is an essential asset in the defense of our country. Simply stated, the benefits of peace with Syria do not offset the risks of peace. And this being the case, we ought to be making it clear to the Syrians that we are more than willing to continue with the status quo until such time as they find it in their interests to be more fiexible.

Which brings us to the rush toward an agreement.

The government's hasty approach is designed to present the electorate with a de facto agreement - an offer Peres is betting we won't be able to refuse. (The last instance of such government-sponsored arrogance brought this country as close to the brink of military defeat as we have ever known. )

Armed with a powerful tool for quelling dissent (their actions are presented as being a continuance of our fallen leader's policies), and secure in the knowledge that Israelis will find it hard to say no to an agreement already reached, the government pushes on, certain that it has a monopoly on the

ROLEF reveral years ago the mayor Sof one of the cities in the vicinity of Tel Aviv complained that the Haifa skyline had been ruined by a mosque which had been constructed in the city's Kababir neighborhood on Mount

The Jerusaiem Post

The

Haifa

eyesore

SUSAN HATTIS

pere They

للسماحي والأشطت الدوار أبار المسترك المتر

------

Monday, February 12, 1996

Carmel. What offended the mayor who had apparently solved all the problems of ugly architecture in his own city - was the fact that the mosque had two minarets.

Since the mayor argued at the time that his comment sprang from purely esthetic considerations, and had no racial connotations, I have been expecting to hear his loud cry of outrage at the sight of the monstrosity that has gone up on the southern outskirts of Haifa, where the Hayat Beach used to be. .

But alas, there has been not a munnur.

For most Haifaites who lived in the city in the '40s, '50s and '60s, Hayat Beach (which used to be

I'm not a destructive person. But I couldn't banish this fantasy owned by a wealthy Arab family that escaped the city during the War of Independence) holds many fond memories.

5

ts

Alexandra and a second

March and a second

7-1.

125- million (1997)

R. . . .

and the second s

How

and the second

na v<sub>isto</sub>ra

·····

****e ....

7.5

6

уг......

Pres, La

E en Pra

S. .....

.

The State .

÷ ...

.

1

PHILE &

C. Carro

.

٩.

10-25

( 1. sec.)

÷.,

r., ٠.,

4.1.

1

1 m -

727-

Before they became aware of . the dangers of skin cancer, everyone who was anyone in the city used to spend long stretches of the summer months enjoying themselves on this well-maintained beach.

Sometime in the course of the 60s all the structures along the beach were torn down, and it was announced that some fancy project would go up in their place.

Almost 30 years went by, and nothing happened. Then, one fine day, things started to move.

What has been constructed is an enormous apartment building, with a view of the sea on one side and Mount Carmel on the other.

The apartments - with their admittedly scenic views - are learly way beyond the reach the average Israeli. But this vast ILEG († 94

AVIGDOR KAHALANI completely before their very eyes.

> LET'S make one point perfectly clear: Complete Israeli withdrawal from the Golan is a strategic and political error.

The Syrian front is unlike the Egyptian front, with the vast, demilitarized Sinai serving as an effective buffer. The risk of a Syrian assault on an Israel without the Golan - even if dramatically reduced hy the effects and mood

Sweet, bloody seduction

GWYNNE DYER

All kinds of joint husiness ven-

the old tribal mistrust between Catholics and Protestants would hit different. Over 3,000 people are dead, and the inter-Irish border is one of the most heavily guarded in Europe. Mistrust between the two communities in Northern Ireland has never been greater, and the Protestant majority in the North still believes (falsely) that

The powerful myth of the gunman:

a 'terrible beauty'

the Irish Republic is a monolithic

Catholic juggernaut that would crush them if they abandoned their

YOU couldn't have done a more effective job of sabotaging Irish

Thanks to the IRA, things are a have been greatly eroded.

versa

truth We all want peace. It has been our dream ever since we were forced to fight for our place in the sun. But dreams cannot be imposed on an unwilling reality.

That's the stuff of nightmares.

The writer is head of The Third Way

chunk of concrete adjacent to the beach on one side and audging the main road and the Haifa-Tel Aviv railway line on the other is so off-putting that I cannot imagine anyone with with any sort of esthetic sense choosing to live there.

MY OWN reaction every time.1 pass the site on my way into Haifa is a feeling of decided nansea, hut until recently I couldn't quite pinpoint the reason for its intensity.

Then, several weeks ago, I. understood. I was visiting London a while ago, and went to see an exhibition entitled "Art and Power" at the Hayward Gallery. The exhibition portrayed the art and architecture of Stalin's Soviet Union, Mussolini's Italy, Hitler's Germany, and Franco's Spain.

In addition to these dictators stifling what they regarded as "decadent" art, they were also all angaged in grandiose architectural projects, with the idea that they would constitute lasting-monuments to themselves.

I was taking in the exhibit when it suddenly came to me that the giant building at Hayat Beach in Haifa would have fitted perfectly into any one of the daunting projects on show in London

If my memory doesn't fail me, the edifice it most resembles is the Commissariat for Industry, planned (but never actually constructed) by Stalin.

Presumably all the Haifa planning authorities gave their go-ahead for the building. What I cannot understand is how; and I hate to think why.

I know the chances of the building disappearing overnight are nil, but I have a dream, and it_ haunts me.

Remember the opening of the TV series NYPD? There's a shot of this enormous anartment building, one of those put up during the '60s in New York City, perhaps as part of an ill-conceived slum clearance project. Then you see the building being tom down, collapsing in seconds into a pile of rubble.

Now I don't normally like to see destruction of any kind. But I cannot rid myself of the fanstasy that one day soon, before anyone has a chance to move into the Haifa monstrosity, it will suffer the same fate.

The writer is a political scientist.

The IRA has been illegal in the myth of the gumman still has a Catholic minority had no prospect of ever winning its goal tive. But the results have been well, terrible.

After 25 years of "armed struggle," the IRA seemed to reach that conclusion itself in 1994. It was being contained at a cost in money and lives that Britain could easily go on paying forever, and there was no reason to believe that would change. So a unilateral cease-fire at least offered it some political credit.

ogy of the gumman despise such crass political calculations, and for the moment they have won over their IRA colleagues. But the new violence may not last very long, and it certainly isn't going to get them anywhere.

journalist and historian

المكذا من الاجل

War I, hoping all of Ireland would follow them in revolt against British rule. But they died under British cannon fire or were hanged completely open borders between afterwards, and there was no mass the Irish Republic and the North. Hundreds of thousands of people uprising.

would have moved from the What happened, instead, is that Republic to the North and vice the "gunman" was canonized in Irish literature and mythology as the epitome of romantic nationaltures would have soring up, and ism. "A terrible beauty is born," said Yeats, but the aftermath was much more terrible than beautiful > with a Catholic majority had won independence from Britain. But the gunmen of the IRA then fought a two-year civil war against their own government for making a deal that did not force London to compel the Protestants of the north to accept Dublin's rule too.

Irish Republic ever since, but the powerful grip on many Irish minds. In the North, where the of unification with the Catholic south hy democratic means, its appeal was particularly seduc-

Those brought up in the mythol-

The writer is a London-based

THE MESSENGER several years ago that the blood of Sir, - In her comment column of January 26, Judy Siegei-Itzkovich Ethiopian immigrants is disposed of. as international regulations bar the use of hlood from high-risk groups;

I witnessed donations hy Ethiopians, and saw they weren't told their hlood would not be used. Anyone could have reached the same conclusion - the health minister included.

Unlike Ma'ariv, I chose not to publish it, because to do so would have caused uniold harm to the immigrants and hring absointely no health benefits. A noble, sensitive community, the Ethiopians would have been highly offended if, upon coming to donate blood, they would have received a questionnaire listing

Ethiopian immigrants along with drug addicts and homosexuals as high-risk groups who many not donate. Since most Ethiopian hlood donations are from soldiers who come as groups, being singled out and told to go home because of their high risk of HIV would have been devastating. There was absolutely no element of racism in MDA's decision. Ethiopian immigrants are no more protected from HIV infection

among themselves now that the sto-

does not seem to understand where the problem exists regarding the stigmatization of Ethiopian immigrants. The problem does not lie with Ronel Fisher revealing that most hlood donations by Ethiopian Jewish immigrants are destroyed. She is hlaming the messenger and not the prohlem. Her advice that the offices of Ma ariv be picketed borders on the ridiculous.

The problem does not exist even in the Ethiopian Jewish community. The problem exists completely with those health officials at the Health Ministry and Magen David Adom who took it upon themselves to take a decision in a rather high-handed manner and without consulting with members of the Ethiopian immigrants in an open and understanding manner their concern about using contaminated blood.

I am sure that no one, irrespective of country of origin, wants to be infected with tainted blood, and it is not beyond reason to believe that had such consultations taken place, the public embarrassment and the stigmatization that occurred might have been avoided. It is a symptom of the malaise of this country that Health Minister Ephraim Such does not take responsibility and resign. ANATOL FELDMAN

Pardesiya.

Health Reporter Judy Siegel-Itzkovich comments:

1 myself figured out by deduction

WHO'S A JEW

Sir, - I refer to Norman Loberant's letter of January 30, "Cynical marriage certificates to those perstand." Perhaps the question for the interior minister is not whom he should register as a Jew, but why he should register anyone as a Jew. Surely the interior Ministry should register everyone as "Israeii." If it is necessary to keep a register of Jews, this should be at the Ministry of Religious Affairs. The Ministry of Religious Affairs could Amiad.

ry is out - hut the "scoop" has caused immense, perhaps irreparahie harm to the community and its relations with other Israclis, and in Israel's image abroad. The blood controversy, which has lost all proportions in my view, was the spark that ignited the immigrants' anger over a variety of absorption problems and fed the political forces in an election year. then suit be responsible for issuing sons who meet its criteria, whilst the Interior Ministry would also accept marriages not carried out with Ministry of Religious Affairs certificates. Isn't this exactly the position of Jews throughout the world?

VICTOR BLOOM

Sir, - After reading the letter form Deputy Education Minister Micha Goldman on January 12, we now understand one of the reasons the schools are in the mess they're in; if the deputy minister can't do simple arithmetic, how can we expect more from the teachers and pupils? Those of us Israelis who have returned home know that our children were in school 35 hours each week, ont of which 30, or about 85 percent, were instructional hours, just as Goldman said. But here in Israel my children are in elementary school not until two o'clock as the deputy minister stated is the average, hut only until 12:45 (11:45 on Fridays), and I live in what is considered an upper-income neighborhood. Five days at 4.75 hours and one at 3.75 equal a mere 27.5 hours weekly, not the 32 that Goldman claims, and nnly 23 of those, or $3, percent are instruction-

EDUCATION IN ISRAEL

al hours. In the State Religious schools only 72 percent are speni learning because the children start each day with prayers. Furthermore, all elementary teachers in the US must possess at least a bachelor's degree, and free public education is just that - no added fees are allowed to be levied. Maximum class size in most US states is limited to well under 30 pupils, unlike the 41 in cities here. We who have been complaining that the quality as well as the quantity of the schools in our homeland been laboring under false impressions. MK Goldman, as a product of school-week system benefits them (which it does), he forgot an even larger sector that the Labor Party far more than any other group in nur society

Kochav Yair.

to come. goal.

also needs: working women. The short school day handicaps mothers

KEREN DAVIDOFF

17-month cease-fire in Northern Ireland was over - just minutes hefore a massive IRA homh exploded in London - must have made Adams wonder about job openings in some less demanding area of public relations. Faced with a choice between internal division and renewed war, the IRA followed its instincts and went back to bombs. It has lost much of its remaining popular support hy hreaking the peace, hnt it still has enough dedicated "soldiers" to operate at a low level hoth in England and in Northern Ireland for many years

What it cannot do is escape the hasic paradox of its existence. It is an organization consecrated to the cause of a united Ireland and it has become the greatest obstacle to the realization of that Imagine for a moment that the IRA had not exploited the civil rights struggle of the late '60s in gy? Northern Ireland to relaunch an armed struggle against "British occupation.

The mistrealment of the Catholic minority in the North by the Protestant majority would have been ended even more quickly if the Protestants had not been able to wrap themselves in the British flag. And in 1973, both the United Kingdom and Ireland ioined the Common Market (now the European Union).

If there had been no war in Northern Ireland, by now there would now have been 23 years of Easter Rising in Dublin in 1916, penned the lines that have cursed Ireland ever since: "I write it out in a verse:/

British ties.

MacDonagh and MacBride/And Connolly and Pearse/Now and in time to be/Wherever green is worn/Are changed, changed utter-ly:/A terrible beauty is born."

MacDonagh and MacBride and Connolly and Pearse were among the couple of hundred Irish nationalists who seized several central Duhlin huildings during World unity if you wanted to. So why does the IRA persist with such a spectacularly unsuccessful strate-Seventy-five years ago the Irish poet W.B. Yeats, writing about the are substandard have not, it seems, the system, proved that for us beautifully. In his hlatant political attempt to convince the religious public that a long-school-day/short-

By 1921 the parts of Ireland

It's Reaganomics, Alive and Irresistible

By DAVID E. ROSENBAUM

MANCHESTER, N.H.

N the minds of voters, the most important distinction between Bob Dole and Steve Forbes may not be that one has been a Washington insider for decades and the other has never held elective office. It may not. even be that one must abide by rigid spending limits. while the other has a seemingly limitless fortune to.

spend on his campaign. No, as a political matter, the biggest difference between Bob Dole and Steve Forbes may turn out to be their prescriptions for the economy.

The difference comes with the return of what George Bush called "voodoo economics." Mr. Forbes, advocating economic principles that Ronald Reagan used 16 years ago to defeat Mr. Bush for the Republican Presidential nomination, promises a pain-free tax cut. Senator Dole holds the conventional view that lowering the Federal budget deficit is the most crucial step the Government can take, agonizing as it may be.

In Washington and in academic circles, the overwhelming consensus is that Senator Dole's position is the responsible one and that the supply-side theories Mr. Forbes espouses were largely discredited in the 1980's.

But out here on the campaign trail, with the lowa caucuses tomorrow and the New Hampshire primary in another week, Mr. Forbes is breezing ahead with his advocacy of a flat tax so low that everyone's taxes would be reduced and his precept that Government revenues would increase as a result of the economic boom that would ensue. This theme has proved so popular that he has leapt to the front of the pack and may even be outpacing Senator Dole.

Budget-balancing turned out to be a drag. Forbes led the G.O.P. to happier theories.

It is quite a turnabout in Republican politics. Mr. Forbes began his move in Iowa and New Hampshire just as the Republicans in Congress were shutting down parts of the Federal Government to reinforce their insistence on a balanced budget. So firm was their conviction that the Republicans had conceded that taxes could not be cut as much as they once hoped. For the sake of balancing the budget, they agreed to limit ### spending for popular programs like Medicare and student loans.

As the public contemplated the price of fiscal rectitude, the Republicans' popularity began to fall. But Newt Gingrich and his disciples stuck by their guns. They shut down the Government twice. Finally, they dragged President Clinton into proposing a seven-year balanced budget himself. Senator Dole, who has spent a political lifetime preaching fiscal discipline, could do little but march along every painful step of the way.

Then, from nowhere, came Steve Forbes. The dirty secret was revealed that a balanced budget might nor be so popular after all. All the other candidates were forced to start talking about reducing taxes.

Whatever happens in the primary here on Feb. 20, the Republicans have no doubt learned the lesson that a

Continued on page 3

:d

5f 1-

a-

ut d-

The China-and-Taiwan Problem

How Politics Torpedoed Asian Calm

By PATRICK E. TYLER

BEIJING EN months ago, China and Taiwan were on the verge of opening their seaports to each other's shipping and across the Taiwan Strait for the first time in nearly 50 years of barely suspended civil war. Now suddenly, pistois are drawn and the threat of military confrontation hangs in the air like grenade smoke.

How such a reversal could so suddenly threaten the stability of Asia is a drama in which there are four players, each with its distinctive contribution to the crisis. The first is the Republican Congress, which has spawned the most energetic coalition ever assembled to openly confront China while assentored to openly controlly controlly controlly white the second player, the Clinton Administra-tion, has sought "engagement." Congress has promoted independence for Taiwan and Tibet, and it proposes sanctions every time China is found wanting on human rights, nuclear proliferation and the theft of a Mickey Mouse trademark.

Doing Business

Often lost in the American debate on China is the fact that for two decades, the Chinese on the mainland and op Taiwan have been getting richer, doing more business together, negotiaring greater cultural exchanges and conducting a broader political dialogue than ever before. Millions of Taiwanese tourists have visited their ancestrai homes on the mainland, renewed old acquaintances and forged new opes. An estimated $20 billion in Taiwan investment has migrated to the mainland's cheap labor Taiwan frigates in a military exercise as relations with China have deteriorated.

-----

markets and unofficial conversations between Beijing and Taipel became the rule, not the exception.

But instead of nurturing this environment, many in Congress have allied themselves with the political machine of Tai-wan's President, Lee Teng-hui, the third player in the piece.

To straddle the divided politics of Taiwan, Mr. Lee has been forced to court Taiwan's pro-independence voters, now thought to be nearly a third of the island's electorate. At the same time, he adheres to the Nationalist Party creed that reunification of China is the ultimate goal. In this schizophrenic environment, Mr. Lee's popularity goes up every time he strikes a blow for Taiwan's international image; playing the American card has been the key to his strategy. In Washington, his political operatives tap American revulsioo for Beijing's repression to enhance Taiwan's leverage in the running dialogue with the mainland.

1

· ·· • ···

Armed with Congressional backing, Taiwan has been emboldened by its own success into ever more energetic efforts to increase its leverage, including the now famous trip to Cornell University. To the average American, Mr. Lee's trip to upstate New York seemed innocent, even admirable. Wasn't the issue freedom of travel? in fact the trip was part of President Lee's strategy to change the political status of Taiwan. If there needed to be any other reminder, the trip occurred in the same year that Mr. Lee offered the United Nations a $1 billion gift in an unavailing effort to win a seat there.

Wearing Fig Leaves

President Clinton's abrupt decision in May 1995 to let Mr. Lee visit - a first-of-akind trip for a Taiwan leader - nearly ripped away the last shred of the fig leaf put in place when President Richard M. Nixon normalized relations with China. The fig leaf was enshrined in the Shanghai communiqué of 1972:

The United States acknowledges that all Chinese on either side of the Taiwan Strait maintain there is but one China and that Taiwan is a part of China. The United States Government does not challenge that position. It reaffirms its interest in a peaceful settlement of the Taiwan question by the

Continued on page 2

At the U.N., the candidates are off and non-running.

By Barbara Crossette

Two Kingdoms

Germany catches up with the teachings of one of its martyrs.

By Gustav Niebuhr

WEEKLY REVIEW

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

THE JERUSALEM POST

The World

In the Truce Line, A Vast New Divide

By CHRIS HEDGES

SARAJEVO, Bosnia and Herzegovina HE 1,000-mile-long demilitarization zone that curves through the snowy Bosnian countryside is more than a testament to the end of the war, at least for now, in the former Yugoslavia. It has also created a new and important fault line for cultural clashes that could define the wars of the next century. Yugoslavia, and especially Bosnia, has been where Muslims, Eastern Orthodox and Western-orieoted Catholics met and did battle for centuries. All these people are south Slavs (that's what Yugoslavia means) but with the collapse of Communism, the discrediting of fascism and the failure of East European-style liberal democracy here, their cultural differences have become paramount. The multi-ethnic fabric that permitted many Bosnians and other Yugoslavs to ideotify themselves as members of a oation-state rather than an ethnic group has been further weakened by the "ethnic cleansing" of the last four years. And the American-brokered peace plan essentially cements the partition of these ethnic groups inside the new frontiers.

Bosnians have only religious differences to define themselves.

Croatia, which once had a significant Serhian minority, is now almost entirely Catholic. Bosnia has been carved up among the Serbs, the Croats and the Muslims. Ironically, the only real multi-ethnic state left in the former Yugoslavia is Serhia - although its minority groups have no significant political or ecocomic influence.

Each of these new states is now firmly defined hy its cultural and religious heritage. It is impossible in such states to gain full membership, as in Communist Yugoslavia, on the basis of adherence to an idea. Religion, as in much of the Middle East, defines identity. The Croats, for example, talk of the Croat community in Serbia, by which they mean Serbian Catholics. Only the Muslims have made an effort to preserve the semblance of a multi-ethnic society, but even this effort is waning, as illustrated by the recent resignation of Bosnia's former Prime Minister, Haris Silajdzic, the main champloo of cosmopolitan democracy.

Religious Nationalism

The warring factions are all now infected with the same disease, a myopic nationalism defined by religious beritage. Each feeds off the atrocities and excesses of the other. And each needs the other, in a perverse way, to reaffirm its exclusivity. The leaders have no interest in diluting their power by calling for new, more inclusive forms of national identity. It is no accident that each side went out of its way to destroy mosques or churches.

In addition, the new ethnic states within the nominal Bosnian federation are seeking to enter into alliances with outside powers. The Serbs look to the Greeks and Russians, with whom they share a common religious and political experience, having lived under either Ottoman or Czarist rule. The Croats, who were part of the Hapsburg empire and are more economically advanced, look to Germany and America. It is unclear what will happen with the Muslims, but it is oot encouraging that the most pronounced strategic clash between a Western and non-Western civilization is being played out behind the scenes in Bosnia.

The Islamic rulers in Iran have shown themselves alert for opportunities to extend their reach, and clearly they see a chance here for a foothold in Europe. So Bosnia has become the modern version of the great game - so much so that a promise that Iranian fighters and military advisers would be sent home was extracted from Bosnia at the Dayton peace negotiations.

Boots and guns outside a Muslim prayer service in Bosanska Krupa in October, after Bosnian Government forces retook the town.

Fifty years ago, in a battle that helped define another era, the Western allies and the Soviets fought for influence in Iran. Now Iran is playing a similar role in Bosnia.

Will the Muslim-dominated Government here lean more toward Teheran, which sent it weapons and money when the West wouldn't, or toward pro-Western Turkey, a more secular Muslim land that used to rule here and that has troops here now as part of the NATO peacekeeping force? On the most basic level, will the Bosnian Muslims define themselves exclusively by religion and Islamic culture?

The signs are not encouraging. The Bosnian Muslims, like secular Jews in Nazi Germany, have been handed an identity, eveo if it was not there before, by their persecutors. The attempt to maintain a mixed society saw hundreds of thousands of Muslims driven from their homes and thousands killed. And it was the Muslim radicals from places like Iran who came to aid Bosnia while the West kept an arms embargo.

The Muslims are well aware that the Iranians will be eager to help long after the NATO troops are gone. The West, the Bosnians have found, can be a fickle partner, and they know the Americans expect to pull out after one year.

Civilizations Differ

Add to this the notion that civilizations really are different. The "universal values" promoted by the West are seen by many oon-Westerners as a form of cultural imperialism. However much the Bosnian Government once pleaded for Western arms on the basis of its own cosmopolitanism, the fact is that it has been reduced to exercising authority almost exclusively over Muslims. And many of Bosnia's Muslims, like many Eastern Orthodox Christians, do not emhrace such ideas as individualism and the separation of church and state. So there are at least the seeds of distaste for Western influence here - one thing that the disenchanted Bosnian Muslims and the Bosnian Serbs, who feel totally misunderstood hy the West, have in common.

On the sidelines, for now, are the Serbs. They were defeated in the last round, but may not be entirely cowed, as shown by their severing of contacts with NATO last week. Historically the Serbs have been the shock troops employed to battle the Ottoman hordes from the East, and they assume that in the years ahead they will resume that role. The possibility that there would be an overthy Islamic state in Europe, allied with Iran, is one of the main reasons the French opposed the establishment of Bosnia in the first place.

The battle along this new fault line may for now be a cold one, with all sides held at bay by foreign troops and hy a mutual reluctance to resume the devastation of war. But it would be foolish to think that fighting could not begin again. The nature and timing of such a conflict is yet undefined, but the geographical location is set. It runs on rutted dirt tracks that are patrolled by the nearly 60,000 NATO-led troops who put the zone in place.

bebbe Countiers

states R Round a For Less

. . . . . . . . .

an the second

along a group of

.....

Alfaha da ser ante

Chert and a strategy of the

ALL MARKED

en de la sur para d

.....

الرجع فالمنافذ والرائي

1.11.6.5.1

* 3 Crig

Same and the second second second

. -State 1 4 .....

> 1.12

encier of Marth-Bear & Mart

70.1

41.151.00

1999 - S. 1999 -

- 14 C

:3

Sec. 1

U.N. Election Fever

Ready. Set. Don't Run!

By BARBARA CROSSETTE

UNITED NATIONS N a seasoo of Presidential primaries and caucuses, hard-hitting television spots, raucous bus convoys, pancake hreakfasts and snowbound photo ops, it is easy to miss the other election of 1996.

In this election, most candidates won't even announce they are running. Nearly all the campaigning, or non-campaigning, will go on behind closed doors. More than likely, the winner will be decided before the voting takes place. There isn't eveo a date for the election. The prize: the title of Secretary General of the United Nations.

At the end of this year, Boutros Boutros-Ghali will complete a five-year term as the world's top diplomat, crisis administrator and -- some would say - scapegoat. Surprisingly, a lot of people seem to want his job, including him, though he's not saying so.

Waiting for Clinton

2

0 minim

1

002

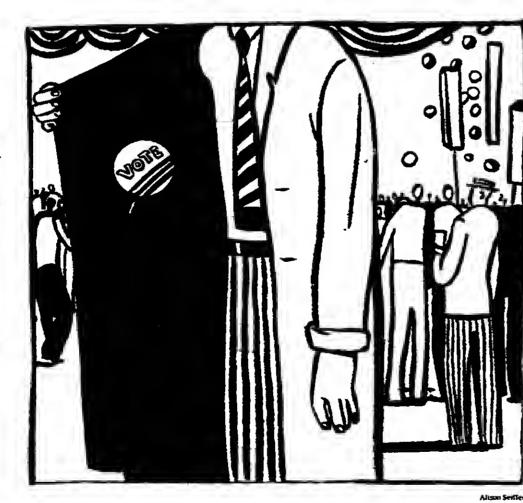

To further complicate matters, the renewal of Mr. Boutros-Ghali's term or the selection of a new United Nations Secretary General is a decision that is directly linked to the American Presidential election. Many diplomats here believe that the United States will not make its preference known until after November. Traditionally, when the stakes are this high, oo one moves in the United Nations until Uncle Sam speaks. But some American officials say that it will only be a matter of weeks before the White House makes the only decisioo that really matters: whether to invite Mr. Boutros-Ghali to stay or go.

As for the decisioo itself, most diplomats and officials here are betting that the Secretary General will stay on, if only by default. The job of finding a successor in the midst of a Presidential race and then selling the oew candidate to the world simply would be too much for the Clinton Administratioo to take on oow.

If the Republicans win in November, though, all bets are off. A hostile Republican Administration could create havoc in the final hours of Mr. Boutros-Ghali's first term. Then Europeans might seize the initiative in support of Mr. Boutros-Ghali, forcing the United States to veto or leave the field.

The Secretary Generalship is an oddball job. The United Nations Charter specifies only that the person in that job - "appointed by the General Assembly on the recommendation of the Security Council" - shall be the organization's chief administrative officer. In other words, the only powers a Secretary General has are those assigned to him by the General Assembly or Security Council. Sometimes the instructions are contradictory. Cut the staff, says one order. Create a new department, says another.

The Secretary General - who is paid $286,075 a year ($193,306 after deductions) and gets a $25,000 expense allowance, a house on Sutton Place and a car and driver - spends his days preparing reports on current topics for the Security Council, reading volumes of cables from worldwide operations, traveling to member countries and talking on the telephone, almost around the clock, with government heads and his envoys in the field.

If the Secretary General tries to strengthen his own image or that of the organization, he draws immediate fire from powerful member nations, most often the United States. He is a leader who is not allowed to lead.

During the cold war, which began not long after the creation of the United Nations, neither the West nor the Soviet bloc wanted a strong Secretary General, and so candidates were chosen for their neutrality: Trygve Lie of Norway, Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden, U Thant of Burma, Kurt Waldheim of Austria and Javier Pérez de Cuéllar of Peru. Mr. Boutros-Ghali, 74, is a former minister of state from Egypt.

The Wannabes

Since the end of the cold war, there has been no debate of significance here or in the capitals of the world about what kind of Secretary General the United Nations needs. But the emergence in recent months of some strong would-be candidates indicates that the time may have come for a more high-profile figure. Gareth Evans, Australia's Foreign Minister, is in the non-running, as is President Mary Robinson of Ireland. So are Prime Minister Gro Harlem Bruntland of Norway and Juan Somavia, who represents Chile at the United Nations and has been active in trying to steer the organization toward more glohal social issues. Two Africans are often mentioned: Kofi Annan of Ghana, an insider who has headed United Nations peacekeeping operations, and Richard Goldstone of South Africa, who is now chief justice of the international War Crimes Tribunal on the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda. Sadako Ogata, the Japanese scholar who is the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, would get enthusiastic backing, though she seems not to be interested.

. .....

By unspoken tradition, a Secretary General has never been chosen from among the five permanent members of the Security Council: the United States, Britain, China, France and Russia. Otherwise, would this be the place for Jimmy Carter, an ex-President with a growing record in international diplomacy, or Andrei Kozyrev, who recently resigned as Russia's Foreign Minister?

Sir Brian Urguhart, who worked for the U.N. for four decades before retiring as an Under Secretary General in 1986, says the world never had a better opportunity to inveot a new process for finding a Secretary General. "Either this is an important job or it isn't," he said. "But the permanent security council members who cootrol this thing have to be forthright about what they really want."

Continued from page 1

Chinese themselves." This simple statement, and China's consent to It, shelved the Taiwan problem, and allowed the United States to safely begin removing its military forces from the island. Thus the Taiwan question moved from belligerency to political deferral. Taiwan could take charge of its own destiny. It could walk, talk and act like a country and America would switch its diplomatic recognition to Beijing.

How Politics

Killed Asian Calm

Even though it was a cold war instrument that put Beijing and Washington in common cause against Soviet expansion, the Shanghai communiqué ushered in the long-est period of Asian peace and stability in this century and made it possible for Asia's vibrant new economies to emerge.

The latter-day strategies of Lee Teng-hui to enlarge Taiwan's political identity have attracted sympathy because of the actions of the fourth player in the drama, the Communist Party leadership in Beijing. Nothing has energized Taiwan's determination to stay separated from the mainland as much as the mainland's totalitarian ways. Since the Tiananmen massacres of 1989, Taiwanese have asked themselves why anyone would want to reunify with a government that disparages the very sort of democracy they have cultivated.

As Taiwan has sought protectioo against the unwanted advances of an increasingly brittle Chinese leadership, those advances have become all the more insistent. A new generation of Chinese leaders, none of whom possesses the vision or selfconfidence that Deng Xiaoping showed in his prime, has seized on reunification with Taiwan as a kind of manifest destiny and as a means to tap the latent nationalism of the military, the party and of many ordinary Chinese.

A Temptation

Many Americans are now tempted to enter this fray on the side of Talwan, to pursue confrontation or containment of the mainland. After all, why continue to sacrifice American ideals on human rights, democracy, trade and proliferation of miclear poison to a set of outdated cold war agreements? Hasn't the Shangbai communiqué been overtaken by the reality of Taiwan's flowering as a powerhouse economy and a robust culture that every day disproves the silly notion that respect for law and human rights cannot coexist with the Asian tradition?

But this also is a trap for America. which spent much of the 1950's and 1960's in full battle dress, with American troops and nuclear weapons stationed on Taiwan and still, Beijing never changed. The Shanghai communiqué allowed everyone to put away the guns. The strategic weight of China as a foil against the Soviet Union may be gone, but it has been displaced by China's strategic weight as an Asian power whose political evolution is somewhere on the borizon. So all of Asia has a stake m a stable outcome.

. . . .

The China-Taiwan dispute is a suspended civil war, easily as complicated as Bosnia and much grander in scale. If President Clinton speaks hluntly to Beijing and underscores his hluntness with a display of American military resolve, that runs the risk of inciting Taiwan's independence movement even further...

If this suspended civil war resumes, nobody would win.

And then it would be easy for Taiwan to openly declare greater autonomy or outright independence. China specialists who travel to both sides of the Strait fear that such a spiral could lead to war.

On the other hand, the United States could speak about the benefits to both Beijing and Taipei of stepping back, giving up any notion that either side can end a 46-year estrangement through unilateral actions, whether those actions are military (in Beijing's case) or political (in Taiwan's case).

If war comes, China's antiquated military would certainly come out the loser, but this is hardly the point. As irrational as it seems, the prospect of losing is not likely to deter the People's Liberation Army. Its logic rests on the belief that China is willing to make a greater sacrifice, suf- . fer more destruction than America or Taiwan, in order to prevail on a fundamental issue of sovereignty. There would be no winners in a clash of such magnitude.

And it is worth remembering that. while China is now ruled by faceless and unimaginative Communist bereaucrats, it is populated by 1.2 biklion Chinese, most of whom look up to America and hope that America will help them, not confront or sob-tain them, in their quest to join the developed world."

WEEKLY REVIEW

THE JERUSALEM POST

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

lE

- 3

The Nation States Rally RoundaCry For Less

By CLIFFORD J. LEVY

ALBANY HE governors who came up with a compromise last week to try to resolve the Federal budget impasse were not on a humanitarian mission to bring peace to Washington by pulling combat-ants from the Capitol's mud-wrestling pits. The gover-nors' goal was power: to gain freedom from longstanding rules that tightly restrict how they can spend Federal money on welfare and other programs.

But many of them are interested in more than just loosening the reins from Washington. They are also proposing to hand over some of that control to localities, the grunts of government. Countles and cities have long administered programs from Washington but rarely have had much role in shaping them. Such a change would further a growing movement to push authority over social policy closer to the people those policies are intended to benefit.

Power to the Counties

· .

m

"One of the things that the Governor has said time and time again is that we are not asking for devolution in order to transfer power back to the state capital." said John Truscott, spokesman for Gov. John M. Engler of Michigan, a Republican and a leader in revamping welfare. "We want to get it down to the counties."

The far-reaching changes backed by governors like Mr. Engler and George E. Pataki of New York would do away with a model for social programs from the 1930's. Grants of money, packaged with regulations, descend from the highest ranks of government to the lowest, with each level adding rules before passing on the funds. Also, anyone who meets certain requirements can receive assistance. Such rules are a legacy of an era when Federal officials believed that their state and local counterparts abused their authority.

Advocates for the poor are raising those fears again as the new plans evolve. They say the declarations of war on the old policy model, which are accompanied by homages to the wisdom of local officials and attacks on Washington bureaucrats, obscure a knot of questions. Are localities that are more accustomed to fixing traffic lights going to be able to master the dauntingly complex issues of social policy? With shrinking budgets, will there be enough oversight?

With fewer dollars coming from Washington, the real issue becomes local power.

The new legislation would phase out subsidies for most grain farmers, like the one above in Gove County, Kan., home state of Bob Dole.

Old MacDonald Has a New Policy

Sowing Confusion on the Farm

By BARNABY J. FEDER

HE universe, the British scientist J. B. S. Haldane ooce said, is "not only queerer than we suppose but queerer than we can suppose." The same could be said of American farm policy. Thus, even though the Senate last week took its most aggressive swipe in decades at streamlining the morass of law and regulation affecting American agriculture, only politicians on the campaign trail claim to be certain what was accomplished.

"This is really a historic change," said Senator Bob Dole of Kansas. "Farmers will finally plant for the market and not for the Government.

The bill passed after weeks of negotiation, in which Republicans who believe it will create a freer market extended the food stamp program and included enough environmental-protection provisions to convince many urban Democrats to join them.

initially top what farmers would have received in the current programs. Unlike the transition payments, those programs are designed to pay most when times are hardest.

"It's like giving a signing bonus to people already a welfare program," said Mr. Cook.

More important, the welfare program was not killed but given a seven-year timeout. In 2002, a particularly expensive version of the current programs would be activated unless Congress votes to complete the transition to unsubsidized markets.

Of course, even without the "freedom to farm" bill, farmers are free by any common-sense definition.

A Senate bill represents a giant step, but nobody is

Senate say that today's high prices for crops are distorting assessments of the long-term value of the subsidy "safety net."

The price supports grew out of programs begun in the 1930's to carry growers of major crops through lean years. The goal was not just to help rural America but to assure urban consumers of plentiful supplies and low prices - goals that economists agree have been achieved. But changes in farming have made the price support programs financially unpredictable and politically unbearable.

Since the 1930's, the total number of farmers has plummeted to less than 2 million. The "average" farmer has become a millionaire by some measures if one looks only at the value of their land and machinery. But their debts and the low return on those assets force most to rely on outside jobs to make a living. Just 300,000 full-time farmers account for 80 percent of production.

That puts the Government in a bind. Traditional

of 1-

a-

1-it

ut

diđ

Should states guarantee some minimum level of serv-Ices? Would localities divert money intended for poor people to politically adept constituents?

Just as important, are these plans to fragment authority another way to shirk responsibility for deep budget cuts? Governments are under pressure to cut welfare and Medicaid, which are jointly financed by the Federal, state and, in some cases, local governments.

"It makes sense to reconsider which government performs which functions and how they are financed," said Steven D. Gold, a senior fellow at the Urban lostitute. "But that should be decided on the basis of a careful consideration of what the effects are of different arrangements. It shouldn't be fiscally driven."

Under the governors' plan, approved unanimously at a meeting of the National Governors' Association in Washington last week, the Federal Government would cut billions of dollars and turn its allocations for welfare and Medicaid into hump-sum payments called block grants. The states, which until now have been granted dozens of waivers from Federal regulations but on a case by case basis, would have less money but more flexibility because many rules would be abolished. They could then do the same to their localities: cut funds but give them more leeway.

Many state officials insist money is not propelling devolution. When counties help design the rules, they can better adapt the programs to their areas, saving money and helping more people, officials say. That is an argument advanced by Mr. Pataki, who has called for the most sweeping devolution of any governor yet, proposing that New York give block grants m its counties for Medicaid, mental health and welfare.

The Specter of Mini-Bureaucracies

But some critics wonder whether decentralization will create mini-bureaucracies. New York City's effort to decentralize its huge school system, for example, led to community school districts often criticized as bastions of mismanagement and patronage.

The states maintain that they will continue to monitor their counties despite shrinking budgets and fewer watchdogs. The difference, officials say, is that they are now more focused on whether a mother on welfare gets and keeps a job, rather than whether specific rules were followed in helping her.

"We care about the outcome, not necessarily if you cross the 't' and dot the 'i' exactly the same way m every county," said Michael L. Thurmond, who oversees welfare programs for Gov. Zell Miller of Georgia, a Democrat. "The outcome becomes more important than the process."

Governors are quick to imitate each other's pollcies, so the movement toward more local control is likely to pick up steam - at least, perhaps, until a scandal somewhere raises concerns about accountability. Then power might swing back.

That happened during the Depression; many states asked Washington to take over relief programs intended to help the unemployed. Back then, few talked of how local officials were more in touch with program recipients and therefore the best administrators.

To some policy experts, the shift shows the cyclical nature of the debate. When politicians become frustrated with programs, they revamp them.

"Over the course of the last 65 or 70 years, we have had a back and forth about what is the nature of the Federal role and what are the financing arrangements that best carry out that role," said Linda Wolf, deputy director of the American Public Welfare Association, a bipartisan group representing social service agencies. "But trying to think of what the right intergovernmental relationships are has less to do with words like practical than it has to do with words like politics."

The 500-page bill is still being scrutinized, but skeptics are already pronouncing it hopelessly flawed. "This is the status quo in revolutionary drag," said Kenneth Cook, bead of the Environmental Working Group, a Washington think tank that has been a leading critic of farm subsidies.

Broadly speaking, the Senate proposes to end farmers' reliance on subsidies that cost taxpayers billions of dollars a year. At the same time, the Senate promises to wipe out regulations that, according to backers of the legislation, tell farmers what, wheo and where to plant. The theory is that giving farmers "freedom to farm" will make them more productive and wealthier than the Governmeot subsidies ever did.

7-Year Cushion

In return for eliminating the current subsidies, the Senate is offering transition payments over a sevenyear period. The payments are to help farmers prepare for the perils of a freer market in which bigger swings in prices are likely.

As it turns out, the transition payments would begin at a time when grain and fiber markets are so tight - and prices so high - that the payments could sure in what direction.

The support programs that the Senate wants to eod cover six crops: corn, wheat, cottoo, rice, sorghum and oats. Farmers who don't like the regulations imposed over the years as the price of eligibility for the subsidies can grow those crops any way they want, and forgo the subsidies, or they can grow something else. lodeed, about 70 percent of the roughly $180 billion in total reveoue received by the nation's farmers each year comes from crops and livestock outside the subsidy programs.

To be sure, the covered crops are important. They account for nearly 75 percent of all planted acres. And other sectors of the agricultural economy, such as livestock, are dependent on them. But when politicians and farmers talk about "freedom to farm," they are really debating the price taxpayers and consumers are willing to pay to promote stability in this part of the farm economy.

The current wisdom is that taxpayers and most farmers would rather take their chances on a free market. Democrats who led the opposition in the subsidies have been tied to output - the more a farmer produces, the higher the subsidy when prices are low. Treating all farmers equally keeps big farmers in the program, which helps insure that soil conservation measures and other environmental programs tied to the subsidies are widely applied. It also makes it easier for the Government to reduce total output when stocks are abundant, which then leads to higher prices and lower subsidies the following year.

The politically embarrassing result, though, is that some of the nation's biggest farms get millions of dollars in subsidies. Despite regulatory tinkering to impose limits on what individual farmers could receive, just 2 percent of farmers receiving crop payments from 1985 to 1994 got 27 percent of the nearly $109 billion paid out, according to one study. At the same time, the more controls the Government imposed, the more farmers began to see the programs as overly complicated and increasingly chintzy - in short, not worth fighting for.

Even if the policy changes in the Senate bill stick, it will barely dent the interlocking array of Government influences over agriculture: trade barriers, water rights, regulation of biotechnology. The list of subjects for more 500-page bills remains formidable.

It's Reaganomics, Alive Again

Continued from page I

free lunch is ever more politically palatable than bitter medicine. And it is a safe bet now that the winner of the Republican Presidential comination will run on a platform that promises a tax cut.

The centerpiece of the Forbes campaign is his proposal to scrap the existing graduated income tax, with five brackets ranging from 15 percent to nearly 40 percent, and to abolish all deductions and all taxes whatsoever on interest, dividends, capital gains, inheritances and pensions. He would replace all this with a 17 percent tax on corporate profits and on wages and salaries after exempting $13,000 for each adult and $5,000 for each child.

The political attraction of the Forbes flat tax is not so much that it is flat as that it is low. In Mr. Forbes's formulation, almost everyone, from multimillionaire investors to families struggling to make ends meet, would get a tax cut.

Senator Dole obviously recognizes this - now.

When Mr. Forbes first started to gain notice with his tax plan, the Dole campaign went on television with a commercial arguing, soundly, that a 17 percent flat tax would make it impossible to balance the budget. The Senator continued to slide in the polls, and Mr. Forbes kept gaining.

About 10 days ago, Mr. Dole began broadcasting an ad in which Gov. Stephen Merrill of New Hampshire, national chairman of the Dole campaign, makes the false claim that the Forbes plan would cost the average homeowner an additional $2,000 a year in taxes. After a few days, some polls suggested that the Dole slide had been arrested.

$200 Billion Short

How can Mr. Forbes propose to lower everyone's taxes? The answer is that his plan would cost the Government $200 billion a year in lost revenue, according to calculations by the Treasury Department and private forecasters who use conventional economic models. For a flat-tax plan to raise as much money as the current tax system does, then it would have to hit most middle-income families with a tax increase hardly a favorable prospect politically.

Mr. Forbes dismisses such calculations as "bogus numbers." His plan, he says, would unleash the economy and create so much growth and personal wealth and corporate profits that the Governmeot would collect more tax revenue than it does under the current system.

Four elections ago, when Mr. Reagan was making this argument, some respectable economists accepted it. Today, bardly any do.

Mr. Reagan inherited a deficit (the annual amount by which Government spending exceeds receipts) of $79 billion in 1981, and he immediately pushed through Congress a 25 percent tax cut over three years. By 1983, the deficit had nearly tripled m $207 billion, and it reached a high of $290 billion in 1992.

Because of a strong economy and deficit-cutting measures enacted in 1990 and 1993, the deficit last year was reduced to $164 billion. But as Herbert Stein, who was chairman of Richard M. Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, observes, the national debt (the accumulation of all the deficits over the years) is now more than 50 percent of the annual gross domestic product, compared to 27 percent in 1980.

"We could afford Ronald Reagan once," Mr. Stein wrote last week. "We cannot afford him again."

Gary and Aldona Robbins, economic consultants in northern Virginia, are perhaps the economists most bullish about Mr. Forbes's flat-tax plan. They estimate that while deficits might rise in the short run, economic growth would be so strong over the next decade and a half that the budget would be balanced by 2010 without any reductions in spending.

But the Robbinses represent a small minority in their profession. Benjamin M. Friedman, an economist at Harvard, said he does not personally know a single economist now who believes that an across-the-board tax cut would lead to an increase in revenues. And Norman B. Ture, who was Under Secretary of the Treasury and Mr. Robbins's boss in the early Reagan years, said of the Robbinses, "I sometimes am concerned by an enthusiastically favorable set of results they get."

Principles Subverted

Economists like Mr. Ture who advocated the Reagan policies in the 1980's say the deficit exploded largely because the supply-side principles were abandoned. Taxes were raised several times after 1981, Government spending was not cut. Neither were Government regulations. The Federal Reserve kept interest rates high. All those policies, they say, worked to inhibit an economic boom.

Nonetheless, few of them now celebrate the glories of cutting taxes the way Mr. Forbes does,

"We have to be dedicated to balancing the budget," said Mr. Ture, who oow runs a research center called the Institute for Research on the Economics of Taxation. "I think the proposition that tax reductions lead to revenue increases should be subjected to a great deal of skepticism."

------

Æ

THE JERUSALEM POST

Ideas & Trends

Undoing the Legacy of Nazi Courts

By GUSTAV NIEBUHR

N a famous moment of frustration described in the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus, contending with the doubts of his fellow Galileans, declared, "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country."

For centuries, those words have been used to describe the tribulatioos of the deserving. But rarely have they seemed so appropriate as they did last week, when a group of Lutheran church members and human rights advocates in Berlin denounced the fact that the Lutheran theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer, who was condemned as a traitor by the Nazi SS court in 1945 for having helped to plot an assassination attempt against Hitler, is still legally a traitor in Germany. (Although the verdicts of Nazi people's courts were declared void a decade ago, that declaration did not cover the SS courts.)

The revelation that Bonhoeffer is still legally a traitor struck a chord here and in Germany, because Bonhoeffer is widely considered a Christian martyr. His writings on faith and civic responsibility appeal to people across religious, national and ideological lines.

Public demands for voiding the verdict against Bonhoeffer have been heard for nearly a year. Last April 9, on the 50th anniversary of Bonhoeffer's execution in the Flossenbürg concentration camp, for example, the Lutheran Bishop Wolfgang Huber of Berlin-Brandenburg called for the verdict to be stricken, so the country could publicly acknowledge the unfairness of the Nazi SS courts.

In an interview, Bishop Huber said he would also like to see a move to clear the records of other people convicted by those courts, including Army deserters. "The fact that Dietrich Bonhoeffer was a famous person, and these others are not famous but still alive," he said, "does not allow us to coocentrate on Dietrich Bonhoeffer alooe.

The demand for Bonhoeffer's legal rehabilitation suggests a gradual but profound shift in Germany's theological thought as well as a change in the democratic society that was built on the ashes of Hitler's Reich. It is as if Germany bas finally caught up with the political ethics taught by Bonhoeffer.

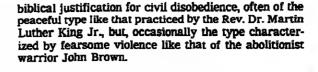

"It haso't been too long ago — it's been 25 years — that Bonhoeffer was regarded basically as a traitor by quite a few people of the conservative church establishment," said Heinrich Bedford-Strohm, a social ethicist at the University of Heidelburg. As recently as the 1970's, Bonhoeffer was seen by many as a man who had violated what was in Germany a foundational Christian teaching: obedience to the state.

The case of a "traitor" to Hitler suggests a new willingness to face the past.

This idea may strike many Americans as peculiar, for in this country there is a long history of civil disobedience and considerable sympathy for citizens who choose to follow their religious consciences over the dictates of secular rulers.

During the American Revolution, clergy members served as chaplains in Washington's army while many men in their congregations took up arms against the British crown. Since then, a significant number of American Christians have had little trouble finding

Doctrine of the Two Kingdoms

For centuries, German Protestants read an oppo-site lesson in their tradition, for which they found justification in the writings of the Reformation leader Martin Luther. "The Reformation tradition among Lutherans is particularly wary of chaos in society, said Larry Rasmussen, a professor of social ethics at Union Theological Seminary in New York, who teaches a course on Bonhoeffer. "Another way of saying this is you don't have a history of Christians being involved in overt resistance to the government in Germany."

Dr. Bedford-Strohm attributes this to generations of Germans taking Martin Luther'a "doctrine of the two kingdoms" literally. Luther differentiated between the religious realm of the church, in which Christians are called to follow Jesus's teachings of love, and the political realm of the state, in which law, rather than love, applies. In civic life, according to this doctrine, the Christian is expected to obey government authorities.

Luther did not mean to suggest that rulers possessed an absolute right to do what they pleased without regard to fundamental standards of morality, Dr. Bedford-Strohm said. But, be added, in the 19th century, German theologians elaborated Luther's theory in a way that allowed for such an understanding.

"In that doctrine, bad government and inhuman governments profited," said Dr. Bedford-Strohm. "Hitler profited by it."

Bonhoeffer's "Letters and Papers from Prison," a posthumously published work still widely available,

The anti-Nazi Dictrich Bonhoeffer in 1940.

includes an essay marking 10 years of resistance to Nazism. What he had learned, he wrote, was that Germans were very good at civil obedience and sacrificing themselves for a larger cause. Where they fell sbort, he said, was in "the deed of free responsibility," in taking unlawful actions for moral reasons.

Between the 25th anniversary of Bonhoeffer's execution in 1970 and the 50th anniversay last year, the theologian's reputation has risen in Germany. That, Dr. Bedford-Strohm said, is the result of "a more mature attitude of Germans toward democracy," a transformation that has been bastened both by soul-searching among a younger generation of Christians and by the emergence of a civic philosophy of public dissent that is evident not only in the fight for Bonhoeffer's legal rehabilitation but also in the German environmental and anti-nuclear movements. And quite appropriately, this civic philosophy is due, in large part, to Bonhoeffer himself.

"People realized we should stand up for our ideas," Dr. Bedford-Strohm said, "And I think that is something that can never be changed."

Indians Take On the U.S. In a 90's Battle for Control

By GEORGE JOHNSON

SANTA FE, N.M.

ACED with an order last month from the United States Attorney to shut down their casinos, the leaders of some New Mexico Indian tribes responded as adamantly as reigning sovereigns of foreign powers. Unless they are allowed to continue running their lucrative gambling halls, they threatened, New Mexicans might wake up one morning to a nightmarish gridlock: highways crossing Indian land would be closed, including New Mexico's two interstates.

The threat was apparently effective. Late last month a Federal District judge approved an extraordinary deal between the Indians and the Federal Government: Prosecutors agreed to let the casinos stay open until a lawsuit challenging the Federal order bas been settled. For their part, the tribes agreed to keep the highways open and to abide by whatever the Federal courts decide. It almost seemed as though the tribes were being dealt with on an ambassadorial level. But for all their success in staring down the Federal Government, the tribes have been wielding power that is largely illusory. Any special status the tribes enjoy is granted by the will and the whim of Congress in its Constitutional power "to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes." Congress can undercut tribal autonomy anytime It wishes. And it does. Over the years, Congress's political mood swings have left behind a bewildering legal netherworld: Indians can vote in both Federal and state elections but doo't have to pay state income taxes. Tribal courts can try misdemeanors committed on the reservation by Indians (non-Indians are tried in their own courts). But major crimes are tried by Federal judges (or, in a few places, state courts).

with statutes, which do not require tribal consent. Under the General Allotment Act of 1887, many reservations were dissolved. Indian lands dwindled from 138 million acres to 48 million acres by 1934, when the Indian Reorganization Act, part of the New Deal, stopped the liquidations.

In the 1950's, the pendulum swung back the other way. Over the next 15 years, Congress abolished more than 100 reservations, redistributing the land to members. In the 1960's this experiment was abandoned and tribes were again given some control over their destiny. These days Congress finds It politically expedient to pay lip service to tribal sovereignty, but it remains very much in control:

Nothing illustrates this so well as the Federal Government's handling of Indian gambling. In 1988, alarmed by a United States Supreme Court decision upholding the right of a California tribe to operate a high-stakes bingo hall without state regulation, Congress passed the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act: In states that already allowed some form of gambling, tribes could open casinos, but first they had to hammer out the details with the state government. .

174	er /	3
			A second s
				5
Demonstrating fin	o unuqual skill. Is	raeli artisan Itzik Peleg	t has created beauti	ful medallions, by hol	llowing out Israeli	coins no longer in use,	and plating them w	vith 24 karat gold. Each medalli	ion in the selection	n displays the name Isr or symbol dating from	rael in Hebrew, pres	served from
1. The Lion, sym	bol of the tribe of J	Judah 4. The Date	e Palm, one of the S
2. The Seven Bra	nched Candelabra the days of the Te	um, holy of Eretz ?
3. David's Harp, 1	representing King	David's seamans	hip and the art of sh	ng hipbuilding
harp, mentione	ed in the Bible	in the tin	ne of Solomon
Each coin tells a st Chain included wi	tory of Biblical Isla th each medallion	ael. An ideal gift for frie	ands and loved ones	l.
		Price: NIS 175 eacl	h or-to-door delivery (where a
To: MARTI c/o T	The locustom Post P	O.B. 81, Jerusalem 91000.
Please send ma tha Co	oin Medallions listed bel	low:
		David's Harp Da bia to The Jarusalam Post, or		cient Ship
(For registered ovarsea	as air mail, please add N	NIS 12).	Cieun cara comino.
O Visa	C Isracard	C Diners
CC No		Exp		•
Name		Address
City		Zip	iei
*Please list gift recipients	i' namas and addresses s	eparately, and we'll eend them	the medallion, with a gift no	tice in your nam
ATL	24
(MH2)	Ltd.	the Dr. Gav Health Center	Ten	sion
	those reputable	Relieve		.11
		Neck FREED HOME
		·····
P	OST		SHOQUN SHATSU
	(Refleve)		Kneeping Massager Two mechanical munics help melt away tension and southe time muscles, Deep	y I
	Pain Suppo	rignal "PILLOW MEDIC" v pris your head & neck naturally lood nicht's sleep.	<ul> <li>penetrating rythmic action Unique design for ease of use alone or with a partner.</li> </ul>
	Fito size	andard 50x70 pilowcases. 08 - (including removable, *	With B Destand. Two way descript solocity gwitch. Mans electric oberation. NIS 496.
	Waphg	ible officer case) re of cheeper initiations	NIS 496.	ş
		To: Atlas (S.H.M.) Ltd., OUANTTT S1 Tchlenov Street,	Y (TEM PRICE TO	DTAL
		Tel Aviv 66048
		Tel Avty a1351	Many Column I My change is provided in <ul> <li>turns any chair</li> <li>succords the loc</li> </ul>	te multi-purpose seat Ir into an orthopedic seat over beck and hips thus	Tel. 03-6888407, Fay. 03-382192		-11
raiasang press	sure from the spine. portable - toktable	Toll free orders		—
Duality wood fr	rans. Choice of colours.	177-022-3585 Symt

____ . . . _ . . . . . . . . . . . . .

A Special Set of Rights

Like other American citizens, Indians bave Constitutional rights - as long as they are dealing with the Federal and state governments. But on the reservation, they are covered instead by the Indian Civil Rights Act of 1968, a kind of truncated version of the Bill of Rights that allows for theocratic governments. The United States Supreme Court has ruled that tribes may exclude and expel visitors. Whether this would permit blocking New Mexico highways is far less certain, since the tribes have signed right-of-way agreemeots. But lawyers are in a quandary over just who - Federal or state officials - would enforce the agreements. In 1830, without even a fig leaf of euphemism. Congress passed the Indian Removal Act, opening up farmland by herding as many Indians as possible west of the Mississip pi. In those days the Office (now the Bureau) of Indian Affairs was part of the War Department. When the agency was moved to the Department of the Interior, in 1848. many tribes felt insulted. They were no longer being treated as nations but as natural resources to be managed on Federal preserves.

The next blow came in 1871, when the Government stopped signing treaties with the tribes, Billboards may outlast casinos in New Mexico. regulating them instead

First Bingo, Then Casinos

The tribes in New Mexico drove a hard bargain. Under state charity laws, churches and other nonprofit organizations were allowed to run raffles and bingo games, and twice a year they could hold "Las Vegas night" fund-raisers. This was all the justification Gov. Gary Johnson thought he needed to reward the tribes, heavy supporters of his campaign, with the right to turn the Rio Grande into an elongated gambling strip. In return, the state would get a cut of . the casinos' winnings.

Ten tribes quickly opened multimillion-dollar gambling palaces. But the New Mexico Supreme Court, siding with gambling opponents, ruled last summer that Governor Johnson's pacts with the tribes were illegal because they had not been ratified by the legislature. In November the court dealtanother blow to the casinos when it ruled that the state's charity laws did not allow Las Vegas nights. If the churches couldn't run casinos, then, under the Federal gaming act, neither could the tribes.

Tribal lawyers are awaiting the outcome of their lawsuit and lobbying the state legislature to amend the laws and approve the gambling pacts. They are running out of time — the annual session ends this week. Meanwhile, the tribes, many of them deeply in debt from construction costs, are rushing to make as much money as they can.

Late last year, long after the gambling pacts had been declared illegal, the tiny pueblo of San Felipe opened a garish, neon-lit casino on a desolate stretch of highway halfway between Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

In recent weeks. while negotiations were going on, the tribe was busy erecting half a dozen enormous green billboards, blotting out the view of the mountains and the desert. Mounted atop steel poles, the signs have the look of permanence.

Even if the new casino is ultimately forced to close, or goes bankrupt competing with the nine other casinos in the state, the ugly monuments will probably remain, reminders of how far, in the delicate relationship between the tribes and the Government, sheer stubbornness can get you-

Jack Parsons for The New York. Th

MING CANTE

2 H

100

Sec. 1

Sec. 2.

See. . . . .

1. er - 1.

Sale - - - -

Steel A good

18 1. S. S. S.

<sup>3</sup>]≿i : •....

-

١.

50 ag

1.5

÷4-;}

Provension :

19.65

الم الم الم ا

den en la composición de la composicinde la composición de la composición de la composición de la com

Ť 2.20

the second second

ATTA NULL AND A n and a second secon

WEEKLY REVIEW

City Hall' Enters Maelstrom of Municipal Politics

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

FILM

By BRUCE WEBER

EN LIPPER, New York City's (and maybe the world's) best-connected screenwriter, tells a story about his introduction to the relentiess deal-making that goes on behind the scenes in municipal politics, the milieu of the new film, "City Hall."

The year was 1983, and the scene was a small Italian restaurant in Greenwich Village. Mr. Lipper, just appointed deputy mayor for economic development by Edward L Koch. had been invited to lunch by the legendary party boss of Brooklyn, Meade H. Esposito:

"An absolutely charming man, expansive, sweet, funny, a little wicked, one of the more beguiling people you'd want to meet," says Mr. Lipper, who has been a lawyer, investment banker, philanthropist, chief executive and gazillionaire - not, in other words, someone likely to need a beginner's lesson m anything.

· · · · ·

. .

· .•.

1125

1.4.1

: •

. . . .

1.5.5

· . '

. ...

. .

 $\{x_i\}_{i \in \mathbb{N}} \in \mathbb{N}$

. . .

1.11

2.24

•

· . . *

1.65

. . .

, •

. :

14.7

1.00

121

1. A.S.

1.1.1

. ..

 $\omega^{2^{n-2}-1}$

....

.....

. . . · · · ·

. ·· · ·

12.0

12.11

. .

a an sa

But Esposito saw otherwise. His agenda that day, apparently, was to persuade Mr. Lipper to support a city subsidy for a Brooklyn boat builder, Coastal Dry Dock, which was threatening to leave New York for Alabama unless it received help in paying its electrical bills, But Esposito barely mentioned Coastal, except, Mr. Lipper recalls, for a brief moment of gentle pressure: "'Ken,' he said, 'I'm not telling you what to do, but you should at least go out and meet with them. They're good people, Ken. They're citizens. They pay taxes. You've got to give them an electricity break, or we're going to lose all these jobs to Tuscaloosa

Mr. Lipper says he told Esposito merely that Coastal would be given a fair hearing. Later, when the waitress brought the $38 check, beyond the $5 limit on gratuities that officials were allowed to accept, Esposlto tried to sign it.

Mr. Lipper picks up the story: "I say, 'You can't pay for that,' and he. says, 'O.K., you made your point, Now be courteous. I invited you.' I say, 'That's all well and good, but you can't pay for it.' So be looks up at the waitress, gives the check back and says: 'Put a cutlet in the bag for the wife. The jerk's paying.' "

As a rebuke, it was wry but firm: learn the rules, kid. But Mr. Lipper recalls it as a characteristic moment: "I don't want to give the impression that 1'm above anything, but there is no limit to how careful you can be."

That is precisely the lesson in the screenplay Mr. Lipper wrote.

In the film, which opens on Friday and stars Al Pacino as the Mayor of New York, a casual political favor involving a fixed probation report for a mob-related drug dealer is exposed when the dealer is killed in a shootout that also claims the lives of a police officer and a child. Wellintentioned people and substantial lives in public service are destroyed because of back-room deals that seemed harmless when they were made.

THE JERUSALEM POST

(Although Mr. Lipper's original ideas for the story dominate the film. his actual words do not. Several screenwriters followed him on "City Hall," and Mr. Lipper took the issue of who should get credit to the Writers Guild of America for arbitration. In the end, he prevailed. The credit reads, "Written by Ken Lipper and Paul Schrader & Nicholas Pileggi and Bo Goldman.") In addition to Mr. Pacino, the $45 million film, directed by Harold Becker (whose credits include "Sea of Love"), stars John Cusack as the idealistic Lipper-like Deputy Mayor,-Bridget Fonda as a lawyer for the slam police officer's family, Martin Landau as an unfortimate, beleaguered judge, and Danny Aiello as the Brooklyn party boss, based in part on Esposito and in part on Donaid R. Manes, the Queens Borough President who committed suicide after his involvement in a 1988 corruption scandal was revealed.

Mayor Koch has a small role as a television commentator, and Mr. Lipper makes a cameo as the City Council president. The casting is ironic in that Mr. Lipper left the Mayor's office in 1985 after only two years to run for the council presidency (a job now called public advocate) and, after a vitriolic campaign on both sides, was soundly beaten by Andrew Stein.

"This time I got the job by acclaim," says Mr. Lipper, and it's hard not to note that he has himself corrected history in a rare instance over the last 30 years when his confidence — even hubris — has not been rewarded with success.

Ken Lipper, the second soo of a Bronx shoe salesman, won a full scholarship to Columbia, graduated from Harvard Law School, changed careers after six months as a lawyer, earning a partnership at the Lehman Brothers investment bank at age 31, and, in 1976, moved to Salomon Brothers, quadrupling his salary.

Living in the upper echelons of power, Mr. Lipper is now a Rockefeller, Brothers Fund, trustee, and his-... own investment concern, Lipper & Company, begun in 1986 to handle his family's money, manages $3 billion in assets.

He is a consultant to the Clinton Administration on the Federal budget and his friends (according to a list he provides) include former Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Senators Bill Bradley of New Jersey and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina (who has a role in "City Hall"), and the actor Michael Douglas and the director Oliver Stone, with whom he worked as a consultant on the 1987 film "Wall Street." Since then he has entered a film production business in partnership with Edward R. Pressman, the veteran producer of "Wall Street"; together, they produced "City Hall."

And that isn't all. Overwhelmingly successful financially, Mr. Lipper married money before he made iL He met his wife, Evelyn Gruss, on a blind date while he was at Harvard Law School and she was a freshman at Simmons College. (She is now the head of the child development division at New York Hospital-Coroell Medical Center; they have been married nearly 30 years and have four daughters.) The philanthropic donations of her father, Joseph Gruss, an oil and gas magnate who had escaped the Nazis in Poland, totaled more than $300 million at his death in 1993.

Mr. Lipper entered politics in 1982 when, at the behest of the consultant David Garth, he joined Mr. Koch's unsuccessful campaign for Governor as an economics adviser. He was named to the administration during the second of the Mayor's three terms. It was a time when the city had just emerged from economic crisis, and Mr. Lipper was charged. in the words of Paul Oickstein, then the city's deputy budget director, "with jump-starting an economic development program."

To a significant extent, he succeeded. It was the height of the real estate boom in Manhattan; commercial space was at a premium, rents were soaring and businesses were being driven off to the foreign ports of New Jersey and Connecticut, Mr. Lipper's strategy was to develop commercial office space in the boroughs outside Manhattan, using tax breaks and other subsidies to interest builders and lure companies to the oew buildings.

Among other things, he was an advocate of Teleport, a Staten Island industrial park built around a telecommunications center, Planned since 1979, It was to open in 1983, but in a move that Mr. Koch cites as typical of his deputy mayor's aggressive supervision of the city coffers, Mr. Lipper single-handedly held up the project for a year to renegotiate a nearly dooe deal with

ACROSS

5 Miles of film

La Fontaine

seemingly stops here with "The"

overanticipation

35 "Henry IV" role

40 Kind of jacket

41 Street vendor's offering

43 Start of a drive

44 Summer abroad

45 Slalom markers

47 George Meredith novel, with "The"

49 Ominous cloud

50 Check

52 Day's end

label

Abbr.

84 Hie

1990 inventor?

72 White sheet

78 Like words after la:

79 Big leaf containers

80 Dry up and shrink

82 Skeptical comment

34 Show

10 Barefaced

the city's co-developers, particularly the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. The Port Authority was then headed by Peter Goldmark, now president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

"Peter Goldmark was going to walk all over us, and Ken wouldn't let him," Mr. Koch says.

Perhaps not surprising, it was a success that came with a reputation for arrogance. Among his chief critics is Mr. Goldmark, who to this day is blistering in his private assessment, although he will not speak about Mr. Lipper on the record at all except to say that the version of the Teleport story that casts Mr. Lipper as the hero "is not at all accurate."

"City Hall" is after a high degree of verisimilitude. For the first time, the actual City Hall building was renied as a film set, the result of a policy-reversing decision last year by its chief inhabitants, Mayor Rudolph W. Giuliani and the Speaker of the City Council, Peter Vallone. (The $50,000 fee is being applied to renovations at City Hall.) And it was Mr. Lipper, still a senior adviser to the City Council, who made sure the actors had access to the local denizens, including the Mayor.

Mr. Cusack, who took time to observe some New York political specimens while preparing for his role, was struck by their passion for secrecy. "Whenever they go to meetings, or to a breakfast or anywhere, they shake hands, hold on and whisper," he said. "There's always some exchange. It's like a virus all these people have — always a handshake and then a close, ear-to-ear whisper - people telling secrets all the time, right in front of everyone."

There are limits, however, Mr. Cusack says he isn't really playing Mr. Lipper; indeed, his character, Kevin Calhoun, an Irishman from Louisiana, is hardly a Bronx Jew. One of the film's running jokes is that Kevin has a hard time with the Yiddishisms he hears around him, particularly menschkeit, literally "a man's code of behavior," used to refer to the unspoken rules by which politicans conduct their bargaining.

"It was a word Stanley Friedman always used to use," Mr. Lipper says, referring to a former Bronx Democratic leader who went to jail in 1988 for illegal involvement in the sale of computer software to the Parking Violations Bureau, the same scandal that brought down Maoes.

AS ELMER FUDD WOULD SAY.

BY HARVEY ESTES / EDITED BY WILL SHORTZ

And even though Mr. Pacino borrowed from Mr. Koch the mannerism of riding in the Mayoral limousine with his head tilted back in exhaustion, his character, John Pappas, is not modeled on Mr. Koch. The paradigm, Mr. Lipper says, is not a mayor at all but Creon, the tragic monarch from Sophocles' "Antigooe," whose impossible choice is to yield his authority as king or out to death his beloved niece for willfully defying a cruel edict.

те 5

ЪĎ

٧e

:h

:d

ıd

1~

а-

it

id

ia

ry io

Characteristically grandiose, Mr. Lipper says he conceived the theme of "City Hall" after seeing "Antigone" Off Off Broadway in 1988. "It suddenly struck me: that's the core of government experience," he says. "He orders her to death against all of his feelings, all of his will, but he does it to prevent anarchy. He has great moments of ambivalence. It was that sense of frustration versus duty that intrigued me about the governmenL"

Kevin Calhoun may oot be Ken Lipper, but there is a scene in "City Hall" in which the script credits the character with the same tenacity and righteousness. In it, Frank Anselmo, the Brooklyn party boss, calls Kevin "a reed."

"Blow on him, and he bends," Anselmo says. To which the mobster replies; "Not this kid. This one's different.'

Kevin, of course, is the story's hero. Which brings us back to Meade Esposito. At some point after their notable lunch, Mr. Lipper took up the case of Coastal Dry Dock, in the end denying the pleas of both Esposito and another advocate in the case, Representative Mario Biaggi of the Bronx, for the city to grant the company an energy subsidy.

Eventually, Coastal went out of business, leaving a $300 million Peotagon contract unfulfilled, aod Esposito was convicted of bribing Mr. Biaggi. But not until Esposito's trial in 1988 did the world learn that at about the same time be'd had lunch with Mr. Lipper, Esposito had paid for a Florida vacation for Mr. Biaggi; the jury ruled the vacation was an Illegal gratuity for Mr. Biaggi's attempted influence on behalf of Coastal Dry Dock. That's why Esposito and Mr. Blaggi went to jail.

During Esposito's trial, Mr. Lipper was called to the stand. Among other things, he was asked: who paid for the lunch?

Spats Over Foreign Films

By JOSH YOUNG

HIS year seems typical when it comes to the Oscar race for best foreign-language film. That is to say, complaints and conspiracy theories are rampant. And, as usual, they center on why certain films were not nominated by their respective countries and how difficult it is to change the eligibility rules. The five selected films will be announced on Tuesday, along with other Oscar nominations.

Some of the most talked-about foreign-language films released here last year will not be among the nominees because they were not offered up by their home countries. These include several that were critically praised: "Shanghai Triad," from China; "The Postman" ("Il Postino") and "Lamerica," from Italy. and "Wild Reeds" and "Les Miserables," from France.

Eveo eligible films have encountered significant problems. The Ira-nian film "The White Balloon," the story of a young girl's quest to buy a goldfish, narrowly escaped being withdrawn. Teheran tried to pull it back, saying Washington planned a covert operation against the Iranian Government. The Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences refused on the grounds that the foreign-language film committee members had already begun screening "The White Balloon."

Another political squabble has swirled around "Underground," a film from Yugoslavia about two small-time gangsters who join the Communist Party at the beginning of World War IL Since "Underground" won the prize for best film at the Cannes International Film Festival last year, it has been the subject of a heated debate in France centering on the politics and loyalties of its director, Emir Kusturica.

"Underground" has also become the subject of a legal debate. Days before it was scheduled to be shown to the Academy's committee, the film's distributor, Ciby 2000, asked that the screening be postponed on the grounds that the film contained potentially libelous material about an individual who believed he was being parodied. The problem was resolved when a shorter, 25-minute version of the film, also released in Yugoslavia, was submitted.

Despite its problems, "The White Balloon" is considered a contender for a nomination, according to some members of the Academy's committee. Other films mentioned are "Antonia's Line," from the Netherlands; Bo Widerberg's "All Things Fair." from Sweden; Pedro Almodóvar's "Flower of My Secret," from Spain; Giuseppe Tornatore's "Star Mak-' from Italy, and two dark-horse candidates, an Algerian film called "Dust of Life" and "Wild Horses" from Argentina.

Marisa Paredes in Pedro Almodóvar's "Flower of My Secret," from Spain.

This year, only about 400 of the Academy's more than 5,000 voting members volunteered to judge the 41 eligible foreign-language films. (Only countries belonging to the United Nations may submit a film, and only one film per country may be entered.) The films were divided into two groups, which were each shown to half of the members. To vote, members must see roughly 16 of the films in their assigned group. According to Bruce Davis, executive director of the Academy, about 325 members were qualified to vote this

Because of the investment of time required to see 16 films, the committee is composed mostly of retired Academy members. The director Paul Bartel, the producer Mark Johnson and the cinematographer John Bailey are among the few working film makers who participate.

As in past years, there has been considerable carping about the films being offered by selection committees in foreign countries. Chinese politics may have played a role m the exclusion of "Shanghai Triad," Zhang Yimou's drama set in the 1930's. It was passed over by the Chinese selection committee in favor of "Red Cherry," directed by Ye Ymg.

"Red Cherry" is about two children who are sent to the Soviet Union to be educated. Though "Red Cherry" was the most popular film last 21 The buck private year in China, many observers be-23 Fridge device lieve that politics was involved in the Chinese Government's nomination 24 Marry feisty lady? of Mr. Ye's film instead of Mr. 25 Gizmos for office Zhang's.

26 ---- Fernando Mr. Ye's father was sent to the Soviet Union to be educated; there, 27 Friendless 28 Mind he was a classmate of Li Peng, the 29 Retiring Chinese Prime Minister. Mr. Ye's grandfather was General Ye Ting, a | 31 Sandra Bullock film. member of Mao's army; the general is regarded as a Communist martyr. 32 Jenny Lind, e.g.

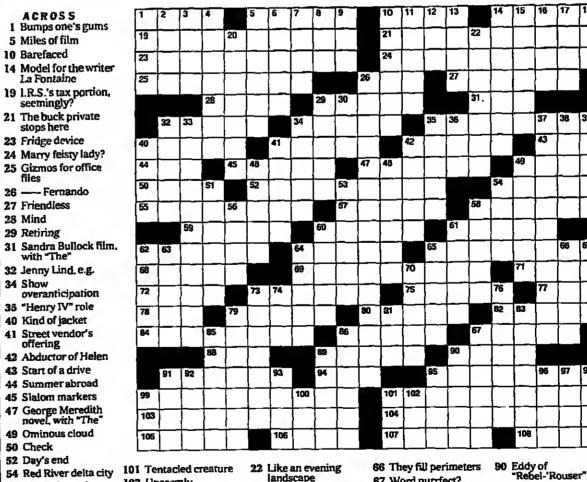

It should also be remembered that last year the Chinese Government forbade Mr. Zhang to attend the New York Film Festival for the opening night of "Shanghai Triad." In 1994, he was not allowed to go to the Cannes film festival when his film "To Live" was shown there. And in 1990, the Chinese Government tried but failed to withdraw his film "Ju Dou" from being considered for an Oscar nomination.

"It's really obvious that the Chinese Government wants to keep Zhang Yimou down," said Michael Barker, co-president of Sony Pictures Classics, the company that is 55 Musical standouts distributing "Shanghai Triad." 57 Inclines 58 Speaker's aid Critics of the current system have 59 Runs in place suggested that all foreign films re-60 Lounges leased theatrically in the Uoited 61 Overhaul States during the past year be eligi-62 Manhattan buyer ble for a nomination. If this were the 64 Monte ----case, "Shanghai Triad" and "The 65 Sleeper's problem Postman" would have been eligible this year. The films "Wild Reeds" 68 Word of surrender and "Les Misèrables," which were 69 Tacking on passed over by France in favor of 71 Madonna's record "French Twist," also would have qualified. But the current rule of one film 73 Like some teeth per country is apparently not going 75 Rubes, in old slang to change. "We would rather keep 77 Metro vehicle the category eccentric and manage-able," said Mr. Davis. "We can make this category go away if it becomes too difficult to administer or if we are making more people angry than happy."

Bruce Feldman, a committee 86 Pack extra member who used to be a marketing 87 Batters executive at Universal, adds, "If any 88 Go (for) Academy members have a problem 89 Nation reunited in with the selection committee, they should serve on it." As an added 90 ---- of faculty inducement, this year's screenings, 91 Gives lip service which ended last Sunday, were ac-94 Yugo. neighbor companied by fudge, crudités and the occasional steamed dumpling in-95 Big barker stead of the packaged cookies of 99 Condemned vears past

103 Unseemly 26 Where baby dragons 104 Newton's come from? choreography 26 Refuse 105 Inscribed pillar 30 Kind of exchange 106 Pasture, in poetry 32 Spat 107 Something to 33 Roulette profit? believe in 108 Beginning to do 34 Last sip bits 35 Misses the boat 36 — Nova (old musical style) OOWN 1 Iona College 37 No matter how athlete heavy? 2 Edison's middle 38 One in a pen пате 39 Name of three 3 Let it all out popes 4 Writer of two 40 Stack part biblical epistles 5 Unperturbed 41 Darts 42 Canvasses 6 Star, e.g. 46 Kickoff 7 "Dam!" 48 Jug size 8 Long -----49 Kitchen utensils 9 "And I Love ----' 10 Bawl over 53 1912 Olympic 11 Upright decathion champ 12 Calculator feature: 54 Card collection Abbr. 56 Nasty, formally 13 "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory" 58 Projection author 60 Nordland natives 14 Relevance 61 Took to jail 15 Clown Keily 62 Bungles 16 Letter closer 63 Place to beach a boat 64 Hugh leroi 18 Educ. org. 65 One on two wheels 20 In hiding

67 Word purfect? 91 "Critique of Pure 70 Quanoty purchase Reason writer 73 What's in it 92 "Let --- Me" 74 Bon or mon 93 Counterfeit follower 95 "Sexual Healing" 76 Stuck singer, 1982 96 Contest winner's cry 79 Highest level 97 In years past 81 Turner of tunes 98 Will of "The 83 Unlicensed Waltons' anesthesiologist 99 Minn. neighbor 85 Kind of service 100 Compass dir. 86 Solidified 101 U. of Texas teams 87 Hit on the head play in it 89 1945 trio's site 102 Pitch sensitivity ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

i.	4	-	di.	-			-		-	à			i e i				-			h
			4		L		0			C	÷.		2	4		4	1	-	2
P	A	C	A		1	S	E	E		R	1	A	1	A		F	Δ	1	Δ.
Ō		T	н	E	B	A	Ľ	L		0	R	C	A	S		0	B	E	S	1
Г		Т	L	Ľ		B	T	U		-	E	Ľ	Ľ	6	R	0	Û		E
E	E	V	E	Г	H	E	A	D	E	D			L	D	A	T,	H
	_	A	R	Ē	E	L		1	N	S	1	D	E	0	F		Ε	T	0	5
Ε	A	T	-		S	T	ľ	N	G		R	E	D	B				Τ	N	t
S	_	0	A	S			Π	G	ι	Ó	D	S		Â	P	P	E	A	S	ſ
P		R		H	Ē	IS	iT		T	A	N		i A	6	0	R		R	Ē	t
		5	_	0	R	Í V		A	S	ĸ		A	G	Ē	R	Ē	Ġ	A	Ŧ
			s	Ť	R	Ĩ	П	G	Ň	Ŷ	ŝ	H	tō	ō	Ŧ	Ē	Ř		•	ł
Ŝ	n)	11	Ă	l:			÷	Ē		Ŕ	Ē	Ä		H	H			S
	ř	Ē	ĥ	Ū	l ù	÷	b	-	D		-	ĥ	Ā	片	Å	H	F	_		ł
-	Ē	-		H	Ę	÷	Ě		_	_	-	11	-		n	_	_	_	H
R	 	G	l-		j i	}	ł.	_	ĥ			-	S	_		Ľ	ļĀ		12	Į
2	R	E	R			5	11		0		P	÷	P	E				Ľ	E	Į
S	A	Y	E		Ľ	١A	S	-		10	R	D		M	0	N	-	-
			A	14	D		İS			Ð	0		N	ĩ	0	łE	i A	R	ĮΤ	l
A	P	0		E	R	H	O	U	S	Έ		I	TE	R			L	C	0	٠
L	A	B	A	X		Ī	B	s	Ē	N		F	Â	U	Ľ	T	Ĺ	E	S
F	Ī.	10	ÎΫ	ĪD	1	P	ĪΕ	Ť	Ē	İs	1	E	ĨL.	5	Ē		A	ľ	A	I
Ã	_	_	s	té		Ĺ	İa	t i	tē	ŤĒ		D	Ē	T	15		S	ΓŦ	Y	T

ما با المراجع المراجع المراجع المنهجين والمراجع ومنهما والمراجع والمراجع والمحاصي

WEEKLY REVIEW THE NEW YORK TIMES EDITORIALS/LETTERS SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

To the Editor:

Re "U.N. Official Says She Found

No Missing Men in Srebrenica"

(news article, Feb. 6): Elizabeth

Rehn made inaccurate and misleading statements during her brief tour of the former United Nations-declared safe area in Bosnia and Herzegovina where Bosnian Serb forces

While acknowledging the existence of mass graves in the area and noting that "many young men were killed," Ms. Rehn asserted that 'they were probably soldiers" and repeated without comment the claim of Bosnian Serb military leaders that

Human Rights Watch, which conducted extensive interviews of survithey "were killed in battle."

slaughtered some 7,000 Muslims.

THE JERUSALEM POST

U.N. Avoids Evidence in Bosnia Killings ing obfuscation of Bosnian Serb milidered after being taken prisoner. tary leaders. These are clear war crimes and > Assistant Secretary of State Richard C. Holbrooke's view expressed at the recent meeting of international officials and private business executives in Switzerland that the United States "belatedly" became involved in the Bosnian crisis and eventually led the Bosnian Serbs to accept peace is misleading.

that hundreds of non-Serbs remain ly involved in Bosnia from the beginning. It was the last United States Ambassador to Belgrade, Warren ure of the United Nations and the Zimmerman, who encouraged the international community to protect Muslim-led Bosnian "government" to renege on the constitutional agreement reached at Lisbon in 1992 and secede from Yugoslavia, triggering the civil war.

The United States helped prolong the war by opposing all subsequent partition plans put forth by the European Union or the United Nations.

The United States-led NATO air strikes facilitated the peace process only to the extent they appeased Bosnian Muslim supporters in the United States Congress and, to a lesser extent the Islamic world, which repeatedly called for an escalation of the war against the Serbs.

and Croats to conquer a swath of Serbinhabited territory, the air strikes made Bosnia's partition, in the form of the Davton agreement, more palatable to the anti-Serb coalition

The Bosnian Serbs were always prepared to oegotiate. By contrast, the Bosnian Muslim leaders consistently demonstrated a total unwillingness to discuss compromise with the Serbs. GEORGE TINTOR

Multiple Births Don't Always End Happily

To the Editor:

Re your Feb. 7 news article on the birth of quintuplets to a Brooklyn couple:

You do a disservice in leaving the impression that the arrival of these babies, born at 26 weeks' gestation and each weighing under 2 pounds, is a bappy ending. While I hope that the quints thrive, their ordeal is just beginning. and the states

You cite a 95 percent survival rate for babies born at 29 weeks. That figure does not indicate how many survivors suffer brain damage, blindness or develop cerebral palsy in their last trimester outside the

bealth of their babies in a sort of "preemie roulette." This is selfish-KAREN SCHAEFFER ness New York, Feb. 7, 1996

Big Freeze of '34

To the Editor:

in New York City: .

Class V. S.

2

110.00

. .

A start of second

AND STREET

..

:... ",

and a second

· · · · ·

A to be

10 a - 11

the test of a

4 and the star

and a second

 $\partial h_{ij}$

More.

47

 $a_{men}$

10.00

Ne s

Ъ.,

1.00

. .

· 3= ,

- C. ٠.

28 March Revenues and Report for the second

etter ergen dengen

The second second

12.1

176 J. 197

State States

$27.5 A. . .

210:

A start was a second

----

3

3

Carry

20-

325 2 W ....

1.11

Ч. 1.

alters of the second 200 antes, entres ant

Feb. 9, 1934, was not only a memorable day in the weather history of the city but in the history of New York State as well.

On that date, at Stillwater Reser-

Re your Feb. 6 oews article on the coldest temperature ever recorded.

ABTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER JR., Publisher

JOSEPH LELYVELD, Executive Edutor GENE ROBERTS, Managing Editor

Assistant Managing Editors SOMA GOLDEN BEHR DAVID R JONES GERALD M. BOYD CAROLYN LEE WARREN HOGE JACK ROSENTHAL ALLAN M. STEGAL

HOWELL RAINES. Edutorial Page Editor PHILIP M. BOFFEY. Deputy Editorial Page Editor

RUSSELL T. LEWIS. President and General Manage JOEN M. O'BRIEN. Executive V.P. Deputy Gen. Mgr. WILLIAM L. POLLAK, Executive V.P. Circulation PENELOPE MUSE ABERNATHY. Senior V.P. Planning and Human Resources RICHARD H. CILMAN. Senior V.P. Operations JANET L. ROBINSON, Senior V.P., Advertising RAYMOND E. DOUGLAS, V.P. Systems and Technolog DONNAC MIELE, V.P., Human Resources CEARLES E SHELTON, V.P., Distribution DAVID A. THURM. V.P., Production

The G.O.P.'s Grand New Struggle

Heavy, beavy, heavy is the mantle of inevitabil-ity. Just ask poor Bob Dole, the latest victim of the voters' quadrennial struggle to escape an arranged marriage. Inevitability panic is often associated with the Democrats, but Republicans are not immune. Witness the serial levitations from the Republican pack. First Steve Forbes, a trust-fund poster boy, surfs along as the lets-lower-my-taxeseven-if-we-have-to-raise-yours candidate. Then the Louisiana caucuses coughed up Pat Buchanan as the latest and most unlikely in a long line of Huey Long reincarnations. Now Lamar Alexander, who brags that he is less tired than Mr. Dole and less oaïve than Mr. Forbes, is moving up in Iowa.

Ehe New York Eimes

Founded in 1851

ADOLPH S OCHS Publisher 1896-1935

ARTHUR HAYS SULZBEBGER. Publisher 1935-1961

ORVIL E. ORYFOOS, Publisher 1961-1963

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER, Publisher 1963-1992

6

IE

Some media critics want journalists and voters to ignore the borse race, a mindless instruction in light of the fact that this particular race is intertwined with an important development in Republican politics. A Los Angeles Times headline, "G.O.P. Class Warfare Erupts as Candidates Assail Forbes," was oo the money, so to speak.

The battle was triggered by a slowly dawning awareness of what the flat tax really means beyood being a handy way for the Republicans to hand the fall election to President Clinton. It would save millions of dollars for Mr. Forbes and other holders of inherited wealth in capital gains and estate taxes for decades to come.

That aspect of this "truly nutty idea," to use Mr. Alexander's words, has opened up the Republicans' most divisive intramural issue - the question of whether the party is going to serve the economic interests of the old guard that sbaped its traditional policies or the middle-class voters who gave it the White House in the 80's and control of Congress in 1994. Huey (the Kingfish) Buchanan placed his bet in Louisiana by promoting his new 'cooservatism with a heart." He is championing the Republican middle managers who are getting laid off against another Republican faction, the downsizers who are fattening quarterly earnings at the expense of career employees.

face powerful internal strains over income. They like to argue that the Democrats are the party of class warfare, but it is Phil Gramm who has been calling Mr. Forbes "Richie Rich." Both Mr. Gramm and Newt Gingrich bave criticized Mr. Forbes for wanting to take a free ride on investment income while taxing wages and salaries through payroll deductions. Mr. Dole bas said that be cannot favor a plan that takes away the home mortgage exemption and loads a $200 billion deficit increase on the backs of wage earners.

recognized the threat in this line of attack and is circulatiog a memo arguing that Mr. Forbes is the true populist because he wants everyone to get rich. He makes a strained argument that "Forbes is not Old Wealth" since his grandfather started the fortune. It is Bob Dole, according to Mr. Wanniski, who serves the class at the top of the pyramid and is "biased toward preserving and protecting its wealth.'

If the Forbes camp is going to play the politics of resentment against Mr. Dole, it had better be careful. Mr. Dole is the Mozart of resentment. Nobody does it better, and for all the rocks in his road lately, Mr. Dole has caught an unexpected break. Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Alexander are both positioned to grab shares of the anti-Dole vote that

In any event, recent history shows that fractious primary voters may eventually learn to tolerate an old-shoe candidate. Think of all the Democrats who sighed and accepted the fact that Walter Mondale and Michael Dukakis were as good as it was going to get.

The whole business will play out fairly quickly now. So in the coming weeks, disregard all those urgings to ignore the horse race. This one has meaning enough for the direction of the country, the shape of the Republican Party and Bill Clinton's hopes of facing a battered candidate and a squabbling party. Anyway, It is a dandy show.

Just as the Democrats have been riveo at times Build a Road and What Do You Get? by racial and union issues, the Republicans could

Mr. Forbes's policy guru, Jude Wanniski, bas seemed to be flowing in a block to Mr. Forbes.

vors of the Srebrenica genocide in the month following these killings, has reached different conclusions. The majority of the young men killed were unarmed. Of those who were armed, the majority were mur-

> To the Editor: Re "Going Out on a Limb Over

Plans for a Road" (Newbury Journal, Feb. 7) on protests over a bypass being built in Newbury, England: I loved the delicious irooy of it.

The beginning of the article discusses the need for the $160 million bypass to "ease the traffic in this car-clogged town 50 miles west of London." The end includes an interview with a real estate agent who said that the "bypass was crucial because people wanting to settle bere care about three things - traffic, traffic, and traffic."

By now we should know better. More and wider roads do not solve traffic. They only attract more resideotial settlement, commercial development and more traffic. Capacity attracts use. Roads attract sprawl and more traffic.

If we truly want to deal with traffic jams, we need to consider the possibilities of compact city design, mass

A Mail-In Ballot

To the Editor:

For New York, Too

Mark Green (Op-Ed, Feb. 7) is right: New York State has an abysmal record of encouraging voter participation. In addition to implementing the "motor voter" law, the state should launch a vote-by-mail program in which citizens can vote in Oregon, in its vote-by-mail experiment in the special election for the United States Senate, achieved a 66 percent participation rate and saved

By contrast, only 10 percent of registered voters went to the polls in taxpayers more than $1 million.

special or regular elections.

د م transit use and other, less damaging and counterproductive solutions than continued campaigns of roadbuild-DAVID Tonn Austin, Tex., Feb. 7, 1996

By enabling the Bosnian Muslims

Serious peace negotiations began only when the United States put pressure oo the Muslims and Croats to end their military campaign,

Letand Burite

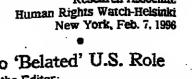

London, Feb. 8, 1996

The United States has been active-

DIANE PAUL Research Associate Human Rights Watch-Helsinki New York, Feb. 7, 1996

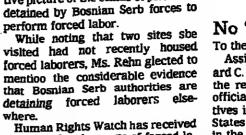

No 'Belated' U.S. Role

To the Editor:

attans

. . .

crimes against burnanity.

where.

Ms. Rehn also presented a deceptive picture of the status of prisoners many firsthand reports of forced labor in northern Bosnia and belleves

Ms. Rehn's predecessor, Tadeusz

Mazowiecki, resigned over the fail-

the residents of Srebrenica. Ms.

Rehn, by contrast, shows a disturbing tendency to credit the self-servdetained for that purpose.

The London Bombing

A terror bombing in London on Friday evidently signaled the end of the Irish Republican Army's cease-fire, declared in September 1994. The bombing, which killed at least one person, injured more than 100 and rocked the eastern dock area of the city, gives violent pause to what has been a fitful but hopeful effort to bring peace to Northern Ireland. There is no justification for such a wanton attack against civilians. All parties to the Irisb conflict must rededicate themselves to finding a peaceful resolution of this long and brutish conflict.

Ó

C

₽

000

GREET

ЦЦ.

22

If the I.R.A. as a whole is responsible for the bombing, which it yesterday claimed to be, its leaders bave made a terrible mistake by returning to violence. They cannot gain more through terror than they can through the patient pursuit of peace. If anything, a new campaign of terror will only set back their cause and wound their people.

If the bombing was the work of a factioo within the I.R.A., the commanders of the overall organization must persuade their colleagues to hold their fire. Gerry Adams, head of Sinn Fein, the political wing of the I.R.A., has pushed his friends toward peace. It will be all the harder for him to keep pressing oow, but baving seen the poteotial for reconciliation in his bomeland, he said yesterday he would do so. The Irish Government in Dublin should belp him.

Prime Minister John Major of Britain should reconsider his approach to arranging all-party peace talks. He bas been playing a dangerous game of brinkmansbip with the paramilitary groups, gambling that they would not return to violeoce and insisting unrealistically that the I.R.A. hand over some of its weapons before such talks could begin.

Mr. Major allowed the cease-fire to cootinue for 18 months with no further progress toward the talks. He seemed not to understand that Mr. Adams offered a hope for peace, and needed to be able to show his followers some coocrete advantage in putting down their guns.

An international commission, headed by former United States Senator George Mitchell, set out recommendations for proceeding with talks while addressing the issue of disarming the paramilitaries, and recommended that Mr. Major drop the insistence that weapons be handed over. Mr. Major reacted by saying be would only do so if the 1.R.A. met another precondition: elections to select participants in the talks. Mr. Mitcbell warned last weekeod that some elements in the 1.R.A. might lose patience. He seems to have been right.

Mr. Major's majority in Parliament is slimmer than ever. He will probably be forced to call an election by this summer and he is being hounded by a revitalized oppositioo under the leadership of Labor's Tony Blair. He seems to believe that any sign of weakness on the Northern Ireland issue could cost him vital votes in Parliameot.

The Londoo bombing should be a warning to Mr. Mator, Mr. Adams and the others involved in this conflict that a failure to achieve peace will bring a new round of senseless violence that harms all, whether Catholic or Protestant, Irish or British.

A Sweet Deal for General Electric

The General Electric Company is one of New York State's biggest employers, providing 13,000 jobs at 7 major sites. It is also one of state's biggest polluters. According to a state report released last year, its silicone factory at Waterford caused more toxic ground pollution than any other plant in the state for the seventh straight year.

As the Pataki administratioo came into power. the Department of Environmental Conservation was preparing to punisb the company for environmental violations at Waterford, Including releases nf toxic materials into the Hudson River, the ground and the air. Last fall a deal was announced in which General Electric was allowed to make a tax-deductible contribution of $1.5 million toward environmental projects in the region in lieu of fines. Environmental groups, Democrats in the State Legislature and even the Attorney General, Dennis Vacco, criticized the deal, saying G.E. had been let off too easily. They were right.

Two aspects of the deal are troubling. One is the allegation, supported by D.E.C. internal memorandums, that the company threatened to take its planned expansion of the Waterford plant elsewhere if a large fine was levied.

Another is that the settlement included the financing of a boat launch and wetlands reclamation project near the home of the Enviroomental Conservation Commissioner, Michael Zagata. The program under which the settlement was brokered allows companies to compensate for environmental violations by contributing to projects in the area where the violations occurred. The planned boat launch is 40-odd miles from G.E.'s Waterford site.

Before the settlement, the Senate majority leader, Joseph Bruno, quoted G.E.'s chairman, John Welch, as saying New York was an awful place to do business and that he would try to take any jobs he could out of state. According to Mr. Bruno, he and Mr. Pataki have managed to convince Mr. Welch that this administration is friendlier to business.

Mr. Pataki has made heartening progress on some eovironmental problems. He also knows, however, that serious enforcement of environmental laws will inevitably bring a government into conflict with large businesses with a history of environmental misdeeds. In this case, the Pataki administration argues that It is better to encourage companies like General Electric to address their pollutioo problems (which the settlement does) and to contribute to community projects, rather than antagonize them by levying substantial penalties.

This approach ignores both normal enforcement practice and common sense. Allowing a multibillion-dollar company to escape with a $1.5 million tax-deductible contribution is not a significant deterrent to future violations. G.E.'s threat to dodge a just penalty by taking 50 jobs out of the state is an unworthy act. Bowing to that threat is a sign of weakness in the Governor.

womb. The hospital care that these a recent City Council election on Manhattan's East Side, With a little effort, New York, the bome of the nation's first capital, could live up to its legacy as the cradle of democracy and save us a bundle in the MICHAEL C. ALCAMO bargain New York, Feb. 8, 1996

bables will receive can reach dollar amounts in the six digits per child. Quintuplets cooceived without the use of fertility drugs face the same dangers as those coocelved with such drugs. But wheo pareots choose to use these drugs, they wager the

"An Inconvenient Saudi Dissi-

The Iraqi invasioo of Kuwait ne-

Saudi Arabia has largely recov-

Saudi Arabia Economy Is Looking Better

voir north of Big Moose Lake in the Adirondacks, the temperature dropped to 52 degrees below zero, still the all-time low in New York State. That temperature reading made headlines around the courttry. GEORGE E. BONINE Syracuse, Feb. 6, 1996

The Queen Pays

To the Editor:

To the Editor: "A Duchess: Her Life in Debt" (Week in Review, Feb. 4) is incorrect dent" (editorial, Feb. 5) says that the to say that Queen Elizabeth II's "im-Saudi Arabian Government's fiscal mediate relatives have their expenses situatioo has deteriorated in recent taken care of by the government." vears. According to the official "Royal Fioances," since April 1993 the Queen cessitated the payment by Saudi Arabia of more than $55 billioo has reimbursed the British Government for annuities, authorized by Parin cash for direct war-related exliament, paid to 10 family members penses, which represented one-half of the country's gross domestic prodwho carry out public functions representing her and the nation. The money uct at that time and slowed achieveis to meet their official expenses. Uoment of the kingdom's economic der the Civil List Acts, only the Queen, her husband and mother receive monies from public funds that are not THOMAS CAMPBELL repaid.

Budgets were cut by 20 percent New York, Feb. 7, 1996 in 1994 and 6 perceot in 1995, subsi-

Block Grant Plan Will Hurt Drug Treatment

goals.

ered.

To the Editor: Re your Feb. 5 news article on Gov. George E. Pataki's block-grant proposal, under which responsibility for some vital services would be turned over to counties in New York State and to New York City: This proposal would have a devastating impact on treatment of substance abuse. Making counties liable for drug abuse saddles them with a problem that few bave demonstrated the capacity to confront. The plan fails to recognize that many treatment providers operate throughout the state and that few counties can, by themselves, mount a range of services. The proposal allows counties that cut back on treatment to split their unspent block grant dollars with the state. As a result, the plan insures destruction of the drug abuse treatment oetwork that New York State has built over the past 30 years.

Moreover, there would be a sharp rise in administrative costs at the county level with no equivalent reduction in Albany. New York City would have to recreate the Addiction Services Agency that was eliminated as wasteful in 1978.

Lost would be the substantial savings the state realizes when nonviolent, drug-abusing offenders - many of them juveniles - are placed in resideotial treatment programs by the courts rather than seot to prison.

These are programs that have demonstrated value in budget savings. reduced recidivism and increased employability.

As treatment services diminish. rising costs are likely in the health care and foster care systems, child protective services and services for the homeless. Additional costs to taxpayers will be greater than any savings realized from the block grant plan. MITCHELL S. ROSENTHAL, M.D. New York, Feb. 8, 1996

The writer is the founder of Phoenix House, a drug treatment facility.

The New York Times Company

229 West 43d St., N.Y. 10036-3959

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER, Chairman Chief Executive Officer LANCE R. PRIMIS, President Chief Operating Officer DAVID L. GORHAM, Senior Vice President Deputy Chief Operating Officer DIANE & BAKER, Senior Vice President Chief Financial Officer ATHARINE P. DARBOW, Senior Vice Pres

LAURA J. CORWIN, Secretary RICHARD G THOMAS, Treasurer

dies have been reduced, and the fiscal picture is improving, not deteriorating.

This success derives from cultivation of a strong private sector; an open economy that attracts the participatioo of foreign companies, and investment of nearly $1 trillion in infrastructure in less than three decades.

Gross domestic product growth at . an estimated 4.3 percent for 1995 and repayment of the Government's mternational debt during that year provide evidence of the improved outlook. MEDLEJ AL-MEDLEJ

Executive Director U.S.-Saudi Arabian Business Council Washington, Feb. 6, 1996

Military Has No Room For the H.I.V. Positive

To the Editor:

Re "Magic Shows the Way" (editorial, Feb. I): The only thing proved by the return of the basketball player Magic Johnson, who is H.I.V. positive, to the National Basketball Association is that team owners love money more than people. Like it or not, Johnson's colleagues will always treat him differently - and not because of a "phobia."

This is the reality that faces H.LV.infected military personnel. Their illness is unlike that of other nondeployable colleagues whose status must be handled on a case-by-case basis. H.I.V. does not go away. What is "punitive" about telling these nonmilitary military personnel they are no. longer of service to the United States military? .

You ignore that 99.9 percent of H.I.V.-infected personnel have broken the Uniform Code of Military Justice in activities that led to acquiring the disease. Other categories of nondeployment limitation are not the result of breaking military law.

Contrary to your assertion, the discharges are supported by the uniformed military. The military has a military agenda, not a political ROBERT K. DORMAN 12.0 Member of Congress, 46th Dist. Calif.

Washington, Feb. 5, 1996

THE JERUSALEM POST

THE NEW YORK TIMES OP-ED SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

Foreign Affairs THOMAS L. FRIEDMAN Three

Little

Words

, ,

WASHINGTON Watching the Republican primary campaign reminds me of something that I've been feeling for some time. now: The Republicans have no foreign policy.

During the first two years of the Clinton Administration, the fact that the Republicans didn't have a foreign policy was neither apparent nor for them very important. Life was easy for Republican foreign policy mayens and Presidential candidates. All they had to say were three little words -"Clinton Foreign Policy." - and ev-erybody laughed, as if it were a selfevident joke, which at times it was.

But lately, Mr. Clinton, in his own zigzagging style, has notched enough foreign policy successes — in Bosnia, North Korea, Haitl, Mexico and the Middle East — that the Republicans can oo longer get away with three little words, or the claim that only they are competent enough to conduct foreign policy_

But now that the Republicans need to posit a coherent, intellectually serious alternative foreign policy vision. they have cone. It is obvious that the whole framework for Republican foreign policy — the cold war — has collapsed and that the Republican candidates have no new vision to unite them. They can no longer just get by with saying they are tougher on the Soviets than the Democrats.

So they have splintered. There is the Dole-Lugar-Forbes school, which basically endorses the same interna-tionalist-occasional-use-of-force foreign policy that Mr. Clinton is now implementing. There is the Jesse Helms-Pat Bochanan school, which advocates a hlend of isolationism and nostalgia for the cold war. And there is the Phil Gramm-freshmen Republican school, which seems interested only in cutting foreign aid and every budget except the Pentagon's. This

Republicans need a foreign policy of their own.

America only. editor of The ### Lower Taxes, Higher Revenues

By Jack Kemp

WASHINGTON t is a paradoxical truth that tax rates are too high today and tax revenues are too low, and the soundest way to raise the revenues in the long run is to cut taxes now." These Reaganesque words came from the lips of President John F. Kennedy in 1962, and they ring just as true today.

Why then do so many politicians from both parties offer only spending reductions as means of balancing the budget? No doubt a balanced budget is an important goal, and we'll have to cut wasteful Federal spending to get there. But surely none of the Republican candidates really believes that we can erase the deficit and reduce the Federal debt solely by tightening our collective budget belt. We need economic growth, too.

Part of the problem is that for years liberals have insisted that tax reforms of the Reagan Revolution. exploded the deficit. It seems that many in Congress and several Republican candidates are beginning to believe it. The result is a harrage of attacks on pro-growth tax proposals, based on the mistaken charge that cutting taxes would increase the deficit. A history lesson is in order. Three times in this century the view is not just America first, but United States has significantly reduced the top marginal income tax rates. In the 1920's, the top rate was

By David Gelernter

and struggling to stay independent. At best, it will need to change radically, which threatens to leave its Mac Rev-mere 12 years ago, Apple

Computer brought forth the Mac and changed history. Today, it is reeling from unprecedented losses

enues rose from $719 millioo to $1.16 billion, an increase of more than 60 percent. (Unfortunately, Herberi Hoover's support of the Smoot-Hawley tariff, among other mistakes, put an end to the gnldeo '20's.) President Kennedy's tax cuts lowered the top rate from 91 percent to 70 percent between 1963 and 1965. Over that period, revenues increased more than 16 percent,

In the 1980's, taxes were lowered from a top marginal rate of 70 percent to 28 percent. By the end of the decade, real gross domestic product surged by 32 percent and revenues grew hy oearly 40 perceot. True, nominal hudget deficits were higher at the end of the Reagan era. But as a percentage of G.D.P., the deficit actually diminished in the 1980's.

A history lesson for the deficit hawks.

That is why all proposals to expand the economy hy lowering taxes oo work, savings, investment and entrepreneurship - including the flat-tax plans of Steve Forbes and Representative Dick Armey - deserve to be discussed and dehated, cent. Between 1921 and 1928, tax rev- Bob Dole, found that a radical overhaul of the tax code would be vital to our goal of doubling the rate of economic growth, currently 1.9 percent annually. We recommended a simple plan that would tax income only once and would allow working men and women to deduct their payroll taxes. (I would also exempt charitable donations and mortgage interest, and cap

> While we dehate such radical reforms, we should quickly reduce the capital gains tax and index it to

Critics of a capital gains tax cut claim that it would be a payoff to the rich that would increase the deficit. This is not true. Cutting and indexing capital gains tax rates would help low-income and high-risk entrepreoeurial ventures get investors, fostering a more vibrant national economy and thereby expanding the tax base. The capital gains tax is less of a lax on the rich than it is a barrier to the success of lower-income people willing to take a risk. Cutting taxes is the key to doubling the rate of economic growth and would do more for America than just help halance the Federal budget. None of the nation's myriad challenges, including poverty, crime, racial tension and welfare dependence, can be solved without economic growth.

Liberties MAUREEN DOWD

Dot, Dot, Dot

Something dam strange is going on. Maybe it's because everyone in fowa is so darn nice. Or maybe it's because the lowa caucuses are so darn incoherent, offering a cacophony of messages but no symphony of discourse.

But suddenly my darn computer is sputtering optimism. 1 can oo longer assert my will over my Thinkpad. It is upbeat, it is inchoate, it is corn on the Fourth of July - oh my gosh, everything on the screen looks like that USA Today column by ... Larry King!!!

Larry, who's here this weekend, likes dots and life-affirming exclamations, random questions ... ellipses: "Has any Republican candidate really excited you so far? ... Anybody hear from Moamar Gadhafi lately? ... Is there a more vital actor than Antonio Banderas? ... Why do certain types of candies taste better in movie heaters than outside? ... Count me in favor of Puerto Rico as our 51st

Gee, 1 wish there were an escape key to stop sounding sounding like Larry Never mind. I'll try again. Sunday column, take two:

DES MOINES!!! Sunshine, lollipops and flat taxes here today ... Who wants a bumpy tax, anyway? Count me out ... Here we are in the only place oo earth where the word ethanol is an applause line ... If Pat Buchanan is a member of the Knights of Columbus, then count me in as a member of the Days of Columbus ... How can Mr. Cross-fire trash Washington pundits as "those folks"? Go figure!

Questions, questions, questions; Why do they call it the Heartland? Don't the rest ol us have heart? ... If we all know that the New Hampshire state motto is "Live Free or Die," why don't we know the fowa state motto? ... is there a more vital neopragmatist than Ricbard Lugar? ... If supply-side economics works, why doesn't Jack Kemp have a real joh? Right? Right.... Charlton Heston can part the Red Sea, but can he save Phil Gramm? Chuck campaigned with Gramm here on Saturday. The guy must know something we don't know. ... Why the heck didn't he win an Oscar for "The Ten Command-ments"? Holy Moses!

Notes 'n' Comments: You look up funny in the dictiooary and you find Alex Castellanos. After $20 million and oo results, the Gramm media adviser can still make jokes. "If good looks and charisma were requisites, Des Moines Steve Forbes wouldn't have caught on," Alex told me. "He looks like you open a panel in his back and change the hatteries." (Better find your guy some of those hatteries, Alex!)

ΤE

Did you know that: Steve Forbes never blinks ... For that matter, Bri-an Lamh never blinks ... Boh Dole has a nice smile ....

My 2 cents: How come Boh Dole has been running for President so long and still doesn't have a "Shining City on the Hill" speech? Come to think of it, he doesn't have any speech. His idea of an audience grabber is 'My fingerprints have been all over farm legislation" ... Mari Maseng Will, phose borne ... Now that "Anonymous" has sold the rights to his/her novel to Mike Nichols, who will play Hillary? My pick: Emma Thompson. The lady can act!

Channeling Larry King in Iowa.

Cornfield mustngs: lowa is so flat . Is that why it likes the flat tax? . . . Is there a better team with a losing record than Morry Taylor? "This is America," Morry says, "We speak English here." Can't argue with that. ... And kudos to Morry for trying to stop that regulatory madness.

Makin' hacon: Some TV reporters trying to do standups at hog farms have had trouble with the hogs celehrating Valentine's Day early ... Pity the newsies, stranded on manure lagoons ... The Marriott gift shop sells musical pig candles that play "Love Me Teoder.

Quickie Quotes: Pat Buchanan on gun cootrol: "I think you need a steady aim" ... Bob Dole in Oskaloosa, "Let me add right quick that Elizabeth Is not going to be in charge of health care - she may have a little blood hank in the White House" . Phil Gramm to a female reporter: "I don't leel it's right that you're out here working, standing on Ice with your high heels on, to pay taxes to put people in prison."

Loose ends: Sabina (pronounced like "nothin' could be finah") Forbes has takeo to the airwaves to defend her man. She looks formidable ... Watch out, Hillary! ... The candidates went to a rally for the National Campaign to Protect Marriage. I'm outta here ....

:d

5f 1-

а-1-11

ut d-

١đ

ry in

the rate at around 19 percent.) eliminate the effects of inflation.

Weekly Standard, the popular new conservative journal, remarked to me that on domestic policy the Republicans have continued the Reagan revolution to its logical conclusion, with the Gingrich revolution. But on foreign policy they have not extended the Reagan revolution at all. This has real implications for Republicans, Mr. Kristol argued, "because Reagan did not just stand for limiting government and cutting taxes. He also stood for patriotism, strength abroad and using American power overseas in the pursuit of freedom for captive nations." In that sense Reaganism had a certain largeness and generosity of spirit. Yes, we're cutting your welfare checks, Mr. Reagan could always say, but at least we're using the money to liberate Eastern Europe.

Without a foreign policy compooent, that sense of largeness is missing from Republicanism today. The message that comes across has a narrow, mean tinge: Yes, we're cutting welfare and Medicaid, but don't worry, because we're also cutting aid to Africa, India and Eastern Europe. Instead of Republican domestic pollcy being balanced by foreign policy, for many Republicans their domestic policy IS their foreign policy: Shrink the budget, shrink foreign aid, shrink the State Department, shrink America's role in the world.

What the Republicans need is a neo-Reaganite foreign policy that would be more assertive, more nationalistic, more focused on the big, traditional threats than Clinton," said Mr. Kristol. "I see glimmers of it around, but it has not been coherently developed."

While the Clinton foreign policy has clearly improved, it would be hard to describe it as having a coherent overarching theme either. It still seems driven often by television images, a sort of neo-CNNism. Mr. Clinton has gone from an ad hoc series of failures to an ad hoc series of successes, but, because he has never set down an. overall framework of priorities, it is oever quite clear what is important. For example, Secretary of State Warren Christopher has been to Syria 17 times and to China once.

Io many ways, Mr. Clinton and the Republicans have converged: Neither has a vision and so both insist that U.S. foreign policy today is about "Leadership." Mr. Clinton defines "Leadership" as all the ad hoc things he has done and the Republicans define it as all the ad hoc things they would do.

As long as Mr. Clinton's list looks relatively successful, so too will his foreign policy. But Bosnia, China or Russia could sour at any time, and with it the view of the Clinton foreign policy. That's why this column comes with the following label: "Use by Sunday Feb. II. May not be valid after that date.'

lowered from 73 percent to 25 perwithout being dismissed as a boon to the rich.

Computer Lesson

Jack Kemp, co-director of Empower America, was Secretary of Housing and Urban Development in the Bush Administration.

NEW HAVEN

The National Commission on Economic Growth and Tax Reform, on which I served as chairman for House Speaker Newt Gingrich and Senator simplicity makes elegance. This company has done more than any other to make computers beautiful.

Americans tend to view elegance

as a dispensable, maybe decadeot luxury. But in science, elegance is the tell-tale of truth. Collar ooe Mac enthusiast and one PC user, both equally adept on their machines.

(N.B.: There are no PC enthusiasts.)

Chances are the Mac lover wasted less of his life acquiring know-how and wastes fewer brain cells storing

it. You are likelier to develop a deep sor program with the new Blimp-

Check feature (capitalizes every occurrence of "Zeppelin") is outranked

by a competitor offering Blimp-Check and Rose-Whistle (broadcasts "The Yellow Rose of Texas" whenever you would be happy, be writes, to sacri-fice the "useless features" in the latest version of Microsoft Word for salesman once couldn't believe that I might pass up his car for a Honda Accord. His had so many more features. The fins on the dashboard vents, I recall, swiveled back and forth like heads at a tennis match.

"Self-enslaving Mac population,"

The Wall Street Journal called us devotees. Imagine paying dollars for Apple did make lots of mistakes.

Yet in the end, history comes down to this: The Macintosh was the machine people favored when they were

The computer ace Clifford Stoll type Escape-Y).

mere elegance.

ANCIENT SEALS - A GIFT FOR TODAY

The silver-plated replicas by ARYE AMYR - elegant, handmade pieces to display and enjoy - let you hold history in your hands. Born in Vienna, trained in Israel, Arye Amyr presents works inspired by archaeological finds and ancient Judaica:

> SILVER SHEKEL of Israel, issued 66-70 C.E., decorated with 3 pomegranates and the inscription JERUSALEM THE HOLY."

> > MATTITYAHU

ANTIGONUS

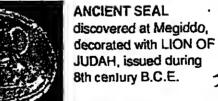

40 B.C.E.

coin, showing the

MENORA for the first time in history. Dated

SILVER DINAR, minted during Bar Kochba war 135 C.E., with the Inscription "FREEDOM FOR JERUSALEM".

The earliest Hebrew coin struck in JUDEA, inscribed "YHD" in Aramaic. First half of the 4th century B.C.E.

Each coin is mounted on a beautiful dark stained wood base, 10x10 cm. Each coin is signed, with Certificate of Origin attached.

Total height approx. 30 mm., weight approx. 400 g. All pieces are delivered in a silvercolored gift box.

Suggested retail price: NIS 269.

JP introductory price: NIS 199, incl. door-to-door delivery, where available.

THE MART The Jerusalem Post, POB 81, Jerusalem 91000. Tel. 02-241282, Fax 02-241212 Please send me:

Q SHEKEL DDINAR DLION SEAL DMENORA DJUDEAN COIN Enclosed is my check payable to The Jerusalem Post for NIS 199 per item, or credit card details: D Isracaic Diners 🕻 Visa

_____Exp.____

CC No.____ spending their own money. In the business world, it never competed Name_____ successfully with the LB.M. PC and its faithful clones; corporate buyers felt guilty spending other people's City__ money on mere elegance. Perhaps I could interest Apple in one final gift to the country. Go forth and teach us elegance. Go forth and change our culture. Apple now has a golden opportunity to become the first American company to reorganize itself as a philosophical movement. Think of the tax advantages!

. ...

olution sadly incomplete. feel for an elegant system's capaci-When Steve Jobs and Stephen Wozties; you can do more and go further. niak set up Apple in 1976, computing But most American companies diswas an esoteric technical specialty. dain elegance. Computer makers typi-As a marketing concept, home comcally believe in power first and only, puters seemed about as promising as and gauge a program's power by how many tricks it can do. A word procesthermonuclear toothhrushes. But the Apple II of 1977 was a hit. I.B.M., It's fair to guess, was puzzled at first ("what do you do with it?") but then realized with mounting excitement that here was the perfect solution for propping open the ma-

Apple's unfinished revolution. "simplicity, reliability, and, especial-ly, ease of learning." But the Mac's message is far from sinking in A chine-room door. When the Apple Macintosh arrived in 1984, even computer scientists took note: how marvelous! A computer that was weak, slow and fatally cute. Just what the world had been longing for, we all figured, a cute computer. But my curiosity got the better of me, and the Mac got better, too. A few years later, I ordered some for a research project. Some students and I had put aside an afternoon to set them up; an hour later we were finished. Ordinarily, we operated computers hy typing arcane instructions: "blurb squogl//chugchugchug-now!" But on Macs there were none to type. They felt like cars without steering wheels. Gradually it sunk in. Apple had embodied in this unassuming machine the most elusive equation in the technology world: Power plus David Gelernter, author of "1939: The Lost World of the Fair," teaches computer science at Yale.

_____ Address_____ _____Code______

Tel. (day)_____ID No._____ID No._____ Signature_____

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1996

THE JERUSALEM POST

Follies of Companies Earn Tax Deductions

WEEKLY REVIEW

By REED ABELSON

Œ

£

C

OU put off shoveling your walk, and a neighbor slips oo the ice. He sues, he wins. If insurance doesn't help, can you take a tax deduction? Forget lt.

Now if you were a corporation, it would be a different story. Not only would you have a tidy write-off, but you might also be able to offset some past earnings and get a check from Uncle Sam.

Consider these not-at-all-hypothetical situations:

A big Wall Street firm agrees to a costly settlement with the Securities and Exchange Commission. An oil tanker runs aground, wreaking environmental bavoc. And after pumping millions into an ill-conceived product, a company abandons it.

Yes, in all of these cases, the United States Government is willing to cushioo some of the blows with a hefty tax deduction. It's a silver lining denied to most other taxpayers, who are typically individuals with much less power.

But no matter how disastrous a company's actions prove or how badly a business blunders, a third of the costs of cleaning up the resulting mess will frequently be picked up by Uncle Sam.

Despite the heated oratory about the need to balance the Federal budget, and the scramble to unearth additional revenues, oot a whisper is heard about making companies pay more for their mistakes, intentional or not. The only time politicians questioo these deductions is when a particularly glaring example is fresh in voters' minds. As soon as the hue and cry dies down, the talk quickly evaporates.

Even Steve Forbes, who is running for President mainly on the issue of tax reform.

has overlooked this possible revenue raiser. Though his far-reaching flat-tax proposal would eliminate endless deductions for individuals, it would leave these business expenses untouched. Mr. Forbes's campaign office did not return calls seeking comment.

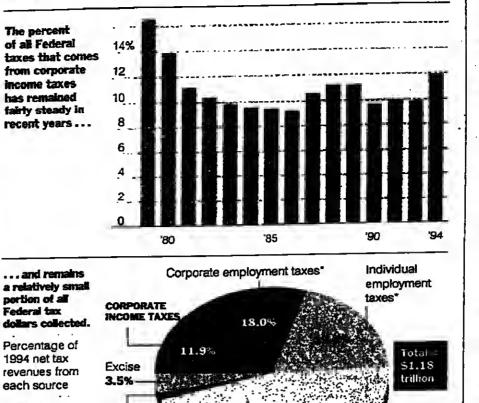

Companies walk away with more than a one-time tax break. Uoder the existing rules, the losses created by the payment of a buge civil judgment or fat legal settlement can be applied to a company's profits from previous years. As much as a decade's worth of tax bills can be nearly wiped away. A company may even be due a substantial refund from the loternal Revenue Service. In other words, a company that had been hurtling along making money and paying taxes, and then suffered a loss through its own actions, might then be eligible for a refund on past taxes paid if the loss is large enough. An individual in the same fix would not stand a chance.

When corporate losses get large enough, companies can even do an end run around the dreaded alternative minimum tax, said Robert S. McIntvre, director of Citizens for Tax Justice, a Washington research group that receives much of its backing from organized labor. The alternative tax, created as part of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 to make sure companies and upper-income individuals do not avoid taxes altogether, has less bite when a company retroactively applies big losses to previous years' income. By sanctioning the use of such "loss carry backs," the tax code allows companies to pay much less than what they would owe under the alternative minimum tax.

This is one reason why despite their image as deep pockets, corporate income taxes in recent years have accounted for just 10 to 12 percent of Federal revenues.

For individuals, if a burglar breaks in and steals your jewelry, you can deduct unin-

Who Pays Taxes? Leona Almost Had It Right

sured losses above 10 percent of your adjusted gross income - but that threshold is so high that it provides scant comfort. It would be like telling a company it could deduct only those losses above 10 percent of revenues.

Estate

1.3%

Corporate America, as well as the legions of accountants and tax lawyers in its employ, is quick to defend its right to its deductions, arguing that hefty settlement costs and payments of legal claims are legitimate business expenses. Companies, the argument goes, are taxed on their income after their costs are deducted, not on their revenues, and these expenses are no different from paying employee salaries or the light bill.

*Estimates

Source: Internal Revenue Service

ECONOMY

Actions like these "are not criminal maybe they're bad judgment," said Joseph W. Rebravitch, a professor of accounting and taxation at New York University, explaining why these tax breaks can be applled so broadly. "Why would the Government not allow the deductions?"

But the tax code does make distinctions. As a matter of policy, the Government does occasionally bold its nose. It does not, say, allow companies to deduct illegal bribes and kickbacks, punitive damages paid in antitrust suits, or criminal fines or penalties paid to the Government. Any punitive component of a civil settlement is also generally disallowed.

The ban on deducting such payments was meant to avoid frustration of the criminal law, said Elizabeth Garrett, a law professor at the University of Chicago. A pivotal case that helped to shape the Government's thinking, she said, was a 1958 Supreme Court ruling banning a trucking company from deducting the cost of multiple criminal fines. "You don't want to encourage people to do these things by giving them a tax deduction," Mr. Rebravitch said. Likewise, for symbolic reasons, the Goverament in 1994 sharply curtailed what businesses could deduct for restaurant meals and country-club dues. And under the Clinton Administration, it scaled back the amount of executive compensation that companies could deduct above $1 million, even though the crackdown has generated very little revenue for the Treasury. But as much as the Government frowns on a tax code that would ease the pain of any punishment it metes out, it seems to look the other way when companies engage in regrettable behavior that merely results in substantial civil payments or legal claims. Even if the Government determines that the amount being paid was not meant to punish a company in any fashion, the question remains of whether the Government should subsidize the cost of making everything right. "All those things are deductible when you could argue they violate public policy," said Robert Willens, a tax and accounting analyst for Lehman Brothers.

of civil payments were standard in settlement negotiations between companies and the Government. After all, he said, "it is 40 percent of any number you're talking about," when you figure in state and local taxes.

Individual

income taxes

As a result, corporations will do their utmost to negotiate a settlement in which most, if not all, of the desired deductions would pass muster with the LR.S. In fact, if lawyers are clever, and succeed in characterizing some of the settlement as a disgorgement of profit or restitution, tax experts say that part of it can usually qualify for a deduction.

For their part, Government agencies deny taking the tax impact of any settlements into account. "We never discuss tax issues in negotiating settlements," said Thomas C. Newkirk, an associate director of the S.E.C.

Even companies that acknowledge some wrongdoing can qualify for the tax breaks. Take Salomon Inc.'s rum-in, to put it mildly, with the S.E.C. over allegations that it submitted billions of dollars of unauthorized bids in auctions of Treasury securities. Although the Government never brought criminal charges, Salomon conceded that it had submitted some phony bids and ended up cooperating with the authorities. The firm settled the Government's civil suit in 1992 without admitting or denying the charges

Under the terms of the $290 million settle-trying to fool the Internal Revenue Service. The issue is whether the Government should allow generous tax breaks under such circumstances.

01

· · · · · ·

1.1.1

SUC FIL

ustice c

ι.

. . . . . . . . .

. . .

1. 11. 1

. .

-1.1

12.4

. .

2.

...

The Government's charity is also apparent whenever a company faces exposure for anything from a terrible environmental accident to lawsuits over a product. When the Exton Valdez ran aground seven years ago and spilled millions of gallons of crude oil into Prince William Sound, Exxon racked up hefty bills - and faces still more. But its settlement with Alaska and the Federal Government in 1991 called for it to pay just $150 million in fines and additional payments totaling $900 million over 10 years.

Between enormous legal bills and other clean-up costs, the company took a $1.7 billion after tax charge in 1989. How much was declared pretax and over what period of time the deductions may have been taken were never disclosed, and the company declined to comment.

Of course, in Exnon's case, the company may find itself with no Government-issued cushion to soften the blow in one pending dispute in Alaska. In 1994, a Federal jury there returned a verdict levying $5 billion in punitive damages. Exxon is appealing, and oo one expects a resolution soon. If it loses, those damages would almost definitely not be deductible.

Other companies are luckier. They can at ... least look forward to claiming a deduction on every dollar they pay out to people who say they have been hurt by their actions. Dow Corning, which faces billions of dollars in claims over its silicone breast implants, and Bankers Trust, which is paying substantial sums to some clients to settle suits over money-losing derivative products it sold, can both count on using those payouts to reduce their taxes, Bankers Trust declined to comment.

Employing the don't-kick-us-while-we'redown theory, some companies argue that without these valuable breaks they would not be able to stay in business. Dow Corning went bankrupt anyway, though it is still in business and may live to enjoy the accumulated tax benefits on the $440 million in claims it has already paid.

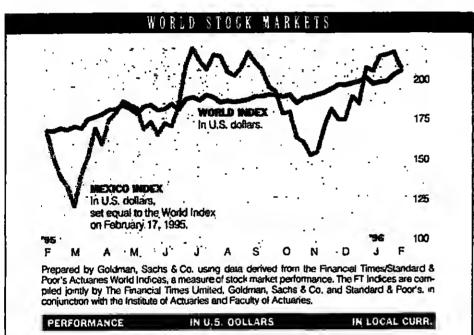

As awful as some product-liability cases are, in some ways they are the best thing to have from a tax standpoint. Losses from some claims can be carried back a decade, while normal carry backs go back only three years. That period has been lengthened to 10 years in product-liability cases, an extension that grew out of litigation over asbestos-related illnesses. The reasoning is that companies facing extraordinary losses should be able to apply them over a sufficiently long period.

The White House, though, has recently. proposed limiting carry backs to just a year. But as long as the current rules exist, years can pass during which corporate citizens can go without paying the LR.S. a dime.

The Government also picks up some of. the tab when companies deduct losses incurred for ventures that in hindsight can be seen only as quixotic attempts to diversify or introduce a new product. To be sure, the line between legitimate business expense and foolishness is blurry. Since many ventures entail risk, it is nearly impossible to discern when these costs should and should not be deductible, said Carl Polsky, an accounting professor at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. "Where do you draw the line?" he asked. But there are plenty of outsized failures that could well make the tax-paying public wonder why the Government keeps helping to defray the cost. Mistakes like McDonald's McLean Deluxe hamburger, Coca-Cola'a New Coke, or Federal Express's Zap Mail, each of which surely cost those companies plenty, are considered routine expenses and thus can be used to reduce taxable income. The loss from New Coke, for instance, has been estimated at tens of millions of dollars. Even UAL got to deduct whatever it paid an image consultant to anoint it Allegis, a roundly ridiculed name that it spent $7 million just to advertise and then abandoned after about a year. And remember when Mobil announced in 1975 that it was gettinginto retailing with the purchase of Montgomery Ward? That bright idea lasted 13 years and ended in a tax deduction, too. Another type of corporate folly is covered as well: overpaying for acquisitions. New tax rules dating from 1993 allow an acquirer in some cases to deduct over 15 years everything it paid in excess of what the hard assets of the purchased business were worth, an amount known as good will. The I.R.S. finally gave in to the demand for this deduction after the Supreme Court ruled in favor of allowing taxpayers to deduct such But chances are, Corporate America has nothing to fear. Despite all the talk by politicians, both right and left, about the search for loopholes to close, there has been no rush to eliminate any of these deductions. The Government seems all too willing to keep handing out money for those seemingly not in need. As Mr. McIntyre of the Citizens for Tax Justice noted, "This isn't an anti-corporate-welfare Congress."

Sources: Bank Rate Monitor; Bloomberg Financial Markets; The Bond Buyer; Datastream

Goldman, Sachs; IBC's Money Fund Report; Merrill Lynch; Standard & Poor's; Ryan Labs

Country	Index	Week % Cha.		YTD % Chg.		Dividend Yield	index	YTD % Chg.
Australia	199.13	4.2	5	4.8	11	3.82	175.45	3.3
Austria	187.32	1.6	17	7.3	9	1.49	144.65	11.S
Belgium	215.35	3.5	7	3.0	16	3.22	162.35	7.0
Brazil	170.2S	9.S	1	23.4	1	1.44	306.55	24.2
Britain	231.18	2.4	13	0.3	20	4 12	225.66	2.5
Canada	157.18	2.8	12	S.9	10	2.40	156.38	6.7
Denmark	299.20	0.2	26	3.6	14	1.40	234.05	7.S
Fintand	185.52	5.5	3	- 0.8	24	1.79	177.54	4.1
France	186.38	3.0	11	3.9	13	3.04	149.36	8.S
Germany	170.45	1.3	20	4.1	12	1.82	131.79	8.2
Hong Kong	447.68	3.7	6	15.5	3	3.19	444.40	15.5
ireland	258.12	1.2	21	1.0	17	3.31	231.97	3.3
Italy	79 62	6.6	2	8.0	7	1.S9	93.94	7.6
Japan	152.71	1.0	22	- 1.4	25	0.74	102.98	1.9
Malaysia	520.84	1.8	16	7.4	8	1.63	512.01	7.9
Maxico	1,211.63	0.7	24	17.0	2	1.42	9,809.67	12.4
Netherlands	274.73	0.8	23	0.7	19	3.13	208.83	4.7
New Zealand	80.31	3.5	8	0.8	18	4.61	63.02	- 2.6
Norway	230.41	2.1	15	- 0.4	22	2.06	203.00	2.4
Singapore	458.81	3.3	10	12.8	6	1.34	299.68	12.9
South Africa	437.76	0.4	25	13.6	S	3.37	349.31	13.8
Spain	165.40	1.6	18	0.1	21	3.87	156.84	3.3
Sweden	310.60	5.0	4	- 0.5	23	1.88	319.64	4.4
Switzerland	222.56	1.3	19	- 5.7	26	1.58	168 18	- 0.1
Thailand	192.03	3.5	9	14.1	4	1.98	188.82	14.8
United States	259.08	2.3	14	3.1	15	2.20	259.08	3.1
COMPOSITE	NOICES	,	1.4
Europe	203.06	2.4		1.1		2.98	177.52	45
Pacific Basin	166.28	1.5		0.6		1.16	115.10	3.3
Europe/Pacific		1.9		0.8		2.01	138.30	3.9
World	206.64	2.1		2.2		2.11	176.63	3.8

Source, Goldman, Sachs & Co. Exchange rates as of Fnday's London close © 1996 The Financial Times Ltd., Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Standard & Poor's

Exchange rate	Friday	Last Friday	Week % Chg.	Year Ago
Japanese yen to the U.S. dollar	107.05	106.38	+0.63	98.93
German marks to the U.S. dollar	1.4765	1.4815	-0.34	1.5197
Canadian dollars to the U.S. dollar	1.3705	1.3758	-0.39	1.4016
U.S. dollars to the British pound	1.5310	1.5252	+0.38	1.5630

There seems to be some room for interpretation on exactly which parts of a civil settlement should be considered punitive and not deductible, and which are the kind that can be used to lower a company's taxes. "This is one of the least clear areas in tax practice," said Wayne Robinson, a director in the Washington office of Price Waterhouse, which represents clients in settlement negotiations.

Robert Zarzar, a Price Waterhouse partner, said negotiations over the deductibility

UPS AND DOWNS

ment, Salomon had to pay $100 million into a fund open to anyone contending that he or she lost money as a result of its actions. The firm also ponied up $122 million in "civil penalties" and $68 million in forfeitures and other payments. While Salomon would not comment on what it considered deductible, tax experts say some of the settlement would appear to have qualified.

But wait, there's more. To cover all its costs from the incident, which included legal fees and other sizable costs in addition to the actual settlement, the firm took two pretax charges totaling $385 million. There were thus $95 million in added expenses, some of which were presumably legal costs, that may have been deemed deductible. Therehas never been much discussion of companies refraining from deducting legal costs, even unusually large ones.

The Government has also picked up the tab for other companies caught in mischief. When the Unisys Corporation ran afoul of the Pentagon for contracting fraud in 1991, the computer company considered the vast majority of the $190 million it was forced to pay in fines and penalties as deductible, although it did plead guilty to some criminal charges. Only $4 million worth of criminal fines could not be deducted from its tax bills.

Litton Industries, another military contractor, plans to deduct the cost of an $86 million Government suit it settled a year and a half ago; the suit asserted that Litton had overcharged the Defense Department for computer services.

Litton thus calculates its after-tax hit as just $54 million, since the settlement characterized the full sum not as punishment but as restitution - money paid to make the Defense Department whole.

Since companies pay taxes on income before they must disgorge it, it would be unfair not to allow them to deduct these costs, said Arthur Feder, a tax lawyer at Fried, Frank, Harris in New York. "What you're doing is adding another penalty."

No one is accusing these companies of

Feb. 5 -9: Stock Rally Continues as Dow Surges 167.63 Points; Long-Bond Yield Falls

		DOMESTIC BONDS		AROUND THE WORLD		BONDS	OTHER INVESTMENTS
DOMESTIC EQUITIES Broad market S& P. 500 index	Up 3.23% 656.37	Ryan Labs. Total Return	Up 0.07% 192.57	European stocks F.TActuaries Europe	Down 0.55% 201.95	Long bonds 6.09% 30-year Treasuries Down 7 basis pts.	Money market funds 4.92% Taxable average Down 9 basis pts
Blue chips Dow 30 industrials	Up 3.12% 5.541.62	Bond Buyer index	Up 0.88% 122.31	Aslan stocks F.TActuaries Pacific Ba	Down 0.28% sin 165.82	Short bonds         4.86%           2 year Treasuries         Down 4 basis pts.	Bank C.D.'s 4,74%
Small capitalization Russell 2000 index	Up 1.07% 321.12	Corporates Mernil Lynch Master index	Up 0.26% 822.79	Gold New York cash price Foreign indexes are shown in dollar	Down 2.19% $405.60	Municipals         5.51%           Bond Buyer index         Down 6 basis pts.           100 basis points = 1 percentage point	Stocks S.& P. 500 dividend yield Down 6 hp.
90-DAY RELATIVE TREND	+15%		+15%		+15%	SO-DAY HILATINE TREAD Change in basis points
	.		0	day
D J	-15 F	N D J	-15 F	. с	I F <sup>-15</sup>	N O d
4. Y. A.

The Jerusalem Post Monday, February 12, 1996

It's tough being a whiz kid

Gabi Lukacs may only be 13, but he's turning heads in the Technion

FEATURES

Sue Fishkoff reports ABI Lukacs was just 12 years old last at Budapest's Polytechnical University but works October, but instead of preparing for his bar mitzva he entered Haifa's Technion as a first-year math student.

The Hungarian-born adolescent, who immigrated to Upper Nazareth with his father Janos in 1990, dismisses the suggestion that there's anything unusual about his precocious academic ability.

"I'm just able to understand things quickly," he insists. "Until I actually produce something, you can't say it's anything special."

10

~

 $N \geq \tau$

÷ .

с. т

 $Z \leq 1$

 $2^{\prime}, 2$

č –

199 m.

 $\ell \in \mathcal{A}(2)$

,- - - -

· · · · · ·

127 114

1 - E 192

28.5.5 · . 27.

والمسترارين

 $(x_{i},y_{i}) \in \mathbb{R}^{n}$

51. . . 17

1. 1. 1. 1. 1

 $= 1 \times 1 \times 1$

Sec. 77.

. . .

1 N K

1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 -

special

فالمتراجع والمسر

14. 1999

1.123

10 11

والتروحين والمعر

----

N 1 . / T. . .

- -

 $|\Delta \omega| < 1$

Still, it's not every day that a boy skips high school, studies on his own for the math bagrut. (matriculation), scores a perfect 100, and, two months shy of his 13th birthday enters the Technion, where he not only takes a full firstyear class load, but sneaks in an extra computer

"I'm not supposed to take a fourth class, but I told them I'm signing up for it anyway," he says, with a schoolboy grin. "Maybe they'll throw me out, but I don't care at this point."

Why doesn't be care? He's doing well in his coursework, and he's managed to make a handful of friends at the university, despite the age difference.

"It's a miracle that he's even sitting in my class," says Prof. David Chillag, Gabi's first-year algebra teacher. "He's doing excellently. He's a nice boy, and seems to get along well with the other students."

Indeed, Gabi says, he has no problems with his teachers or fellow students. His only difficulty is with the university administration, and it's a prohlem that may keep him at home when the. second semester begins on March 6.

It's a simple, yet daunting, logistical quandary. Because he's registered as a "special" student, Gabi has no access to the usual services offered to other Technion students. That means no financial aid, no discount for being an excellent student, and no room in the on-campus dormitories. He gets some financial help from a Jerusalem foundation called Kol Yisrael Haverim, and a stipend from the Absorption Ministry, but his father still pays most school costs. That's hard on Janos, a philosophy PhD and architect who taught a High Court of Justice, before " Conservative or Reform move-justices Eliyahu Mazza, Toya ments were found to be unsuitand others, petitioners, versus the " sitting as a High Court of Justice, Haifa Religious Council and oth- to set the elections aside on the netri

now as an interior decorator.

The dormitory prohlem is more pressing. Gabi commutes four to five hours a day by bus from his Upper Nazareth home to the Technion and back, a graeling travel schedule that leaves him exhansted

Four days a week, Gabi rises at 5:30 a.m., and arrives home at 8 p.m.; when he begins his home-work. He sleeps an average of four hours a night, not nearly enough for a boy his age.

"When I have an exam, I might only get an hour or two of sleep, then back on the bus to take the test," he says.

He's appealed to the dean of students for a dormitory room, but has received no response. The Technion's spokesman's office says there is as yet "no decision."

In fact, Gabi complains, the Technion administration treats him like ... well, like a child. When the dean's office calls his home, they ask to speak to his father, not to him. Gabi fumes at the insult. "I have no one to turn to," he says. "I can't go to the Student Union, because I'm not a real student. The administration doesn't help me. I may need to find a university with a better atmosphere, where they treat me more normally."

GABI'S bedroom is amazingly neat for a 13-year-old boy. "It's not usually this clean," he apologizes. "You should see it when I'm study-

On the wall hangs a yellow poster displaying a simple algebraic equation. His collection of classical CDs is neatly lined up next to his stereo. Gabi listens to classical music "from morning to night," he says, mostly Brahms, Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and Bartok. The shelves are lined with Hungarian translations of the greatest in world literature. Gabi is presently reading Proust's Remembrance of Things Past, which be says he's quite enjoying.

Gabi was in ninth grade 18 months ago, when he first wrote to Education Minister Amnon Rubinstein to ask permission to leave school and prepare for the math bagrut on his own. He got his permission in the middle of 10th grade, and spent the next eight months studying at home.

BUT HE'S still a 13-year-old boy. On his bed pillow lies a bedraggled stuffed animal, a shaggy brown dog with long, ragged ears. He smiles shyly and shakes his head when asked if he'd pose for a

1. AB = BC = CD = DA = a+6 2. (a+6) -4. a= = c delabert - laber

but still a 13-year-old at heart.

developed logical sense," Janos says. "But when I look at him, on the outside, I see a young teenager.

Justice calls into question votes for religious councils

LAW REPORT

ination of candidates other than on the basis of the party key in the local council, said Justice Mazza, was irregular.

Moreover, the candidates proposed by the Tal faction could only be rejected on the basis of unsuitability. That aspect, however, was never even considered, since the decision against them services.

It was significant, Justice Mazza pointed out, that Yekutieli's comment followed a circular issued by the Religious Affairs Ministry five days after the court's judgment in Hoffman's case (H.C.699/89). The court had beld that a religious council member was not required to be religious, and the circular ability of the candidates. Its grounds were subject to judicial review. If a member's reasons were legitimate, he should state them. If he refused to do so, it was to be presumed they were unlaw-ful. The mayor had stated at the outset his presumption that mem-bers would vote lawfully, but he bad no right to make such a state-because of his personal views was not sufficient for his disqualification. A factual basis for that fear had to be proved to justify discrimination. Justice Mazza then examined the voting procedures in each of the three cases. In Haifa, the personal qualifications of the two and Tsomet were placed before

ASHER FELIX LANDAU discrimination. Counsel had also urged that the petitioner's remedy was to apply to the minister to rectify the simation by virtue of his powers under the above Law. He held, however, candidates proposed by Meretz

Bad mix: Leukemia and polluted water EARTHLY CONCERNS

D'YORA BEN SHAUL

bν

ISL

DD

:h

۰d

:d

j-

3-ı-it

ut d-١đ

in гу іл

The incidence of childhood leukemia began to rise in the mid-1940s and has continued to increase.

The reasons have been unclear although many scientists have long suspected it is probably due to environmental factors. But, until now, no one could really say whether is was pesticides, radiation or some light on the subject, and perhaps point the way to a new understanding of this disease. Denis Henshaw, a physicist at the University of Bristol, measured the levels of radiation emitted by newborn babies around the much-polluted Severn Estuary and concluded these newborns acquired their radioactive contaminants in the womb. Further studies showed that newborns carried through pregnancy around highly contaminated water sources bad about half of the total radiation in their bodies that one would usually find in a 10-found that children living near river estuaries had two to three times more incidence of leukemia than children living far from such sources. He also concluded that polluted waterways were the rea-

According to Henshaw, the pollution emitted by motor vehicles settles and is washed into the waterways by the rain. In the case of estuaries, the action of tides also increases the amount of pollution that collects. People breathe the mist and vapors from the waterways logether with the attendant pollutants. The Severn Estuary bas been connnuously monitored since the late 1800s. In 1850, pollution from petrochemicals was 2 parts per million, by 1970 it bad reached 200 parts per million and is still going up.

Petrol and oils contain naturally occurring uranium and radon particles which decay to form Lead-210. This isotope is concentrated in the bones where it further decays to form short-lived "radiation daughters" such as polonium-210 which emits alpha radiation.

Radon especially is taken up by the fatty cells of the bone marrow and may often have radioactive concentrations as much as 16 times that found in the blood of the same person. These cells are then able to pass their load to the cells that form the blood in the marrow, and the result is leukemia.

According to hemaiologists, blood cells in children divide at a much greater rate, making them much more sensitive to radiation. At the same time, there has also been an increase in cases of adult leukemia.

and languages. His father guides his reading, and the two "discuss everything." Gabi insists, "biol-If he'd failed the bugrut and been sent back to decides to apply to a foreign university. He's learning English on his own, using an outdated English-Hungarian textbook. "It would be too bad if I had to leave the Technion," he says. "I already know the faculty, I like my teachers, and I feel a part of the student life. But the time factor, traveling back and forth like that every day, is too hard.

"If only there were another university, in Israel or abroad, where I could study more easily. I need a more normal atmosphere, and people who will help me. Now, I don't even get what the other students get. But I don't know who to turn to. I don't know what the future will bring."

ogy, physics, psychology, history, economics. you name it high school, he says it would have been a disaster. "I was so bored there." he says, rolling his photograph with it. It's the only thing he salvaged from his toy collection when he and his father left Hungary six years ago for Israel.

Gabi is quite mature mentally, with a well-Still, I'm not worried about him. I'm not afraid that

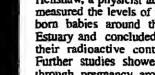

Gabi Lukaes in his room at home, next to his algebra poster. He is advanced intellectually, Gabi doesn't feel he's missing out on a well-rounded education, despite the fact that he skipped all of high school, where most students get their first serious taste of history, literature he's pushing himself too fast." Given his commung schedule, Gabi doesn't have much time for anything beyond his studies. "If I had time, I'd go swimming, but it's impossible," he says. He has one friend his own age, from the school he attended until last January. and two friends at the Technion. That's about it for relaxation. aside from the classical music. He's now planning to take the five-point English and physics bagrat in June, in case he food additives, for example, A recent study in England may be able to throw year-old who had not undergone this exposure. Studies by Ray Cartwright, an epidemiologist at the Leukemia Research Fund Centre in Leeds, also cil elections in 1993, the minister for religious affairs was required, under section 6(b) of the Jewish Religious Services Law (Coosolidated Version) of 1971, to reconstitute existing religious councils. He accordingly asked all local councils to propose their candidates to fill the quota of 45% of the religious councils, as demanded hy section 3(a)(2) of the Law.

(Jonathan Bloom)

In the Supreme Court, sitting as Strassberg-Cohen and Zevi Tal, in _____ the matter of Prof. Yelfudit Naot

ers. respondents (H.C. 4733, 6028, 7105/94).

As laid down in Supreme Court precedents, the councils' selection of candidates was confined to two features. Firstly, each political faction was to propose its candidates. in accordance, as far as possible, with its representation in the council. The council was then to consider the candidates' suitability for religious council membership.

In voting for members of the religious councils by the Jerusalem and Haifa city councils and the Kiryat Tivon local council followed the accepted procedure, and in each case candidates who

JUSTICE MAZZA delivered the first judgment of the court. Citing several precedents he reiterated principles applicable. Members of religious councils were not obliged to he religious, but were not to be antireligious. They were to be concerned with providing religious requirements. They were not required to be qualified according to Halacha since religious councils' duties did not demand deciding halachic questions. The council was an administrative body charged with supplying Jewish religious services, and it was this feature which determined a candidate's suitability for membership.

was therefore

A candidate's personal outlook was irrelevant, and his disqualification on the grounds of member-ship in a non-Orthodox movement

Moreover, a mere fear that a candidate may interfere with the smooth working of the council unlawful.

were members of the able: Three petitions were then lodged with the Supreme Court, ground of unjust discrimination, and the court decided to hear the

the council. It was also informed that they were members of the Reform and Conservative movements, respectively. Only a few council members participated in the discussion, he continued. No one disputed the candidates' suitability, but a few members opposed them openly on the ground of their religious affiliation alone. The mayor and the city council had submitted that the opposition of the few members who had raised the issue of non-Orthodoxy did not necessarily represent the views of the other members who did not speak.

This argument, said Justice Mazza, was unacceptable. The council was forbidden to weigh the religious affiliation of the candidates, and other members' silence on this issue could only be interpreted as consent. The result was that the candidates' disqualification was based on unlawful that the minister's powers did not exclude judicial review of the council's decision by the court.

THE ELECTION for the Kiryat Tivon religious council was discussed at two meetings of the local council. At the first meeting, the Tal party's representative pointed out that the religious council had no non-Orthodox representative. and he nominated two such candidates. The chairman then suggested that the religious council members be selected on the basis of the relative strength in the community of those institutions interested in receiving religious services. That number in the non-Orthodox sector was minimal. He opposed using the basis of the relative strength of the parties on the local council.

At the second meeting, the religious bloc, which was entitled to four representatives in the religious council, nominated candidates to fill all six seats required, while no vote was taken regarding the other two proposed. The nomwas apparently based entirely on their religious allegiance. That was clearly discriminatory and unlawful.

AT THE beginning of the election meeting in Jerusalem. Mayor Ehud Ölmert announced that a personal vote would be taken regarding each candidate without discussion. He added his assumption that members would vote without any prior prejudice, and only on the basis of valid and relevant considerations which they had previously examined.

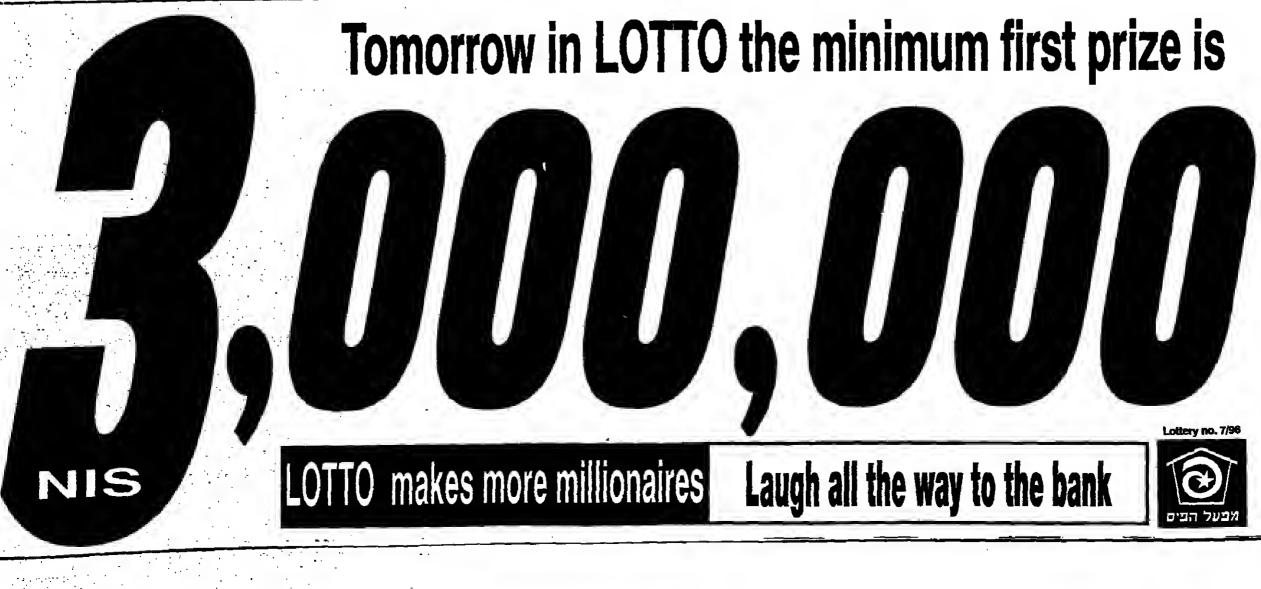

Meretz proposed two candidates and four alternates, all members of the Conservative or Reform movements. City councillor Ornan Yekutieli (Meretz) pointed out that the court had not ruled on the question of a religious council member following a religious way of life, but that, in any case, the two candidates proposed were religious and members of congregations concerned with religious said the opposite. However, the mayor refused to discuss that question, or to consult the municipal legal adviser, who was present, on the issue. Meretz then demanded that council members who had opposed its candidates state their grounds, but they declined. Citing several precedents including Berger's case (H.C.297/82; The Jerusalem Post, July 24, 1983), Justice Mazza then dealt with the necessity that a public body discuss the issues before voting. There could be exceptions, but particularly in a question of public importance such as the present, a discussion was imperative. The city council was a representative body responsible to the citizens who elected it. The public had the right to know the grounds for its decisions. It was not entitled to take refuge behind "a wall of silence."

It acted as a parliament. It was required in the present context to decide on the suitability or unsuitment. It was a pity the court's directives in Hoffman's case were ignored, with the result that the election was irregular. In conclusion, Justice Mazza noted that although the Haifa municipal council bad held a discussion, and had found the candidates personally suitable for membership on the religious council, it had wrongfully rejected them on the basis of their religious affiliation alone. Its procedures had been correct, although its decision was wrong. It would therefore be proper in this case to set the municipal council's decision aside, and to declare the two rejected candidates members of the religious council.

In the cases of Kiryat Tivon and Jerusalem, the procedures had been seriously irregular. The elections, therefore, were set aside, and an order made for new elections to be held within 60 days of the publication of the court's judgment. This is the first of two parts.

BUSINESS & FINANCE

Bank Leumi Trust NY

reports $14m. net profit

GALIT LIPKIS BECK

tivities were often criticized as overstretched. Recently the bank had to retreat from its outposts in Canada and Hungary. The New York branch's cumulative losses between 1990 and 1995 totaled gal said the results reflect the successful implementation of a new husiness strategy, including reduction of many expenses, the sale of unprofitable branches and Int'l banking syndicate, organized from here, raises $100m. for IEC

BLTNY president Zalman Se-

some $350m.

Dahaf Ehad, Bozell Worldwide to sign deal

RACHEL NEIMAN

DAHAF EHAD, of the Dahaf advertising group, is expected to sign tomorrow a representation agreement with Bozell Worldwide, the ninth-largest American advertising agency. The agreement will be signed tomorrow, at Dahaf'a new headquarters in Jaffa.

"The relationship between us was first established during joint work on Chrysler in Israel," said Dahaf Ehad general manager Danny Eliakim. "We wanted to form a relationship that would lead us to commercial results and would remain viable for an extended period of time."

At this point, Chrysler is Dahaf Ehad's one joint client with Bozell, but Bozell's client list includes several international accounts currently handled by other agencies here. The new relationship, Eliakim said, "will cause some upheavals."

Dahaf Ehad's move follows similar agreements signed between local companies and foreign advertising giants. Gitam, for instance, has signed with which starts today.

LEADING British financiers

tary Lord David Owen.

ŝ

ė

0444

c

IIII MINI

ł

0043400

1 000

G

00545

1

0056

14

22

ings of $14 million in 1995, com-BBDO Worldwide, Tamir-Copared with a net loss of $3m. last hen with J. Walter Thompson, and Kesher-Barel with McCann/ Erickson.

total assets reached $2.1b. Share-The Dahaf group is one of Israholders equity was $167.2m., deel's oldest and largest advertising posits from the public $1.8b and firms. credit to the public $730m.

Founded in 1953 hy Eliezer Zorabin, the company is now managed by its founding family's second generation and includes local advertising chain Reshet Dahaf, the Dahaf Research Institute and public relations division Dahaf Communications.

Veteran accounts include Tnuva, Bank Discount, Egged, and Coca-Cola which has been with the firm since its introduction here in 1968. The group expects $38 million raised $100 million for the Israel in turnover for 1995. Electric Corporation. Bozell Worldwide, part of Bo-

The syndicate was organized zell, Jacobs, Kenyon and Eckby Union Bank, Enro-Trade hardt, has 80 offices in 50 coun-Bank and Japan's Sumitomo. In tries, with headquarters in New the past, banks organized syndicates using their overseas subsid-York and international operations based in London. Major cliiaries. Union Bank and Euro-Trade ents include Chrysler, Merrill Lynch, the New York Times,

Bank have reached a deal to cooperate in organizing syndicates

BANK Leumi Trust Co. of New York (BLTNY), the Leumi group's largest subsidiary, completed 1995 with a net profit, the

The bank reported net earn-

At the end of December 1995,

Leumi's extensive overseas ac-

AN international banking syndicate has been organized for the first time from here, and has first annual profit in six years.

GALIT LIPKIS BECK

of foreign banks for local firms. Euro-Trade Bank general manager Menahem Weber said the banks are already working on organizing additional syndicates.

The successful loan proposal, which was initially for $50m, was oversubscribed," the banks said. The hanks agreed to provide credit of more than $100m., but IEC decided to limit the capital raised to $100m."

The conference is a follow-up to Prime Minister John Major's visit here a year ago, when he was accompanied hy a group of senior ahead of time last August.

and Barclays.

Menahem Weber aaid the banks' ability to raise credit directly from Israel shows the international financial community'a change in attitude towards raising capital for local firms.

an emphasis on international and was implemented approximately two to three years ago, in reac-tion to losses of $55m. in 1993

The hank'a husiness strategy

As part of the bank's attempt to reduce loases, it signed an agreement to sell three branches to Republic National Bank of

The branches are situated in Brooklyn, Queens and on Man-commercial activities.

and $25.1m. in 1994.

New York for $4.5m.

hattan's Broadway.

The syndicate is made up of banks from Europe, the Far East and America. The loan agreement will be signed at the end of the month in London, in the presence of senior IEC officials and representatives of the banks participating in the syndicate.

ECI Telecom has announced a

Fourth quarter net profits went np to $23.23 million from $20.29m. in the parallel quarter

Ouarterly revenues roae to $122.54m. from $106.79m., while earnings per share increased to $0.31 from $0.27.

Annual net profits rose to $87.85m, from $76.59m, in 1994, Revenues went up to $451.42m. from $384.66m. Earnings per share rose to $1.16 from $1.01.

Fourth quarter and full-year results include $1.1m. in onetime costs relating to the restruc-turing of subsidiary Telematics. ECI said fourth quarter results were favorably impacted by re-

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Rious

alahs aline

WODITIES

SUNDUP

Gee Interactive Media has successfully presented its EMBLAZE product this past weekend at the Milia Trade Show in Cannes, France.

Over 100 members of the international press attended Geo'a presentation on Friday night. EMBLAZE, a software based technology, allows World Wide Web users to view quality animation images using a standard (14.4 kilobyte per second) modern. Geo said the EMBLAZE player will be available on the Internet through its home page at http://www.geo.co.il. Rachel Neimar

Stoecki's days appear numbered with Daimler: Ernst Stoecki, head of Daimler-Benz AG's rail and engineering unit AEG AG and a Daimler supervisory board member, will be forced to give up both positions this month, Der Spiegel said over the weekend. According to paper, Daimler-Benz chairman Juergen Schrempp wants Stoecki to resign at Daimler's next supervisory board meeting on February 21.

A Daimler spokesman called the report "speculation, saying that such decisions are a matter for the supervisory board. Company, sources, however, have said they believe Stoecki will be asked to go for his part in AEG's failure to make Reuter

ECI Telecom records 14% rise in net profits

RACHEL NEIMAN

14.55 percent rise in 1995 net profits and a 14.46% rise in fourth quarter net profits.

in 1994.

cord sales of its Access Network product line, which was selected as the sole HDSL (high bit-rate digital subscriber line) vendor by leading carriers such as British Telecom, Telia of Sweden and Telenor of Norway.

HDSL enables carriers to increase their transmission networks without having to install fiber optic lines.

Sales during 1995 rose 25% in North America to $113m., 37% in the Asia Pacific region to $68m., and 7% in Europe to $220m.

The 1995 figures do not include a $60m. framework agreement to supply a wide-area network system for China's customs and foreign trade authorities exchange, which was announced in September.

US trade clash with Canda seems imminent have arrived in Tel Aviv for a The conference will explore two-day business conference, the possibilities for expanding re-The conference will be attendlations between Israel and the City - including joint ventures, ed hy a delegation from the City development and financing of of London, headed by the Lord Mayor of London John Chalprojects, flotations on London's stock exchange, real estate instrey. The lead speaker will be the former British foreign secrevestments here and in Britain, and joint research and development projects. About 400 Israeli and British delegates will represent a range of financial interests.

Tyco, and Singer.

GALIT LIPKIS BECK

British financiers here to explore business ties

British businessman, They include senior represen-The gathering is sponsored by the British Embassy, the Israel-British Chamher of Commerce, tatives of leading companies and organizations in Britain, includand the British Overseas Trade ing Lloyds, the London Stock Exchange, the Bank of England, Group for Israel.

Negotiations on cost-of-living increment resume

Tadiran close to deal in Vietnam

GALIT LIPKIS BECK

TADIRAN is close to signing an agreement with Vietnam to install Wireless Local Loop systems there, it was announced vester- TORONTO (Renter) - Canada's to form a local joint venture

THE Histadrut and the employers yesterday resumed negotiations over the cost-of-living (COL) increment to be paid in this month's salary, due at the beginning of March.

The employers rejected a Histadrut's proposal for a two-year COL increment plan, preferring an ad-hoc settlement for February's wages, and reaching a multiyear plan before August, when the next increment is to be paid.

Reading between you have time for trading action

until 11 PM.

JOIN IDB TELEBANK

the lines ....

MICHAL YUDELMAN

The Histadrut is demanding changes in the way the increment is calculated, so that employees get compensation for wage erosion even when the inflation rate is relatively low. However, the Histadrut is insisting the increment must cover

100% of the COL hike, if it rises of the COL index." "We want a new formula which will protect the workers from creeping erosion in times of low by February 15, when the Janninflation, but also a safety net in ary COL index is released, they times of high inflation," Histamay settle on an ad-hoc incredrut Chairman Amir Peretz said. ment for February, and resume "We shall not agree to continuing the talks on a multi-year agreethe present system, in which the ment afterwards. The increment in February's compensation barely covers 50% payslip is not expected to be more than 2.5%, minus the 0.5% given

The employers, however, insist on continuing the present system, day by Tadiran general manager Yisrael Zamir and Dang Ding based on a multi-year agreement. Lam, director-general of the Since the Histadrut and em-Vietnamese Ministry of Commuployers must reach an agreement nications. Zamir said a delegation of Tadiran representatives will visit Vietnam in a few weeks to finalize the agreement.

He said the systems allow for the installation of phone line areas where communicati works are undeveloped.

Dang said Vietnam is suffering from a shortage phones, with only one pl every 100 residents.

The ministry wants to the number of lines to al five phonea for even residents.

Zamir also said Tadir consider setting up a pro line in Vietnam. Zamir is visiting Asia delegation headed by Ko diran's parent company.

The delegation include President and CEO Benn and Stanley Gold, Kool man and also president of Shamrock group.

Last week Gaon revea Koor is negotiating to in Vietnamese companies fields of food, telecomr tions, raw materials for and building.

CONSULTING

CONFIGURATION

CUSTOMIZED PROGRAM

MAINTENANCE

+SETUP

rejection of the book store giant Borders Group Inc., the latest rebuff of a US firm on the grounds of protecting cultural mdustries, could ignite a bitter trade clash, industry experts say. The recent refusal by Canada's foreign investment watchdog agency, Investments Canada, to allow the book superstore chain just the latest bilateral irritant centered on Ottawa's policy of defending a vulnerable cultural sector.

. . .

 $\mathcal{M} \to \mathcal{M}$ in a sta

1 4

1.4

1.0

A disc of Sectors A disc of A disc o

.

. in deal

Es pt:

grad next

Adding to the chances of a trade flarcup is Washington's increasingly tough public stance. against foreign protectionism in the midst of a presidential election year. : .

instantion of phone mies in s where communication net-ks are undeveloped.
ang said Vietnam is currently ering from a shortage of telenes, with only one phone for	Batah (forelan examples depenti antas) (12.0.06)
ry 100 residents.	Patah (foreign currency deposit rates) (12.2.96) Currency (deposit for:) 3 MONTHS 6 MONTHE 12 MONTHE
he ministry wants to increase	U.S. dollar ($250,000) 4,875 4,250 4,250 number of lines to allow for	Pound starting (2100,000) 4.375 4.250 4.250 German mark (0M 200,000) 1.750 1.750 2.000
e phonea for every 100 dents.	U.S. dollar ($250,000)         4.875         4.280         4.280           Pound sterling ($100,000)         4.575         4.290         4.290           German mark (0M 200,000)         1.750         1.750         2.000           Swiss frame ($5 200,000)         0.290         0.576         0.685           Yen (10 million yen)
	(Fates vary higher or lower than indicated according to deposit) amir also said Tadiran will sider setting up a production in Vietnam.	Shekel Foreign Exchange Platee* (3.2.95 )
amir is visiting Asia with a	CHECKS AND TRANSFERS BANKONOTES Prop.
gation headed by Koor, Ta-	Buy Sell Buy Sell Rules" Currency basket 3,4834 3,5396 - 3,5194
als parent company.	U.S. doffer 3.0896 3.1395 3.08 3.19 3.1220
he delegation includes Koor	German munk 2,0829 2,1267 2,05 2,16 2,1126 Pound storing 4,7379 4,8144 4,85 4,89 4,7879
sident and CEO Benny Gaon	French franc 0.6023 0.5182 0.59 0.63 0.6144 Japanese yen (100) 2.8951 2.9413 2.84 2.99 2.9288
Stanley Gold, Koor chair-	Dutch form 1.8694 1.8996 1.89 1.98 1.9679
and also president of the US	Swiss franc 2.5594 2.6007 2.51 2.64 2.6061 Swediati Iarona 0.4423 0.4465 0.43 0.46 0.4466
mrock group.	Norwegien krone 0.4791 0.4869 0.47 0.60 0.4839 Danish krone 0.5403 0.5491 0.53 0.66 0.5489
ast week Gaon revealed that	Finish mark 0.6697 0.6808 0.65 0.66 0.6765
or is negotiating to invest in	Australian dollar 2,3294 2,3670 2,28 2,40 2,3545
tnamese companies in the	S. Ashcen rend 0.8473. 0.8510 0.76 0.87 0.8582
ds of food, telecommunica-	Austrian achilling (10) 2.27785 3.0247 2.92 3.07 3.0065 Italian Bra (1000) 1.9653 2.0011 1.93 2.03 1.9659
s, raw materials for industry building.	Egyptian pound 0.88 0.96 0.9579 ECU 3.8459 3.9059
	kish punt 4.8729 4.9515 4.78 6.08 4.9857 Spanish pesata (100) 2.4827 2.8228 2.44 2.66 2.6081
	* These rates very according to bank.  Benk of level.
	And a second s
with & Ballmann A with with	SOURCE: SANK LEUK
orts & Railways Authority	SOURCE: BANK LEUK
ead Office	SOURCE: BANK LEUM ead Office
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE	Real Estate &
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no.	Real Estate &
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender	Real Estate & Investments in Israel
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is:	Real Estate & Investments in Israel
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is:	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is:	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements.
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MPUTER SOCCHONOR	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MPUTER SOLCHONC DNSULTING	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MHULER SOLUTING THE	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel.
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MHULER SOLUTING THE	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MPUTER SOLCHONC DNSULTING	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions.
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MHUTER SOLUTIONS CONSULTING TUP DNFIGURATION	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MHUTER SOLUTION CONSULTING TUP DIFIGURATION NITENANCE	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MHUTER SOLUTION CONSULTING TUP DIFIGURATION NITENANCE	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5.
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MPUTER SOLUTION INFIGURATION INFIGURATION INTENANCE USTOMIZED PROGRAMMING	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to achieve in
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MESTER SOLUTION THE DNFIGURATION NITENANCE JSTOMIZED PROGRAMMING THE SYSTEMS.	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to advertise in these supplements, please contact
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MPUTER SOLUTION INFIGURATION INFIGURATION INTENANCE USTOMIZED PROGRAMMING	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to advertise in these supplements, please contact: Udi Bash 03-6390333 Fax: 03-6390277
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MESTER SOLUTION THE DNFIGURATION NITENANCE JSTOMIZED PROGRAMMING THE SYSTEMS.	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to achieve in
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MESTER SOLUTION THE DNFIGURATION NITENANCE JSTOMIZED PROGRAMMING THE SYSTEMS.	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to advertise in these supplements, please contact: Udi Bash 03-6390333 Fax: 03-6390277
ead Office ENDER No. 9999/96 RANES FOR SALE The correct fax no. for obtaining tender documents is: 972-3-5616027 MESTER SOLUTION THE DNFIGURATION NITENANCE JSTOMIZED PROGRAMMING THE SYSTEMS.	Real Estate & Investments in Israel 1996 Just before Pessach, The Jerusalem Post will publish special supplements, devoted to real estate and investments in Israel. The supplements will be published in the International Editions of March 4, 11 and 18 and in the daily paper on April 5. For more information and to advertise in these supplements, please contact: Udi Bash 03-6390333 Fax: 03-6390277

Second day of BEZEQ - The Israei Telecommunication Corp. Ltd. union protests Date for Submitting Bids for Tender 17/96/031/0 in France OTDR - Framework Agreement PARIS (Reuter) - Thousands of people, most of them public em-The last date for submitting bids for the above ployees, marched through Paris tender has been changed to March 26, 1996, and other French cities yesterday on the second straight day of proat 6 p.m. (was February 27, 1996). tests called by the Communist-led All other conditions of the tender are CGT nnion against government unchanged. austerity reforms. The marchers chanted slogans against government austerity reforms, especially that of the social security system that funds health care, family allowances THE ISRAEL - CANADA CHAMBER and pensions. They also called for the protection of civil service OF COMMERCE & INDUSTRY johs and for shorter working weeks. The annual event of the Chamber will take place PRIME PRIME DUTD on Thursday, February 15, 1996, at 5:00 p.m. Mutual Fund for at the Tel Aviv Hilton Hotel Foreign Residents Head Office TENDER No. 999 Subject: "Doing Business with Canada Date: 8.2.96 in an Era of Free Trade CRANES FOR SA 109.05 Purchase Price: between the Two Countries" 107.59

Guest speaker: Avraham (Beiga) Shohat, Minister of Finance

Participants:

Chairman of the Board of Bank Hapoalim Amiram Sivan, President of the Manufacturers Dan Propper, Association of Israel President of CellCom Israel CEO of International Technologies

A festive reception in honor of David Berger, H.E. the Ambassador of Canada will follow the event.

For reservations, Tel. 03-6202544, Fax. 03-6202513.

Jonathan Kolber, President of Claridge Israel Inc. Ya'akov Perry, Yossi Yardi, Ports & Railways Aut

Redemption Price: • ieumi pia xro nuò

טרגט TARGET (מטרה) Mutual Fund for Foreign Residents Date: 8.2.96 Purchase Price: 148.01 Recomption Price: 145.72

ieumi pia xo much ۲

30 Montgomery Screet City, New Jarsey 07302, USA

ul Nankau Hiri in 1-201-332-3613 Fax: 1-201-332-1263

Retail Customer Inquiries: Eric J. Logan, V.P. I -201-332-4801 - 1-800-888-8118

Our specially trained sales personnel will be available t above 8%

current information of ecurities in Israel ad the U.S., including high-yielding U.S. povernment-backed debentures, calk

DIAL 03-5129111 FROM & AM TO 11 PM

D ISRAEL DISCOUNT BANK

MEYERSON CO.. INC. Founded 1960

A Publicly Traded Company NASDAQ Symbol: MHMY Broken- el Dealers in Securities Underwriters

Corporate & Institutional Inquiries Jeffrey E. Meyerson, V.P.

Page 1-201-434-1008

China-Taiwan tensions

may speed Asian arms race

The Jerusalem Post

Key Ropresentative Rates

Sterling......4.7876 -0.34%

Tent and the second second second second second second second second second second second second second second Change

•• : •• •• •• · • · •

1

5.20

٠.

5

ä. (

 $\{\cdot\}$ 100

1.30

ord

rofit

5 - 5 - 5

1 1 5455

5 275.

11111.1.2

A 24

1.

1.1

10111111

2011 33 36 2

14 14 A ana tow

ಿ ಮಾಗ್ ಪ್ರ

ೆ ಸಿಮಿಮ

112250

14.

4-3 E 5-

÷.,

Monday, February 12, 1996

BUSINESS & FINANCE

Indexes fall for second day in row TEL AVIV STOCK MARKET

Precious metals decline COMMODITIES ROUNDUP

COMMERCIAL trade selling led to a decline in gold prices on Friday afternoon and spurred the other metals lower, with silver declining six cents on the day and platinum and palladium dipping $6 and $2.60, respectively. Analysts said that no specific bearish news affected the decline in metals prices, however sources said that sharp gains in stocks and bonds prices ensured that gold futures saw little returned investment from the funds.

At the close, April gold ended $3.70 down at $407.80 per ounce; March silver was down 6 cents at $5.667 and ounce; April platinum ended $6 lower at $422.20 an ounce and March palladium closed down $2.60 at $139.85 per ounce, Comex copper futures finished unchanged Friday at 117.20 cents a pound in thin trading, surprising analysts after a 3,700 metric ton decline in London Meral Exchange (LME) stocks in the morning.

Traders said that general concerns over the economy in the US, Asia and Europe kept pressure on any upside movement

Corn futures held, their gains and even made new session highs not long before the closing bell on Friday, supported by commercial buying.

The majority of corn's strength came from a favorable USDA Supply/Demand Report released in the morning. March corn closed up 33/4 cents per bushel at $3.63. Wheat futures showed healthy gains early in Friday's market, finding strength from a friendly USDA Supply/Demand report for February, bowever, prices turned lower and made new session lows.

going into the closing bell, Sources noted that trade liquidation may have caused the reaction. The March wheat contract bushel, ended up three cents at $5,13 per Soybean futures made new session lows just before the close, on Friday following the lead in wheat, but managed to close at $7.20 per bushel on the March

Sources said that day-trade liq-

March cotton rallied in Friday's session on speculative buying, hit-the afternoon by speculative self-ing and reversed early gains to settle at 85.38 cents per pound,

March world sugar futures setuidation appeared to be the culprit contract - down 11/2.

of this late-day sell off.

SINGAPORE (Reuter) - Asian nations, which have been adding heavily to their arsenals in recent years, may speed up weapons buying if tensions flare up in the Taiwan Strait, analysts and diplomats said over the weekend.

Part of the concern derives from China's new purchase of planes from Russia which will add considerably to its long-range firepower, they said.

"Southeast Asia is going to see how China deals with Taiwan," said Bruce Gale, an analyst at Singapore's Political and Economic Risk Consultancy. "If China wields a big stick, then down south the countries are going to say 'we will start baying more equipment'. Post-Cold War Asia is already being wooed by arms manufacturers as one of the world's key mar-

"We see the Asia Pacific as a ation gets out of hand," he told an buyers' market," Don Vance, vice president for Asia-Pacific at Westinghouse Electronics Systems. a supplier of defense systems, was quoted by Singapore's Business Times newspaper as saying. The Association of Southeast confirmed on Friday.

Asian Nations (ASEAN) alone spent $9 billion on arms in 1995, 22 percent of total world spending, said Paul Beaver, editor of Jane's SentineL ASEAN groups Brunei, onesia, Malaysia, the Indonesia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam. "That's a huge amount of spending," Beaver said. "It puts ASEAN after the United States and the European Union. I expect the spending to increase by 2% every year," be said, adding that developments in China would "give more urgency" to ASEAN arms purchases. Singapore Defense Minister

Tony Tan said last week the friction between Taiwan and China was the most worrisome potential flashpoint in Asia as any conflict would change the strategic balance in the region.

"We hope that cool heads will prevail and ways will be found to defuse the tension before the situ-

Asian security conference. Taiwan expressed concern over a new Russian contract to supply advanced Sukhoi Su-27 fighter planes to China, a deal which a senior Russian defense official

"Apart from expressing our concern to Russia, we hope that they can recognize that supplying communist China with advanced weapons not only harms our security hut also creates instability tbroughout Southeast Asia and Asia," Wang Wei-chich. a director at Taiwan's foreign ministry, told journalists.

Taiwan, China's rival since a civil war ended in 1949, has long been in a conventional weapons arms race with China. Beijing says it would use force against Taiwan, which it regards as a renegade province. if Taipei tried to become independent.

But senior Russian defense official Edward Neimark said the Su-27 contract, signed at the end of 1995, was unlikely to upset the halance of power in Asia.

Neimark said in Singapore that Moscow had sold Su-27s to Beijing in 1994 without much reaction

"I don't think it will raise the tension in the region," he said of the new contract. "We have already supplied the first batch of Sukhoi 27s to China and there was no dishalance of forces in the area registered on that occasion. The second batch perhaps will not hinder the situation.

Some analysts said Asia's accumulation of arms stemmed from greater economic wealth, not in reaction to any threat.

Arms dealers are capitalizing on tensions in the Taiwan Strait to market sales in the region and worldwide, they say.

"China is a blockbuster threat, because it has a border with practically all of Asia." said Noordin Sopiee, director general with the Institute of Strategic and International Studies in Kuala Lumpur.

"I am very relaxed about China and Taiwan because you have to assume a reasonable degree of sanity." Noordin said. "People nowadays are not interested in fighting for territory, they are more interested in fighting for markets."

Lower western del'ense budgets have also prompted some arms makers to target markets in the Middle East and Far East to pull them out of recession.

Comhat airplane makers from the US. Russia. France and Britain flocked to the Asian Aerospace show in Singapore last week in a hid to win a share of the anticipated US S88b, market for fighter planes over the next decade.

The aerospace show attracted 900 firms from 36 countries eager to display their military or commercial aviation wares.

FELICE MARANZ 214.23 Two-Sided index Maof Index unchanged after falling 0.25% in late trading. Some NIS 8m, worth of shares changed hands,

The bank's shares had failen amid concern that banks bad inflated the interests on debt owed them by kibhutzim, said Hoffman. According to some assessments, the hanks could in fact owe the kibbutzim money.

"If reports about the kibbutz debt are correct, Bank Hapoalim has the most to lose." said Hoffman.

News reports indicated a split among organizations representing kihhutzim, with some of the farms calling for a reassessment of their debts and others calling for a continuation of the current debt arrangement

The amount of money banks figure the kibhutzim owe them has been estimated at some NIS 15 billion.

Banks listed on the Maof include Bank Leumi, which fell The most active share on the , 1%; and First International Bank of Israel, which declined 0.75%. (Bloomberg)

Apple announces pacts with Disney, Bandai China's trade surplus seen to dive in '96

BELIING (Reuter) - China's trade surplus is forecast to plunge by more than $10 billion this year from 1995, with a surge in imports due to a planned reduction in tariff, the China Daily Business Weekly said yestenday.

Export growth is expected to slip, and the trade surplus is likely to dwindle to around $6b. from $16.69b. in 1995, the newspaper quoted Ma fixian, an official of the cabinet's State Economic and Trade Commission, as saving.

Ma said imports could jump 25 percent in 1996 as a result of tariff cuts on 4,000 items set to go into effect on April 1. Imports grew by 14.2% in 1995.

Imports are forecast to climb to $158-165b, from $132.08b, in 1995, Ma said.

because the government cut export tax rebates twice last year, the newspaper said.

bat would rebound to the second quarter.

Many businessmen stepped up production late last year and exported goods meant to be shipped to the first quarter of this year to beat the cuts in export tax rebates, he said.

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuter) -Apple Computer Inc. announced two separate alliances over the weekend that are major endorsements of the troubled company and its Macintosh computer platform.

Japanese toy giant Bandai Co. said in Tokyo it will start selling Apple's Pippin multimedia terminal - a stripped down Macintosh that is both a game player and an Internet access device that plugs into a television set for a monitor. Bandai will start selling the Pippin Atmark player in Japan on March 22 and in the US in May. Separately, the Walt Disney Co. will produce CD-ROMs based on Disney cartoon characters for use on Apple's Macintosh line under a marketing arrangement, the companies said in Cannes, France, at a conference Friday.

"Someone thinks the patient is healthy and on its way to recovery," said Pieter Hartsook of the Hartsook Letter in Alameda. California, an Apple watcher. "[They] would not have gone through with a deal if they thought the platform was dying." Apple's deal with Bandai, which marketed the popular Power Ranger line of toys, is the first major licensee of Apple's nascent Pippin technology, and Hartsook said be expects more to follow in the coming months.

The Pippin Atmark player, made under license from Apple, will run a range of entertainment. educational and business software on ordinary home TV sets.

Bandai, which made huge profits from the popular Power Ranger line of toys earlier this decade but has seen earnings stagnate in recently, hopes the Pippin will revitalize its business.

27225

INDEXES fell for a second trading day yesterday amid investor would lead to an increase in inter-tainty over inflation," said Zvi

Hoffman, manager of mutual funds at Tel Aviv investment firm

Meitav Ltd. 'There are great differences in inflation forecasts for January from 0.7 percent to

The Central Bureau of Statistics

The Maof Index fell 0.28% to is due to announce the Consumer

214.23 and the Two-Sided Index dropped 0.34% to 205.50. Of 999 issues trading across the exchange, almost twice as many

More than NIS 91 million worth of shares traded, NIS 1.3m. above last Thursday's level and about even with this month's trading exchange was Maof Index-listed

Bank Hapoalim, which closed

Price Index on Thursday.

shares fell as rose.

The market is weak on uncerconcern

est rates.

1.3%

level.

that rising inflation

"This is terrific news," Hartsook said, adding that Bandai had delayed its shipping of the Pippin Atmark because of its concerns about Apple and whether it would remain indepdent, after the company's widely reported merger talks with Sun Microsystems Inc. The Pippin may also be one of the key products to the future of financially struggling Apple, but as a game device, it is fraught with risk, New game machines competing against the entrenched Sega and Nintendo have not fared well and 3DO Co., which makes the 3DO Multiplayer device, is now focusing on developing multimedia software.

But analysts also point out that games developed for the Pippin can also run on the 22 million

Macintoshes now in use. Apple is also marketing the Pippin in the emerging market for the low-cost, stripped down Internet access devices. Marco Landi, president of Apple Europe, said Apple wanted to stay independent but needed to find partners. He cited the tie-up with Bandai as an example. Bandai President Makoto Yamashina said Bandai's US unit. Bandai Digital Entertainment, said Bandai hopes to sell 200,000 Pippins in Japan and 300.000 overseas in the first year of sales. Bandai Digital will start an Internet access provider business in Japan next month, and users of the Pippin will be able to use their televisions to access the Internet and other personal computer communications systems, Yamashina said.

ф

it

-e зd

nt

d ш

d

١đ

id

١d

in

ry in

Clinton seems ready

Exports on the other hand are expected to grow at a slower rate,

Ma forecast that exports would be sluggish in the first quarter of 1996

1111CL s in 1957 . . . . . . . 1.11114.4

11, 22274 e ige staat i ning a high of 86 cents per pound, but prices were pressured late in 化二种

7° 94

- SUGURALING

. .

ISTO

Post

5-7-3

1 ° 578

فلي ورجع

کر اور کوری

مردن دعرون

::::''

₹$ A7" - - -

down 22 points. tled lower after bovering around the options strike price of 12 cents throughout the entire session. Traders and analysts had predicted the market would trade at this level as the March options contract expired. The March futures contract settled 11 points lower at 12.01 cents per pound. Coffee futures settled higher on Friday on what analysts said was follow-through huying on the heels of Thursday's sharp gains. The March contract settled 235 points higher at $1.2605. March cocoa futures settled just up from session lows after an extremely quiet session. The March contract settled $1 lower at $1,271.

Courtesy of Michael Zwebner. CommStock Trading Ltd.

Multi-sided trading

Nacolula Octivi Octobri Octobri Octobri Proce Regovers Re

Invision Company Nano Arturni Itan Arturni Itan Arturni Arturn

196.50 $6.50 4580 61.50

Oil Exploration Home Pricess MGM1 615

PARALLEL LIST

Trade & Services

Property, Building Nets Price Mark

Industriais

Investment

Name HanCi NeteGi CrazilC PolygonC Titinetti

-25

618 0.4

Price Subly

190.50 212 197.00 184.50 186.50

9931

-64

1318 -0.5 1478 -0.3 1149 -0.3 2708 -0.5 953 -0.5 957 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1507 -0.5 1500 -1.0 1000 -1.0 1000 -1.0

Two-sided trading AFTERNOON MORNING Price Change Volume % Volume Price Change Shares - 680 3790 184,5 0.5 0.4 2550 18000 13.3 21730 1824 1.3 21730 0.8 85 1.8 550 242422 -0.5 3585 44570 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.2 134577 -0.3 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 -0.5 8007 naciona 175 72 10850 5800 13000 150 700 125400 1100 5050 355889 310455 ______5408 _____2713 _____3802 12 17 22 2716 -0.5 -0.2 1.5 12 -1.5 -0.2 -0.2 -0.2 -0.2 -0.2 6050 Claims Cidstr 5. Clinds -CoOp ... Danber Dead Sc Degem1 Deick ... DevtWB 1545 1799 1791 2198 2107 - 923 - 521 8727 18418 1000 42900 52200 16000 -25 -05 -10 -22 2420 3360 2750 980 21000 800 21422 16949 15470 1.0 1294 11631 1262 7256 44319 -1*2* -05 32 440 2010 Formula Fristini 1. Fristini 5. Frutarom General Haposim Haposim Haposim Haposim Haposim Haposim Haposim Haposim IndiBidg Isramco IarCorpt IsrCorpt IsrCorpt IsrCorpt -0.7 800 1232000 2420 195000 890000 180 375000 88000 18800 2000 0.5 0.5 -0.5 -1.7 1.2 0.5 -1.0 1.8 23177 20596 265 1125 5650 951 1124 843 85.0 ).5 -1.2 20 JEC JOEL -44000 378 576 3200 13440 513000 9900 2300 -0.2 -0.5 -1.0 0.2 Koor 2522025 4000 Masho, to pick Greenspan for another term

WASHINGTON (Reuter) - US President Bill Clinton this week may nominate Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan to a third term and name two new candidates to key central bank posts, administration sources said over the weekend.

The betting in Washington is that Clinton will choose Wall Street financier Felix Rohatyn as Fed vice chairman and tap hanker Anthony Terracciano as a Fed governor.

All three must be approved by the Republican-led Senate. Greenspan, himself a Republican, enjoys widespread support on Capitol Hill and should bave no trouble winning a third term. But the likely nomination of Rohatyn has already run into opposition from some Republicans, who have criticized the Lazard Freres and Co. managing director for bis past support of active government involvement in the economy.

White House spokesman Mike McCurry said that Clinton had spoken to National Economic Council Chairwoman Laura Tyson about the Fed posts, but had not yet received a formal recommendation.

If nominated, Rohatyn would replace Alan Blinder as the No. 2 man at the central bank.

IMF: Pakistan's reforms put it on track for growth

ISLAMABAD (Reuter) - An International Monetary Fund (IMF) mission said over the weekend that Pakistan was well on track in implementing economic reforms and was likely to grow faster in fiscal 1995/96 (July/June) than initially envisaged.

IMF deputy director Mohamed Erian told a news conference his mission would recommend that the IMF hoard release the second tranche of a $600 million standby

The first tranche had amounted to $200m. Erian said the decision about releasing the second tranche of $80m. would be taken by the IMF executive hoard.

"But the recommendation will be that it [Pakistan] qualifies for the second tranche," he said.

He said it was initially thought that Pakistan's gross domestic product growth in 1995/96 would be in the range of 5.5 percent compared to last year's 4.7%. "We now think that it will be in the range of six percent."

Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto's government plans to cut inflation to 9% from last year's 13%.

Erian said the inflation rate had come down to 10% last December compared to 15% in December 1994. "So you are well on track," he added.

He also praised Pakistan's pri-vatization of state enterprises and said the mission was sausfied that "the process is good and transparent'

Erian said his mission's study had shown Pakistan's economy was responding in "a very encouraging manner" to the government's structural reform and demand management policies.

"Economic growth prospects appear very favorable, inflation has already begun to decline and the international reserves have recovered," he said. "The favorable developments to date reflect the authorities' actions to tighten fiscal and monetary policy, the intensification of structural reforms and the availability of timely financial assistance.

The IMF mission believes that the continued implementation of the Pakistani authorities' macroeconomic policies will have further favorable effects on the process of economic growth and economic diversification."

December's standby loan was approved after the IMF last year canceled a three-year Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility (ESAF) begun in 1994 after Islamahad failed to meet targets for structural reform.

Erian said the standby loan was a stepping stone for going back to a new three-year ESAF.

Contaction of the second of th SEC in deal with Egypt; Israel next CAIRO (AP) - Arthur Levitt, chairtisan of the US Securities and Exchange Commission, signed an agreement yesterday to train Egyptians and öther Arabs in stock market regulation. The memorandum of understanding was signed by Levitt and Abdel-Hamid Ibrahim, chairman of the Egyptian Capital Markets Authority, which oversees Egypt's stock and bond markets. A statement issued after the signing said the deal was the first with a market authority in the Middle East.

Under the agreement, the SEC will host Egyptian regulators at training programs in Washington. It also calls for consultation between the SEC and the Egyptian authority on securities issues. Levitt said a similar understanding will be signed between the SEC and Israeli market offcials tomorrow.

Turpica Turpica Turpica Turpica Surgium Surgiu $220 19200 1.3 19270 2.0 19270 2.0 19200 4.3 19200 4.3 19200 4.3 19200 4.3 19200 4.3 19200 4.3 1920 4.3 2025 4.0 2026 4.0 2 Companies Oil Explorat

SOURCE )) ISRAEL DISCOUNT BANK

L.

THE MEONE YOU CAN TALK TO.

 Property, Building

 & Agriculture

 Name
 Pico Wolg

 Abartet
 8200

 Statutet
 8201

 Statutet
 8201

 Valence
 8201

 Anano
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Austat
 940

 Banthet
 1200

 Banthet

Critics Processing of the second seco

Indexed Indexe

165.00

Price Science 21679 0.5 413 273 43900 1.0 60846 1.0 139.00 175.50 -1.4 44421 -2.4 5586 -1.5 777686 -1.5 777686 -1.5

-07

1941

15.4

1.0

1.0 20 -1.0 -1.1 0.5 -0.0

21

-4.1

-0.7

-1.9

SPORTS

Hapoel Jerusalem wins derby

THE game featuring two of the league's mediocre teams proved to be the most exciting as Eilat picked up a rare home victory over Holon in overtime last night. In other 14th-round action, Happel Jerusalem and Maccabi Rishon racked up important victo-ries, while Hapoel Tel Aviv and Maccahi Ramat Gan hlew out their opponents.

10

Hap. Eilat 91, Hap. Holon 89 Shimon Amsalem hit a disputed basket at the end of overtime, capping a terrific comeback for the southerners. With five-tenths of a second left on the clock, Eilat managed to inbound the ball to Amsalem who proceeded to score the layup. The Holoners referred to the call as a disgrace, claiming that there couldn't possibly have been enough time for the entire play, and thet another overtime was io order. It didn't even seem like an extra session would be necessary, with less than two minutes to go in regulation, and Holon lookiog like the team that had led throughout the game. However, with 1:15 remaining, Ari Rosenberg hit e clutch three-point basket cutting the Holon advantage in 78-75. Eilet actually took the lead 79-78 with 10 seconds on the clock off of e J.J. Eubanks put-back. Holon's

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Damon

Stoudamire, the runaway early choice for the Rookie of the Year award, showed everybody what all the fuss was about hy leading the East to a 94-92 victory

Saturday over the West in the Stoudamire of the expansioo

Toronto Raptors had 19 points and 11 assists and showed off his considerable one-on-one skills to win the Most Valuable Player award in the NBA's third annual all-star game for first-year play-

NBA rookie game.

ELI GRONER

Yariv Yatzkan hit one of two free throws six seconds later, sending the game intn OT. Eilat's victory propels them into 7th place io the standings, while Holon is still on pace to make the Inwer playoffs as well.

Hap. Jerusalem 107, Mac. Jerusalem 89 Hapoel Jerusalem continued to keep pace with Maccebi Tel Aviv by turning in another big victory, moving their record to 13-1.

Maccabi used tenaciousness and a never-say-die attitude to keep it close into the second half, but Hapoel's superior talent proved to be the difference down the stretch. Billy Thompson (30 points) and Norris Coleman (27) were ably assisted by

Levy. Joe Dawson was outstanding in Mac. Rishon 109, Hap. Safed 97 Rishon Lezion showed how good

the solid play of Doron Shefa and Pini

Stoudamire leads East past

West in NBA rookie contest

"It put a cap on a great first half of the season for me. I didn't know how long or short it would take me to get used to the NBA, hut I'm lucky I got put into the right situatioo. I wanted to perform for the people who haven't had a chance to see me perform. Toronto's not on TV a lot,"

Stoudamire prohably wouldn't have won the award, however, if

Joe Smith of the Golden State

Warriors had released the final

Stoudamire said.

defeat.

the team can be by totally outplaying Happel Holon a very good Safed team. James Gully Hapoel Eilet and Brian Oliver displayed many of the skills thet make them arguably the most dangerous tandem io the league. Safed's loss just about eliminates any Hapoel Gvat huzzer.

hopes it harbored about making the Final Four. Mac. RG 82, Hap. Galil 64 Ramat Gan, in a furious attempt to avoid relegation to the second division at the end of the year, played its best game of the season in crushing Galil on the road. Travis Mays led RG out of the gate as he scored seven of his 28 points in the first four minutes and the team never looked hack. Devid Brooks was outstandiog while pouring io 15 points. Desi Baremore and Rubert Rose added 19 and 14. respectively. Hap. TA 108, Hap. Gvat 84 Hapoel Gvet suffered another embarrassing loss en route to certain relegation at the end of the season. National Basketball League

25

19 19

17

13 Happel Jerusalem Maccabi Tel Aviv Hapoel Galil Elyon Maccabl Rishon Bnei Herzliya Hapoel Safed Hapoel Tel Aviv Maccabi Jerusalem 10 Maccabi Ramat Gan 11

to lead all the scorers, nailed a three-pointer just after the final

The hasket was waved off and Stoudamire, who leads the Raptors in points and assists and has played more minutes than any other rookie, scored five of the East's final nine points - on a hasket in the lane after he drove past the award was Stoudamire's.

Cup opening ceremony.

Cricket World Cup opens amid controversy

CALCUTTA (Reuter) - Cricket's 1996 World Cup was launched at a dazzling opening ceremony yesterday hut controversy raged as Australia and West Indies inrfeited matches after refusing to play in Sri Lanka.

Two days of talks between orgaoizers, world cricket chiefs and representatives of the 12 competing teams failed to resolve a crisis over Sri Lankan fixtures that has rocked the game's premier limited overs tournament.

Australia and West Indies stood hy their decision not to play in Colombo because of safety fears after a bomh hlast in the Sri Lankan capital killed more than 80 people and injured 1,200.

Sri Lanka was awarded a "walkover" against the two teams after organizers refused to change the schedule and have effectively qualified for the quarter-finals before a ball is even bowled. The top four teams in each group of six go through. The India-Pakistan-Lanka Organizing Committee (PILCOM) was involved in backroom diplomatic efforts as well as formal talks with officials and the International Cricket Council ( in an attempt to overcome the crisis. PILCOM said in a statement: "Several alternate suggestions and offers were made to the ACB (Australian Cricket Board) and WICBC (West Indies Cricket Board of Control), including India's offer to play their match against Kenya in Sri Lanka, provided Australia and West Indies agreed to play in Sri Lanka. But the ACB and WICBC were adamant. "Sri Lanka will be awarded a West Indies and two points will be swarded to Sri Lanka for each of these matches.

The Jerusalem Post

"PILCOM would, however, again request the cricket boards of Australia and West Indies to match the goodwill and solidarity shown by Zimbabwe and Kenya (who have agreed to play in Sri Lanka) by reconsidering their

February 17 and February 25 fears after the bomb blast in Colombo on January 31.

Australian Cricket Board (ACB) chairman Malcolm Gray said: "Australia are concerned about the security situation in Sri Lanka. Therefore the match will Lanka) hy reconsidering their decision not to participate in the

Australia and West Indies refused to play in Sri Lanka on respectively hecause of safety not be played."

scheduled matches in Sri Lanka."

"walkover" against Australia and

Tyus Edney and a 3-pointer with India upsets Netherlands to reach Stoudamire also had four steals, two rebounds and just two tennis quarter-finals

shot of the game a split-second earlier. Smith, who had 26 points Leeds enjoys come-from-behind victory at Birmingham

· LONDON (AP) - Tony Yeboah scored once and set up the other to engineer a come-from-behind 2-1 victory for Leeds at Division One Birmingham City yesterday to put bis team in sight of a League Cup final at Wembley.

The Ghanaian striker fired the equalizer and then saw his goal-bound header helped into the ham defender Chris Whyte.

a 25-yard shot after 27 minutes.

. Yebosh's equalizer came nine minutes into the Second half when be collected a beader-on and ran clear of the defense to shoot home.

55 seconds left.

turnovers.

Seventeen minutes from the end, Yeboah climbed to meet a cross from Gary Kelly and Whyte, trying to bead it over the bar, succeeded nly in beloing it into the net. At Loftus Road, central defender Mark Wright drove bome an angled shot in the 16th minute right after a sbot had been deflected into his path.

gles match and Jacco Eltingh conceded bis because of injury yesterday to give Iodia an upset victory over the Netherlands and a place in the Davis Cup quarterfinal. Siemerink stumbled in three tie-breaks to lose to

LONDON (AP) - Jan Siemerink lost his second sin-

India's Leander Paes, who won 7-6 (7-2), 2-6, 7-6 (7-31.7-6 (7-5).

Then Mahesh Bhupathi, who had beat Siemerink in five sets, led Eltingh two-sets-to-one when the Dutchman retired with a knee injury. India will face Sweden April 5 to 7 for a place in the semifinal. The Swedes, four time titlist since 1984, overpowered Belgium 4-1 and had already clinched a quarter-final place after Saturday's doubles.

Andrei Chesnokov. The winner will meet the victor of South Africa-Austria, whose match, currently tied at 1-1, will be completed today because of rain.

At Katrineholm, Joban van Herck upset Sweden's top player, Thomas Enquist. 7-5, 6-2 but Magnus Larsson scored a 7-6 (7-3), 6-4 victory over Belgium's Dick Norman.

The Germans also had already clinched a quarterfinal place Saturday but completed a shutout against the Swiss in Geneva when David Prinosil downed Alexandre Strambini 6-3, 6-3 and Hendrik Dreekmann beat Jakob Hlasek 6-4, 6-4.

France's Cedric Pioline, who also won a singles on Friday, beat Denmark's Kenneth Carlsen, 7-5, 6-4

ORI LEWIS THE weather had the last word yesterday as all efforts to conclude the Davis Cup tie between Israel and Norway at Ramat Hasharon were put on hold at least until today.

CA

LASSICAL MUSA

DANCE

TELEVISION

FILM

CRYPTIC

28

10

12.5

lis and a

9.~

21.

-D:22 Fig- ....

Ber

Par athen

1000

-----

5

A State State

1.1.1.1

A ST

2000

4517 2 17

والمراجع ومناجع ومراجع المستنشك والمراجع والمحافظ والمراجع والمستند والمستند والمستند والمستند والمستند

Monday, February 12 1996

Israel-

Norway

Davis Cup

tie set back by rain

Norway's No. 1 player, Christian Rund, led his Israeli counterpart Eyal Ran 5-4 in the first set of the first reverse singles rubber when the rains returned to the Canada Stadium at Ramat Hasharon. Israel leads the tie 2-1.

The match yesterday had already been delayed hy some two hours as the center's staff dried the court following the downpour overnight, and by the time ITF referee Fabrice Shouget of France announced the suspension of play for the day at 5 pm, only a handful of die-hard supporters were still hanging around.

Originally, less than 100 spectators had turned out to see what they had hoped would be the conclusion of an exciting, closely fought encounter.

nent today, Helge Koll (753), but whether he will have any kind of advantage on court remains to be seen. In Saturday's doubles, Erlich - who parmered Ran - began very weakly and only picked up his form from midway through the match. By the cud,

The two teams will meet again in the second leg at Leeds' Elland Road in two weeks. The first leg of the other semifinal is on Wednesday between Arsenal and Aston Villa.

In Premier League action, early goals by Mark Wright and Rohhie Fowler gave third place Liverpool a 2-1 victory at next-to-last Queens Park Rangers. Liverpool is 11 points hehind leader Newcastle, which won 2-1 at Middleshrough Saturday.

Some 24,000 fans at Št Andrews saw lanky 6feet-7 Kevin Francis fire Birmingham ahead with Fifteen minutes later, Fowler took a long pass from Stan Collymore and outpaced the Rangers defense before shooting home.

Rangers, which has only 18 points from 26 games, hit back near the end when Danny Dichio's 20-yard shot took a deflection off Liverpool defender Phil Babb and flew past goalkeeper David James.

TEL 06-343777

Germany also made it to the last eight hy beating Switzerland 5-0 despite the absence of Boris Becker and faces the French, which also scored a 5-0 victory over Denmark.

The defending champion United States clinched a place in the last eight by winning Saturday's doubles against Mexico and will visit the Czech Republic. which downed Hungary 5-0.

Russia and Italy were tied at 2-2 when rain delayed the final singles between Renzo Furlan and Russia's

COMPUTERS

Jerusalem

FOR SALE

GREAT BARGAIN. MACINTOSH SE/

30 + modern + HP inkjet printer. Fast 1030 processor, latest system, Eng/Heb w/ soft-ware. Tel. 02-865-247/NSL

SITUATIONS VACANT

Jerusalem

HOUSEHOLD HELP

AUPAIR FOR FAMILY in Jerusalem area+ live in, Tel 050-217630, 02-9931642

SALES PERSONNEL

WANTEO: MARKETING/SALES PEO-PLE for exclusive product, salary + com-mission. (02) 652-1111 Michai

SITUATIONS VACANT

Tel Aviv

HOUSEHOLD HELP

FORGET THE RESTIL We ers the best!! The biggest and cidest egency in israel. For the highest quality live-in jobs phone Au Pair International, 03-6190423.

AU PAIR FDR wonderful girt, live in, good conditions. 03-S10S740, 0S0-S16964.

AU PAIR (F), for nice family, live-in, cen-tral Tel Aviv, staning March 1. Tel. 03-523-3899, after 9 p.m.

AU PAIR. LIVE-IN, light housework, im-mediate. Call: 03-642-1423, Dana.

IMMEDIATEIII $700 + RDDM AND board for experienced metapelet in Tel Avry, Tel. 03-524-2085.

ENGLISH, HEBREW, OR French

speaking woman for housekeeping + baby care, kwe-in, refarances necessary. (03 ) 314-166 between 6:30-6:30 pm.

OFFICE STAFF

BANK SEEKS EXPORT clerk, English mother tongue + typing on electric type-writer, 03-6500521.

6201195. 052-452002-Jackie.

and Guillaume Raoux, a late substitute for Guy Forget, downed Frederik Fetterlein 6-3, 6-4.

Daniel Vacek and Jiri Novak completed the Czecb Republic's sweep against the Hungarians in Pilsen. Vacek beat Sandor Noszaly 7-5, 6-3 while Novak met: more resistance from Jozsef Krocsko before triumphing 5-7, 7-6 (7-4), 6-0.

Australia, a one-time Davis Cup powerhouse which slipped out of the World Group after upset losses to teams from South Africa and Hungary last season, scored an easy victory over Taiwan in the Asia-Oceania Zone.

Recordbreaking swim team returns today

HEATHER CHAIT

THE national swimming team.

returns home today from their sensational string of victories in the World Cup competition in Eytan Orbach add two more bronze medals to the team's hoard, with Bruck's personal collection over the past two weeks

Orbach's bronze came in Gelsenkirchen, Germany, in the 200 meters hackstroke event where he set a new Israeli record

Bruck swam the 50m. freestyle

Yesterday saw Yoav Bruck and Europe.

rising to eight.

when Israel had returned from a two-set deficit, Erlich was in full flow, serving and volleying well. Koll, on the other hand, played well throughout the doubles, but it is difficult to predict where the advantage lies. Koll will be playing without the pressure of the home support on his shoulders, while Erlich will know what is expected of him, regardless of the size of the crowd. Entry today is free and if rain intervenes, play can continue until tomorrow. at midnight, at which point Israel as bost - would have to forfeit the tie, Yair Engel, Israel Tennis Association managing director said yesterday. As the weather forecast for today is much better than yesterday, the option of playing indoors has been rejected. Engel said.

Record Wigan sequence halted by Salford

LONDON (Reuter) - One of the longest-standing unbeaten records in British sport ended abruptly yesterday when Wigan was beaten 26-16 hy Salford in rugby league's Challenge Cup fifth round.

Wigan had not lost in the competition in 43 matches spanning eight years.

SCOREBOARD.

NHL - Saturday's results: N.Y. Ista , Anabeiro 3; Philadelphia 6, Boston 2; Pittsburgh 6, Chicago 3; New Jerser 3, N.Y. Rangers 0; Detroit 3, Tampa Bay 2 (OT); San Jose 6, Los Angeles 1; St. Losis 6, Dallas 3; Ottawa 5, Mentreal 3; Buffalo 2, Toronto 2; Winnipeg 3, Calgary 2; Washington 4, Vancouver 4.

record in the 100m. butterfly, setting a time of 53.68 seconds in the final to finish fourth.

the last day of the tournament in the 50m. butterfly, achieving a new record of 28.56 seconds and fifth place.

Goldman.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL-Saturday's top 25 results:

No. 3 Kansar lost to Missouri, 77-73. No. 6 Villanova beat Ratgers, 76-64. No. 7 Utak beat Colorado State, 78-73-No. 10 Pean St. beat Mich. St. 54-59. No. 11 Virg. Tech beat Xavier, 78-73. No. 12 N. Car. last to Geor. Tealt, 92-83: No. 13 Ter. Tech best Ter. A&M. 66-63 No. 14 Purdue beat No. 23 Mich., 69-64 No. 18 Syr. beat No. 8 GT, 85-64. No. 20 Louisville best Alabama-

No. 21 Iowa State beat Nebuaska, 74-59. No. 22 Boston Col. heat Minut, G2 55. No. 24 E. Mich. best Con. Mich., 91-75. No. 25 Stanford beat No. 77 UCLA, 67-86. Barther and State

SSIFI S Ε D С Δ

FOR SERIOUS IN Ginot Shamron (An-glo-Saxon neighborhood), megnificent cottage, 8 rooms, 550 meters, improves, well kept, $260,000, ANGLO-SAXON Tel. 09-441-521.

DWELLINGS

Halfa and North

SALES

CAESAREA, NEW HOUSE for sale, el-

DWELLINGS

Eilat and South

HOLIDAY RENTALS

A WEEK'S VACATION In Eilat from 2.6.96 - 9.8.96 for sale. Tel. 02-819-819,

REALTY

Sharon Area

PLOTS

BUSINESS OFFERS

General

BUS. PREMISES

BUSINESS OFFERS

Dan Region

BUS. PREMISES

RATES

PRICES ARE AS FOLLOWS - All rates nctude VAT: Single Weekday - NIS 99.45 for 10 words

(minimum), each additional word NIS 9.94 FRIOAY AND HOLLDAY EVE - NIS 152.10 10 words (minimum), each addi-tional word NIS 15.21. MONOAY, WEONESDAY and FRI-

DAY (package] - NIS 234.00 for 10 words (minimum].each additional word - NIS (minimum], each additional word - NIS 23.40, WEEK RATE (& insertione) - NIS 315.90 for 10 words (minimum], each additionel word - NIS 31.59, FOUR FRIOAYS (package) - NIS 409.50 for 10 words (minimum), each ad-ditional word - NIS 40.95, MDNTHLY (24 insertions) - NIS 643.50 for 10 words (minimum], each edditional word - NIS 64.35, Balee are valid until 31,5,95,

Ratee are velid until 31.S.95.

DEADLINES offices:

z

Ī

8

Jerusalem - weekdays: 12 noon the day before publication; lor Friday and Sunday: 6 p.m. on Thursday. Tet Aviv end Haifa - weekdeys: 12 noon, 2 days before publication; for Friday and Sunday: 4 p.m. Thursday in Tel Aviv and 12 noon Thursday in Halfa.

DWELLINGS

General

WHERE TO STAY

JERUSALEM LDDGES LTD. ' Short term rentals ' Bed and breakfast ' P.O.Box 4233, Jerusalem 91044, Tel. 02-81174S, Fax: 02-818541.

DWELLINGS Jerusalem

RENTALS

A PLEASANT APARTMENT for lour-ists, Jerusalem center, short term. Tel 03-9662070,03-9660512.

GERMAN COLONY- (ITALIAN CO-LONY) Luxury, 2-S rooms, turnished/un-furnished. Long term possible. "Israbuid" Tel 02-666571.

2 ROOMS EPR-MAY-JUNE, preferred

localion. $700 Tel/fax 02-836852,02-663087

SALES

ITALIAN CDLONY- Hitdesheimer Hats-firs Street, koury apartments, 4-5, baloo-nies, basement, garden, parking. Tel. 02-617866, 02-66571.

REHAVIA: LOW FLOOR, balconiee, quiet, lully renovated, $400,000, no acents. Tel. 02-610437.

Tel Aviv RENTALS

NORTH, 3, LUXURIOUS, Jully Jur-nished, Tel. 03-523-7918, 03-6990150.

DWELLINGS

RAMAT AVIV GIMMEL, 4, lumiehed, $1,400/ duplex, 5, modern, $3,000. YAEL REALTOR (Maktan) Tel. 03-642-6253.

most 300 meters built on 550 meters of land, corner, beautiful, enclosed parking, near the golf course, available 4/95. EXCLUSIVEI ARNON 4, large, reno-veled, quiet, $1100. "KAV HAYAM" 03-5239968

KING OAVIO TOWERS: 3-4-5, door-man, pool, view. NEVE 03-5220447.

RAMAT AVIV GIMMEL, 4 rooms, rent or sale, Tel D3-6960396

SALES

FDR SERIDUS: NDRTH, new, S, 150 sq.m., architectural design, immediate. 03-6993472.

EXCLUSIVEL DPERA TOWERI 2, high, impressive sea view. KAV HAYAM, Tal. 03-523-9988.

PENTHOUSE IN RAMAT GAN. & roome, 3 balconies, 7th floor, well kept, elr-conditioned. Tel. 03-635-6520; Fax: HERZLIYA-PITUACH, Gelei Tchelet!! 03-534-9725 $2,000,000. Tel. 050-231-725.

4, LUXURIDUS, + expensive contents, elevator + parking, ground floor, (munici-pality) "Girsh" 03-5444331

RAMAT AVIV, 41/2, view, high linor, elevator, parking, $410.000. Yael Realtor, 03-6426253. (Maldan).

EXCLUSIVEI EXCELLENT lor invest-manti 2 apartments, divided. Renovated, fumished completely. KAV-HAYAM. Tel. FOR SALE: NEW lactories for the man-utacture of totlet paper. Tel. 050-352-834. 03-523-9988

FOR THE SOPHISTICATED only II North Tel Avivil Fantastic penthousel! 480 sq.m. on one level + 280 sq.m. Roof apt. designed to the highest standardsll KAV HAYAM Tel. 03-523-9388.

EXCLUSIVEL GAN HA'IR TOWER. 257 sq.m. high, decorated, " KAV HAYAM" TEL. 03-5239988. HERZLIYA, SOKOLOV STREET:

Store, 30 sq.m., (suitable for gellery). lac-ing street, immediate. (06 ) 271-078 DWELLINGS Sharon Area evenings (no agents).

RENTALS

HERZLIYA PITUAH NEAR eea Iront, unfurmished, 4 bedroom cottage, central air conditioning, immediate. MORAN REAL ESTATE Tel. 09-572-759.

SALES

UNIQUE COTTAGE IN Tel Mond, 6 s, 500 sq.m. lot. Tel. 09-967-278.

FOR HEALTHY BOOY & e happy mind. have a professional massage or shifetsu. Tel, 03-5802328.

SERVICES Tel Aviv HEALTH

RESPONSIBLE AND DEDICATED woman who loves children, for childcare + housework, live-in. (09 ) 553-868. in 22.19 seconds to finish in third place, one-hundredth of a second outside his best time. WANTED FOR HOUSEHOLD in Her-Two Jerusalemites, Yoav Meiri zllya Pituah, live in, including cooking and cleaning. Tel. 050-274783 during evening and Mickey Halika, hoth improved on Bruck's national. record in the 200m. individual. SITUATIONS VACANT medley. Meiri chopped half a sec-of 1:57.52 minutes.

ond off Bruck's record with a time of 2:03.97 while 10 minutes later Halika continued to lower the time further to 2:03.55 and a sixth place finish.

Dan Kutler also cracked a new

Lital Kashriel left her mark on

The swimmers will be welcomed at Ben-Gurion Airport this afternoon by Deputy Minister of Education and Sport Micha Birminetenn, 81-66.

. . . . .

child , 15 months + live-in. Mother-longue English. Tel. 050-571-818.

TOUR OPERATOR SEEKING English typist (Einstein), full dey. Tel. 03-522-5420.

ENGLISH MOTHER TONGUE, epo

ksn Hebrew, preterably knowledge of Otext for Tel Aviv high tech company 8:30-17:00. Sand CV to: Mandel, Ben Num 51, Tel Aviv sectors

SALES PERSONNEL

SALESPEDPLE FOR INTERNA-

TIONAL business publications, experi-ence essential. 09-7713052, 052-455551, 09-986988.

SITUATIONS VACANT

AU PAIR FOR children + housework , live-out. 03-S754327, mornings; 0a-6991979, eventrgs.

FOR ELECTRONICS COMPANY, secretery, tull time, English/Hebrew, knowledge of computer, 09-903650.

TEACHERS

OUALIFIED E.F.L. TEACHER needed

SITUATIONS VACANT

Dan Region

HOUSEHOLD HELP

Sharon Area

HOUSEHOLD HELP

pert time. Tel Aviv business situetlo Phone Yvonne 09-917-534.

Tel Aviv 62745

ANTIOUE SALON SET, complete. Bar-gain! $8,000. For serious only, Tel. 03-752-3706.

VEHICLES Jerusalem

ARIE PALOGE - OUALITY CARS: buying, selling, leasing, trading, 02-6523735, 050-240977, IMMEDIATE JOBS AVAILABLE, HERZLIYA-PITUACH. AU PAIR for thendliest lamifies, best conditions, that agency with a heart lor the Au Pairs. Call Hitma Tel. 03-9659937. AMERICAN FAMILY SEEKS South Airlean aupair live-in, central Tel Aviv, S750 + NIS 200 immediate bonus. Tel 03-500105 cen decon locula.

hours.

PURCHASE/SALES

General

The Jerusalem Post

1

U:

- 20

 $(1,1) \in \mathbb{N}$

 $\sim 10^{-1}$

1.14

.

 $d_{1} = 1 + 1$

 $(x,y) \in \mathcal{X}$

111 -1.1

1.5

 $(r_{1},r_{2},r_{3})$

.

•

. . . .

× .

. . .

.....

-

18: 2.115

<sup>يني</sup> مدين د د د د

•

a state

•

S ....

10.1

. . .

**()

Monday, February 12, 1996

WHAT'S ON

CRITIC'S CHOICE

CLASSICAL MUSIC

MICHAEL AJZENSTADT

THE Israel Music Institute in Tel Aviv tonight (8:30) bosts composer Ben-Zion Orgad whose new opus, Philigrins No. 5, will be premiered by the Israel Sinfonietta Beersheba, The Sinfonietta's music director, Uri Mayer, and pianist Zeharia Plavin also participate in the event. Earlier today (5:30) at the Mann Auditorium in Tel Aviv, Mendi Rodan leads the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra in a program of Bach compositions suited for the entire family.

DANCE

MICHAEL AJZENSTADT

THERE are only two more opportunities to see the Batsheva Dance Company perform Paul Norton's The Rogue Tool, danced to the music of renowned British jazz musician Fred Frith. It is performed on a double bill with Tero Sarinen's Fluck, which the Finnish choreographer created for Batsheve last season. At the Suzanne Dellal Center in Tel Aviv at 9:00.

TELEVISION

.

RUTH KERN

PAUL and Jamie's relationship may not have gone stale in Mad About You, but the show's premise - that of a newly married couple - has It's hard to keep up the pretense after three whole seasons. So, now that the premiere of season No. 4 is here, there's baby-talk in the air. Fans may worry that this development will upset the chemistry between the two stars, but others could justifiably feel that the show is so basically flat and unfunny it hardly matters. The new season begins tonight on the Family Channel at 9:40 p.m.

FILM

ADINA HOFFMAN

**** LISBON STORY - Like all Wim Wenders's films, this is a moviemaker's movie, concerned no less with the state of the art than with being human. It's the wistful-sweet tale of a German filmmaker named Phillip, a soundman, who travels to the Portuguese capital in search of his missing American collaborator. The real star of the picture, though, is the city itself: as Phillip hunts for his friend, it becomes clear that this conventional mystery plot is merely a pretext for

The fourth season of 'Mad About You' kicks off tonight.

Wenders to roam and film the twisty streets. And given the eclectic and riveting footage this yields, it seems as good an excuse to explore as any. The movie also gains an instant infusion of benefits from the light slapstick that distinguishes so much of the actioo.

dren.)

TELEVISION

CHANNEL 1

6:30 News 6:45 Exercise Hour 7:00 Good Morning Israel

EDUCATIONAL TV

8:00 Revolutions in the Modern World 8:30 Reading 8:45 Natural Science 9:00 Nature 9:10 Music 9:25 Young children's programs 10:00 On Second Thoughts - Marketing the self and public relations 10:30 Science and Technology 10:50English 11:10History 11:40English 12:05Physical Geo-graphy 12:15Society 12:50Tolar-ance 13:30 Stories From the Gar-bage Héap 14:00 A Thousand and One Americas 15:00 Autoto

CHANNEL 1

Verse of the Day

CHANNEL 2

15:30 Land Without Time 15:55 Model School 18:20 At The Tip of the Brush - new series on art, styles, movements, and painters 17:00 A New Evening 17:35 Zaptot to Hosting – with young artists and per-formers 18:15 News in English ABABIC PROGRAMS ARABIC PROGRAMS 18:30 Sports magazine 19:00 News

in Arable HEBREW PROGRAMS 19:30 Every Evening with Merav Michaeli 20:00 News 20:45 Popolitica 22:00 Sanderson - comey 23:00 Backtrack - with Ehud lanor 23:30 News magazine 00:00

8:00 Falcon Crest 9:00 One Life to Live 9:45 The Young and the Resteas 10:30 Second Time Around 10:55 Not Far From Home 11:25 Celeste 12:10 Neighbors 12:35 Perry Mason 13:30 Starting at 1:30 14:05 The Trials of Rosie O'Neill 14:55 Falcon Crest 15:45 ENG 16:45 Neighbors 17:10 Antonella 18:00 One Lifa to Live 18:45 The Young and The Resteass 19:30 Local broad-cast 20:00 Celeste 20:50 Married with Children 21.15Nanny - cornedy 21:40 Mad About You - Jamie and Peul won't be just a twosome forever, Peul won't be just a twosome forever, as the fourth season premiares 22:05Fraser - comedy 22:30 Liberated Woman - comedy 23:45Sielars 00:35 Counter Offensive 1:25 Knots Landing 13:00 Talking About It - Danny Roup

Program

talks to people with interesting stories 14:00 Bay City - Australian children's drama 14:30 Tick Tack 15:00 Pinocchio - with Hebrew dubbing MOVIE CHANNEL (4) 16:30 Dreams with Uzl Hitman 16:00 The Bold and the Beautiful 17:00 News magazine with Rafi Reshef 17:30 A Matter of Time – drama for youth 18:00 Santa Barbara – soap

Bustin' Loose - comedy 15:40 Animals of the Mediterranean - documentary 16:00 Voyagers 17:00 Franch Programs 19:30 News Headlines 19:35 McHale's Navy - comedy 20:00 Invention 20:25 Hawaii Five-0 21:10 Russla - The Missing Years 22:00 News in English

22:25 A Journey Across the Land of Islam 22:40 Perfect Scoundrels 23:10 Taurus Rising - drama series 00:00 Ellen - comedy

14:00 The 700 Club 14:55 Film

16:30 Moomins 16:55 Heathclift

17:20 Inspector Gadget 17:45 Superbook 18:10 Snowy River 19:10 Msgnum P.I. 20:00 World Naws Tonight (Arabic) 20:30 CNN Headline News 21:00 The Bill Cosby Show 21:30 Diagnosis Murder 22:20 A

Quest 23:10 700 Club 00:00 Special

CABLE

FAMILY CHANNEL (3)

■ MIDDLE EAST TV

10:30 Connecticut Yankee (1990) comparatively recent version of the Mark Twain classic (90 mins.) 12:05 Impact (1949) - Suspense thniler about an unfaithful wifa and her lover who plan to murder her wealthy hus-band. Starring Brian Donlevy and Ella Raines, Directed by Arthur Lubin. (110 mins.) 14.00 Whose Line Is It (110 mins.) 14,00 whose Line is it Anyway? 14:30 Scavengers (1988) -an American omithologist, who goes to Africa with his guittriend, gets caught up in an espionage atfair involving both the CIA and the KGB 16:05 Shattered Dreams (1990) -beand can the true stary of the bat based on the true story of the bat-tared wifa of a high-ranking Washington official, who sued her husband for damages (89 mins.) 17.35 Movie News 17:45 Le Petit Criminal - French drama about e 15-year-old boy who suddenly discovers that he has a sister whom he has never seen (96 mins.) 19:25 Fatal image (1990) - suspense drama about e mother and daughter who, while vacationion in Paris canture a while vacationing in Paris, capture a savage murder on video (68 mins.) 21:00 Lies of the Heart (1994) - a young woman serving e long prison sentence for killing her husband experiences a series of flash-backs of how he beat her (88 mins.) 22:35 The Lotus Eaters (1993) - the story of e Canadian farming lamity in the early 1960s (100 min) 00:20 in the Eye of a Stranger (1992) - e police-man assigned to guard e young woman who witnessed a fatal shootout fails in love with her, but becomes suspicious of her when e mysterious elderly man shows up with informa-tion about her pasi (90 mins.) 1:50 Eat the Rich (1987) - black comedy about e most unconventional London restaurant menu (84 mins.)

11:05 Power Rangers 11:40 Loony Toons 12:00 Saved by the Bell 12:30 Hugo 13:00 Surprise Garden 13:35 Alvin and the Chipmunks 14:00 Detective Boogle 14:35 Once Upon e Time 15:10 Silver Hawks 15:35 Family Ties 16:15 Black Stallion 16:35 Ocean Girl 17:05 Loony Toons 17:35 Seved by the Bell 18:00 Hugo 18:35 White Fang 19:00 The Megical World of Dinosaura 19:30 Three's Compeny 20:00 Marriad with Children 20:25 Family Ties 20:55 Mork and Mindy 21:20 Cheers

SECOND SHOWING (6)

22:00 Van Gogh (1991, French) drama focusing on the final period in the life of the great ertist, who in the last three months of his life produced close to 100 breathtaking works (151 mins.) 00.35 Paths of Glory - Stanley Kubrick's masterful anti-war drama. Based on the true story of a French general in World War I, who sent his soldiers on what he knew in advance to be an impossible mission. And when they fail, he brings three of ihem before a military tribunal. Starring Kirk Douglas, Ralph Meeker and Adolphs Menjou. (83 mins.)

6:00 Open University: Management, Marketing and Economics 12:00 Human Nature 13:00 Beyond 2000 14:00 Open University 18:00 Human Nature 17:00 Beyond 2000 18:00 Open University 20:00 fn Search of Our Ancestors 21:00 China, the awakening dragon 22:00 Contract, profit and loss 22:45 fn Search of Our Ancestors 23:45 Open University

■ (TV 3 (33)

DISCOVERY (8)

17:00 Cartoons 17:30 Migrating Birds 18:30 Panorama with Zaldan Atshe 19:00 News in Arabic 19:30 Songs Wa Loved 20:00 Mabat News 20:45 Opening Shots - series about talented young exponents in all fields of art 21.16 City of Sadness - prize-winning Taiwanese production begin-ning at the and of the Japanese occupation during World War II. Tha occupation during World War II, Tha plot centers around a family of mer-chants in which there are four sons, each of whom takes a different direction in lifa (151 mins.) 00:00 Closedown

ETV 2 (23)

15:30 Hey Dad 16:00 Math enrich-ment 17:00 At the Bottom of the Sea With Delphi 17:30 Tima Out 18:00 The Herodian Kingdom, Betwean East and West 18:30 Family Relations 19:00 Basic Arabic 19:30 Before Induction - program about army service 20:00 A New Evening (with Russian subtitles) 20:30 Preparation for Begrut 21.00 Medicine Demystified 21:30 Korea -The Unknown War 22:30 Spirited

SUPER CHANNEL

8:00 The Selina Scott Show 7:00 ITN 8:00 The Seina Scott Show 7:00 TN World News 7:15 NBC News 7:30 Steals and Deals 8:00 The Today Show 10:00 Super Shop 11:00 European Money Wheel 15:30 The Squawk Box 17:00 US Money Wheel 18:30 FT Business Tonight 19:00 TN News 19:30 Frost's Century 20:30 The Seina Scott Show 21:30 Frontal 22:30 TDN News 23:00 Supersont 22:30 ITN News 23:00 Supersport 00:00 Best of the Tonight Show 1:00 Late Night with Conan O'Brien

.6:00 Beverty Hilbillies 6:30 Look and

Cook 7:00 Video Fashion Monthly 7:30 Gabrielle 8:30 Santa Barbara

9:30 The Bold and the Beautifu

10:00 Oprah Winfrey 11:00 Remington Steele 12:00 Look and

MASH 18:30 Inspector Morse Mystery Movies 18:30 The Bold and the Beautiful 19:00 Santa Barbara 20:00 Star Trek 20:30 Hearts Alire 21:00 Grace Undar Fire 21:30 Barnaby Jones 22:30 Entertainment Tonight 23:00 Oprah Winfrey 00:00 Movie TV 00:30 Home and Away 1:00 The Sullivans

11

*'*e

b

:d

xð

зi

j.,

3.

a-ic

U

đ

١d

id

٦đ

io

٢y

in

CHANNEL 5

5:30 Bodies in motion 7:30 Basic Training 13:00 NBA All Stars from San Antonio 16:00 Bodies in motion 18:30 British Soccer 20:15 Live National League basketball 22:30 Premiar leagua soccer roundup 23:45 NBA Highlights

EUROSPORT

9:30 Alpine skiing 11:00 Formula 1 12:00 International motorsports magazine 13:00 Boxing 14:00 Biathon 15:00 Figure skating 17:00 Swimming 18:00 Cycling 19:00 African National Cup soccer high-lights 20:30 Eurogoals 21:00 Speed world 23:00 Pro-wrestling 00:00 Eurogoal 1:00 Eurogolf 2:00 Karting

PRIME SPORTS

6:00 Motorsports magazine 8:00 Golf magazine 8:30 Asian sports show 9:00 Tennis 9:30 Chinese leagua basketball 11:00 WWF 14:00 Figure basketball 11:00 WWF 14:00 Figure skating 14:30 Baseball magazine 15:00 Chinese leagua basketbsli 18:30 Motorcycling 17:30 World Cup cricket preview 18:00 Asian sports show 18:30 Baseball magazine 19:00 Windsurting magazine 19:30 Rollerbiading 20:00 Golf megazine 20:30 World Cup cricket preview 21:00 Tennis 21:30 Golf 00:30 Five Natione' Cup, nichor: England vs Nations' Cup rugby: England vs Wales

BBC WORLD

News on the hour 6:00 BBC Newsday 6:05 The Monay Newsday 6:05 The Monay Programme 10:15 The Money Programme 11:30 Food and Drink 14:05 Assignment 15:15 World Business Report 18:25 This Multi-Media Business 17:15 The Money Programme 18:30 Time Out: Tha Clothes Show 19:30 Tomorrow's World 22:05 The Money Programme 23:30 Holiday 00:00 BBC World News and Business Report

VOICE OF MUSIC

6:06 Morning Concert 9:05 Charlia Chaplin: Bonjour Madame for cello and piano; Barber: Medea ballet suite; Copland; Old American Songs for baritone and orch; Claude Bolling; 2 movements from Suite for cello and jazz trio; Scriabin: Sonata no 3 in F sharp minor for plano op 23; Rachmaninoff: The Bells choral sym-Hachmannon: The Bells criotal symphony; Michael Tippett: The Blue Guitar sonata for guitar solo; John Ireland: Fantasy-Sonata for clarinet and piano 12:00 Light Classical – Verdi: excerpts from Nabucco 13:00. Pianist Marie Joao Pires - Mozart. Sonata no 14 In C minor K457; Franck: Sonata in A for piano and vio-In; Debussy: Sonata In A to parto and Vo violin and plano 14:06 Encore 15:00 Cycle of Works - Beethoven's plano sonatas 16:00 Early music 17:00 Etnahta - live broadcast from Henry Crown Auditorium, Jerusalem. Yossi Amheim (liute), Lazar Schuster (vio-jin), Yurl Gandelsman (viola), Marcel Bergman (cello), Yulia Sverdiov (harp), Haydh: Trio for flute, violin and cello; Debussy: Soneta for flute, viola and betar bad Statement Tre,

14.35 and the 100

rich, local feeling from its lush soundtrack, and

As Phillip hops on and off trolleycars with his fuzzy microphone, lopsided smile, and brokeo leg, he suggests a cheerful, verbal descendent of Buster Keaton in The Cameraman, (German, English, and Portuguese dialogue. Hebrew and English subtitles. Not recommended for chil-

JORDAN TV 14:00 Bonkers 14:30 Richie Rich cartoon 15:00 Playabout 15:15

opera 19:00 Baywatch 20:00 News 20:30 It's e Deal – game show 21:05 Zahu Zeh – comedy 21:40 Dan Shilon live 23:15 Sirens – police drama series 00:00 Naws 00:05

Sirens (continued) 00:20 Studs – dat-Ing game 00:45 Starsky and Hutch – police series 01:35 The Last Warrior

(1989) - action war drama, 03:05 Poem of the Day

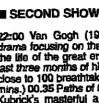

Notices in this feature are charged at NIS28.08 per fine, including VAT, Insertion every day of the month costs, NIS520.65 per fine, including VAT, per

JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM Conducted Tours HEBREW UNIVERSITY, Tours of the Mount Scopus campus, in English, daily Sun-Thur, 11 e.m. from Bronfman Reception Centre, Sherman Administration Bidg, Buees 4a, 9, 23, 26, 28. For into, call 882819.HADASSAH, Visit the Hadassah Installations, Chagati Windows, Tel. 02-416333, 02-776271.

TEL AVIV NUSEUN OF ART. Eight In

TEL AVIV MOSEDM OF ARL Eight in November Gliusberg, Gross, Heisman, Shelesnyak, Almog, Berest, Gal, David; Peter Brandes Isaac: Paintings, Prints, Ceramic Sculpture; Face to Face: Yaacov Dorchin; Blocked Well; The Museum Collections. HELENA RUBINSTEIN PAVILION FOR CONTEMPORARY ART. A Passbo for the New New Art in Tel Aviv

CRYPTIC CROSSWORD

27 They help us see around

28 Charging for granite pieces? (7)

29 Target of Bill Sikes' dog

30 But they are not excluded from Guy's Hospital (5)

DOWN

. . . . . . . . .

(5-3)

.

Aintree (7)

ACROSS

1 Grass edges cut (5)

- 4 Rev up in the upper air
- (3-5)
- 10 Country of A1 cream crackers? (7)
- 11 Redhead's vehicle corrodes
- 12 Fish spear (4)
- 18 Windsor, for axampla,
- provides cold shock (5)
- 14 Fuel approved in church (4)
- 17 Unuaually monied rece
- takes a pound belonging to a religious group (14)
- 19 Resisting restraint so noisily, Truro boy sleeps
- rough (14)

22 Blunder of fielder (4)

10

. 1

· }

1 5 1

12 13

18

24 Author of "What to drink in

.

1

family (7)

S Heroic record set by Olympic finalists (4)

•

23

26

.

14

16 79 20

11

11

5 Nether Wallop (4,2,3,5)

20 Irregular orbits left in such neat fashion (7) 1 Running out of stock, suddenly? (3) 21 Fawning person dogged King Charles? (7) 2 Soft leather sarves the 22 Science-friction? Dalete

(5)

(4) overture (7)

makes sensei (5)

16 Stop in Panama? (5)

18 Jabbers in the clinic (8)

that! (5) 25 Limits of aspirations (4)

6 Land for each university

7 Boy meets girl, making an

8 Eat small amounts, it

9 Every child a son, perhaps, in midwife's terms? (4,2,8)

15 Adam was one such forger?

26 Deposited face up? (4)

SOLUTIONS

OCCUPATION CLEP GOODENTED ONCE UTNEMCE UTNEMCE UTNEMCE UTNEMCE UTNEMCE USUNCEARTER OSUNCEARTER OSUNCEARTER OSUNCEARTER USONTENNED THE TO SEN THE TO CZ TRAP THOROUGULY E N E USU

Yesterday's Quick Solution

ACROSS: 1 Heavy, 4 Walta, 10 Divulge, 11 Recto, 12 Curia, 13 Czarina, 15 Ghee, 17 Lyces, 19 Tenet, 22 Brag, 25 Chelses, 27 Gecko, 29 Rider, 30 Overuse, 31 Adopt, 32 Adder. DOWN: 2 Elver, 2 Voltage, 5 Aorta, 6 Tactile, 7 Edict, 6 Dence, 9 Loyal, 14 Zeta, 16 Hebe, 18 Yleided, 20 Egghead, 21 Actra, 23 Razor, 24 Boxer, 26 Strip, 28 Crude.

QUICK CROSSWORD
ACROSS	DOWN
1 Advise (7)	1 Length of metal
5 Flat-headed nails	hinks (5)
(5)	2 Resentment (7)
8 Bream (anag) (5)	3 Arab republic (5)
9 Victory (7)	4 Deadly (6)
10 N American river	5 Group of three
(7)	notes (7)
11 Pub close to one's	6 Droll (6)
home (5)	7 Pupil (7)
12 Ice over (6)	12 Luck (7)
14 Lethargy (6)	13 Study of animals
17 Wireless (5)	(7)
19 Dilettante (7)	15 German money (7)
22 Mythical horned	16 Inaugurate (6)
horse (7)	18 Energy (5)
23 Imagine (5)	20 Fasten, attach (5)
24 Foe (5)
	21 Man-made fibre
25 Six-sided figure (7)	(5)

A Passion for the New At in Tel Aviv Collections. Hours: Weekdays 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Tue. 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Frl. 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Saj. 10 3 p.m. Meyerhoff Art Education Center, Tel. 6919155-8 WIZO. To visit our projects call Tel Aviv 6923819; Jerusalem 256060; Haifa 388817.

HANFA WHAT'S ON IN HANFA, diel 04-374253.

EMERGENCY

PHARMACIES Handrive Center Pherm, Har Handrivm, 868744; Baisam, Satah e-Oin, 272315; Shuefet, Shuafat Road, e10108; Dar Aldawa, Herod's Gata, 282056

Brotov, Dat Plotawe, Heldovs Cota, 282055.
Tel Aviv: Ben-Yehuda, 142 Ben-Yehuda, 522-3535; Superpharm Gimel, 1 Ahimeir, Pamat Aviv Gimel, 641-7117, Tël 3 a.m. Tuesciay: Ben-Yehuda, 142 Ben-Yehuda, 522-3535.
Till midnight. Superpharm Girana-Kfar Sava: Medicatore, 24 Tchemichowsky, Kar Sava, 457034.
Netanye: Neot Shaked, Ezorim Commercial Center, 352484.
Krayot area: Harman, 4 Simtat Modi'in. Kiryat Motzián, 870-7770/3.
Haifa: Magen David, 13 Geula, 862-5205.
Herzifya: Clal Pharm, Beir Merkazim, 5 Maskit (cnr. Sdarot Hagalim), Herzifya Pituah, 558472, 558407. Open 9 a.m. to midnight. midnight. Upper Nazzreth: Clai Pharm, Lev Ha'ir Mail, 570488. Open 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. DUTY HOSPITALS

POLICE 100 FIRE 102 FIRST AID 101 Magen David Adom In emergencies dial 101 (Hebrew) or 911 (English) in most parts of the country. In addition: Ashdof 551333 Kiar Seva 902222 Ashkalon 551332 Natawa 912233 Davis 1274 edifilion: Auhdod' 551333 Kiar Seva* 902222 Auhdod' 551332 Nahariya* 912333 Beersheba* 274767 Netanya* 912333 Beersheba* 274767 Netanya* 912444 Bet Shemesh 523133 Potah Tikwa* 8911111 Dan Ragion* 5793333 Rahovot* 451333 Falar 332444 Rishon* 9442333 Jarusalam* 323133 Tal Aviv* S450111 Karmiot* 9865444 Tibanas* 792444 * Mobile Intensive Care Unit (MICU) service in the area, around the clock. 177-022-9110 The National Polson Control Center at Rambam Hospital 04-8529205, for emer-

346789. Wizo holines for battered women 02-

CHILDREN (6)

6:30 Cartoons 8:00 Surprise Garden 8:05 The Magical World of Dinosaurs 8:30 White Fang 9:00 The Small University 10:45 Lois and Clark

VirtuositylClueleasiHome For The Holidays 1 American President Something To Talk About Fair Gamel Sudden Death 4:45, 7:15, 9:45 JERUSALEM THEATER Man of No

Cook 12:30 Videofashion Naws 13:00 Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles 13:30 Small Wonder 14:00 The Black Statlion 14:30 Batman 15:00 Home end Away Entertainment Tonight JERUSALEM G.G. GIL Jerusalem Mali (Malha)

STAR PLUS

CINEMA

15:30

16:00

CINCENSE S:15 * Dangerous Minds 4:45, 7, 9:15 RAV-OR 1-3 = 248553 Dangerous Minds-Waiting To Exhale 4:30, 7, 9:15 * The Usual Suspects 9:15 * Fe-ther of The Bride II 4:45, 7 CINEMATHEOUE Underground 8:30 RAV CHEN Show Girls 7, 9:30 * Seven 9:30 * The Pastman 7, 9:30 * Father of the Bride II 7 ARAD STAR = 950904 Sudden Death 7:15, 9:30 * The Usual Suspects 9:30 * Indian In The Cupbeard 7:30 * White Man's Burden 7:15, 9:30 ASHDOD G.G. Gill. Money TrainIVirtuosi-tylFair GamelSuddan Death 5, 7:30, 10 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10 ASHUELON G.G. Gill. VirtuositylFair Game 5, 7:30, 10 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10 * Sudden Death 5, 7:30, 10 * Home For The Holidays 5, 7:30 * American President 10 RAV CHEN = 711223 Dangerous Minds/The Postmanifkoney TrainWhite Man's Burden 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Sevan 9:45 * Father Of The Bride B 7,730 BAT YAM RAV CHEN = 5531077 Seven 4:45, 7:15, 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * dangerous Minds/VirtuositylSudden Death 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Money TrainWhite Man's Burden 5, 7:30, 9:455 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Sevan 9:45 * Father Of The Bride B 7:30, 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Savan 9:45 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 4:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls 5, 7:30 * Shower Girls

Bride II 5, 7:30 * HDIMONA HECHAL HATARBAUT Seven 8

HEILAT KOLNOA EILAT

KOLNOA EILAT Seven 7:15, 9:45 * Money Train 7:30, 10 * Show Girls 7:10, 10 HHADERA LEV 1-4 Show Girls 7:15, 9:45 * Dangerous Winds 5:15, 7:15, 9:45 * Money Train 7:15, 9:45 * Ciueleas 5 * White Man's Burden 5:15, 7:15, 9:45 HERZLYA COLONY CINEMA 1-2 (MAN-DARIN)* 5902966 The Usual Su-spectsThe Poetman 8, 8, 10 STAR* 589068 Virtuoelty 9:45 * American Prestient 7:30 * Show Girls 7:15, 9:45 DANIEL HOTEL Dead Man Walking 7:30, 9:45 KARMIEL

DANIEL HOTEL Dead Man Weiking 7:30, 9:45 KARMIEL CINEMA 1-3 & 887277 Seven 9:30 * Money TrainiAmerican President 7, 9:30 * Father Of The Bride II 4:30, 7:15, 10 * Sudden DeathiDengerous MindelVir- tuosity 5, 7:30,10 * American PresidentiHome For The Holl- dayslifair Game 5, 7:30, 10 KIR-YAT BIALIK G.G. KIRYON 1-9 = 779186 Show Girls 4:45, 7, 8:30 * Home For The

G.G. KIRYON 1-9 = 779186 Show Girls 4:45, 7, 9:30 * Home For The Holfdays/Fair GamelSudden DeathIAmerican Presi- dent/Virtuosity 4:45, 7, 9:30 * Indian in The CupboardiSanta Clause/Goofy 4:45 * Jadelou-less 7, 9:30 KIRYAT BIALIK G.G. KIRYON 1-9 = 779186 Show Girls 4:45, 7, 9:30 * Home For The Holidays/Fair GamelSudden DeathIAmerican President/Virtuosity 4:45, 7, 9:30 * Indian in The CupboardiSanta Clause/Goofy 4:45 * Jadelculess 7, 9:30 KIRYAT DNO MATNAS American President (not Sun) 8:30 * Goofy (Hebrew dialogue)

Sun.) 8:30 * Gooty (Hebrew dialogue) Wed. 5 H KIRYAT SHEMONA

23:00 Just Jazz

G.G. Gill. Virtuosity/Sudden Deeth 4:30, 7, 9:30 * Show Girls 4:30, 7, 9:30 *J.OD STAR Sudden Deeth 7:15, 9:45 (Tue viola and harp; Ravi Shankar: The Magic Dawn for flute and harp;

Mozart; Quartet in D for flute and string trio 19:00 Rainbow of Sounds 20:05 Beethoven: Trio in C for 2

oboes and English hom op 87; Schumann: Piano quintet in E flat op 44 21:00 A Metter of Agreement also 5) \* White Man's Bunden 7:15, 9:45 \* The Usual Supports 7:15, 9:45 \* Indian In the City Tue. 5 HECHAL HATARBUT Father Of The Bride N Sun., Mon., Wed., Thu. 8:30 NESS ZIONA G.G. GIL 1-4  $\pm$  404729 Show Girls

G.G. Gill 1-4  $\pm$  404729 Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10  $\star$  American President weidays 10  $\star$  Fair Game 5, 7:30  $\star$ VirtuositylSudden Death 5, 7:30, 10 H NETANYA G.G. Gill 1-5  $\pm$  628452 Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10  $\star$  Sudden Death/Virtuosity 5, 7:30, 10  $\star$  Home For The Holidays 5, 7:30, 10  $\star$  Home For The Holidays 5, 7:30, 10  $\star$  Fair Game 5, 7:30  $\star$  American President 10 RAV CHEN Money Train Dangerous Minds 5, 7:30, 9:45  $\star$  Seven 9:45  $\star$  Waiting To Exhale 9:45  $\star$  Father Of The Bride II OR AKIVA

If the Postman 5, 7:30 HOR AKIVA RAV CHEN Money TrainiFair GameiDangerous Minds 7, 8:30 OR YEHUDA G.G. Gill Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10 * Virtuosity/Father Of The Bride II 5, 7:30, 10 * American President 10 * Sudden Death 5, 7:30 PETAH TIKVA G.G. HECHAL 1-3 * 9300844 Virtuosity/Sudden Death 5, 7:30, 10 * Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10 G.G. RAM 1-3 * 9340810 Dengerous MindsiAmerican PresidentiFather Of The Bride II 5, 7:30, 10 PARK Show GirlsISeven 7:45, 10:15 * An Indian In The CupboardIDangerous Minds 5:30, 8 Money Train 5:30, 8, 10:15 H Virtuosity 5:30, 8, 10:15 * Waiting To Edate 5:30, 0 * American President 10:15 RAMAT GAN RAV-GAN 1-4 * 6197121 Dangerous MindsIAmerican Presidentifusual Suspects 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Father Of The

MindsiAmerican Presidentilusual Suspects 5, 7:30, 9:45 x Father Of The Bride it 5, 7:30, 9:45 RAV-OASIS 1-3 = 6730687 Show GirlslSeven 4:45, 7:15, 9:45 x Money Train 5, 7:30, 9:45 RAMAT HASHARON KOKHAV = 5491979 Partnelli weekdays 7:30, 9:30 EEMOVOT

KOKHAV = 5491979 Partnelli weekdays 7:30, 9:30 REHOVOT CHEN 1-4 = 362864 Show Girls 7:15, 10 + White Man's Burden 7:15 + Seven 9:45 RISHON LEZION GAL 1-5 = 9619669 Show Girls 4:30, 7:15, 10 + Seven 5, 7:30, 10 HAZ-AHAV Fair GamelAmerican President 5, 7:30, 10 + Seven 5, 7:30, 10 HAZ-AHAV Fair GamelAmerican President 5, 7:30, 10 RAV CHEN = 9670503 Money TrainiDangerous Minds 5, 7:30, 9:45 + The Usual Suspacts 9:45 + Seven 4:45, 7:15, 9:45 + Fether Of The Bride II 5, 7:30 STAR 1-4 = 961985-7 27 Lishinsky St. Money Train 7:30 10 + Write Man's Burden 10 + Waiting To Exhals 7:30 + Home For The Holidays 7:30, 10 UPPER NAZARETH G.G GIL Fair GamelDesperadoVirtuosityIDangerou

G.G Gill. Fair GamelDesperadolVirtuosityIDangerou e MindsISudden Death 4:45, 7, 9:30 ± SevenIShow Girts 4:30, 7, 9:45 ¥EHUO RAV-CHEN Savyonim Money Train 5, 7:30, 9:45 ± Dangerous Minds 5, 7:30, 9:45 ± Usual Suspects 9:45 ± Waiting To Exclusion 7:30, 9:45 ± Father Of The Bride II 5, 7:30 ± Mortal Combat 6 Phone meananthet: Tal Auty 52/52244 Phone reservations; Tel Aviv 5252244 Phone reservations; Halts 728878 - Ali times are p.m. unless otherwise Indi-cated,

382020 American PresidentiHome For The Holl- dsys 4:30, 7, 9:30 * Something To Talk About 7, 9:30 * Clustess 4:30 RAV-GAT 1-2 = 674311

Clusters 4:30 FAV-GA1  $1.2 \pm 0.43$  if [OS] Money Train 4:45, 7, 9:15  $\pm$  Sev-en 4:30, 7, 9:15 RAV-MOR 1-7  $\pm$ 8416839/8 [OS] Seven 4:45, 7, 9:15  $\pm$ The Usual SuspectiWalting To Exhale White Man's Burden 4:45, 7,

JERUSALEM THEATER Man of No im-portance Mon, Tue, Thu 9:30; Sun, Wed. 7, 9:30 + Liston Story Mon., Tue. 7; Wed., Thu. 7, 9:30 RAV CHEN 1-7* 792799 Credit Card Reservations* 794477 Rav-Mecher Building, 19 He'oman St., Tahiot Seven 2:30, 7:15, 9:45 * Money Train 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Blue in The FaceIDanger- ous Minds/The Usuat Suspects/White Man's Burden 5, 7:30,8:45 * Waiting To Exhate 9:45 * Father Of The Bridde II Suspects/White Man's Burden 5, 7:30,8:45 * Walting To Exhale 9:45 * Pather Of The Bride II 5,7:30 CINEMATHEQUE Fresh 5 * Windowan Film Studies 9:30 (unequited Aviv CINEMATHEQUE The Phying Camel 7 * The Man Who Checks The Meater 9:30 COLONY (MANDARIN) The PostmantUsual Suspects 6, 8, 10 DIZENGOFF Show Girls 10:45 a.m., 1, 3:15, 5:30, 7:45, 10 * Man of No Importance weekdays 11 a.m., 1, 3, 5, 7:45 * Liebon Story 1, 5; 7:45, 10 * Priest 11 a.m. * Fresh 3 DRIVE IN Goldon Eye 10 * Sex Film michtight GAT Dangerous Minds 5, 7:30, 9:45 GORDON The Unbellevalue Truth 8 * Trust 10 HAKOLNOA Visuosity/Sudden Death/Fair Game 5, 7:30, 10 G.G. HOD 1-4 * 522090 Hod Passage, 101 OF 2engolf St. American Presi- dentiA Deed Man Walding 2, 5, 7:30, 10 * Home For The Hol- days/Clueless 2, 5, 7:30, 10 * LEV 1-4 * 528288 White Man's Burden 12:15, 2:15, 5, 7:45, 10 * Georgia noon, 2, 5:15, 7:45, 10 * Georgia noon, 5, 7:30, 9:45 * Of Land and Freedom2 G.G. PETER American President/Home For The Holidays/Passover Fever 8:30, 9:30 * The Hauthed Soul 5, 7:30, 10 G.G. TAYELET 1:3 * 5:17952 2 Yona Hanavi St. Some- thing To Talk About/Fair Game/Solden Death/Fair Game 5, 7:30, 10 TEL ANV MU- SEUM * 8981297 27 Shaul Ha-melakh Boulevard Chungking Express 5, 8, 10 HAFA CINEMA CAFE AMAMI * 325755 Bridges of Madison County 9:15 * Forget Parts 7:15 * Single Albout/Fair Game/Solden Death/Fair Game 5, 7:30, 10 TEL ANV MU- SEUM * 8981297 27 Shaul Ha-melakh Boulevard Chungking Express 5, 8, 10 HAFA CINEMA CAFE AMAMI * 325755 Bridges of Madison County 9:15 * Forget Parts 7:15 * Virtuosity/White Man's Burden/Suddan Death/Fair Game 5, 7:30, 10 TEL ANV MU- SEUM * 8981297 27 Shaul Ha-melakh Boulevard Chungking Express 5, 8, 10 HAFA CINEMA CAFE AMAMI * 325755 Bridges of Madison County 9:15 * Forget Parts 7:15 * Single Albout/Fair Game 7:50 * Shaul Ha-melakh Bou

Jerusalem: Hadassah Ein Keram (inter-nal, surger, orthopodics); Magas Ladach (obstetrics); Bilor Holim (pediatrics, ENT); Shaare Zedek (ophthalmology). Tel Aviv: Tel Aviv Medical Center (pedi-atrics), Ichilov (internal, surgery). Netarnya: Laniado.

the area, around the clock. Medical help for tourists (in English)

Rambam Hospital 04-8523205, to emer-gency calls 24 hours a day, for information in case of polsoning. Eran – Emotional First Aid. Jerusalem 610303, Tel Aviv 546111 (children/youth 6861113), Halfa 8671222/3, Beersheba 281120, Netanya 625110, Karmiel 9988410, Kfar Sava 7674555, Hadera 346780

Wizo hollines for batteriab women tc-6514111, 03-5451133 (also in Russian), 07-375310, 08-550506 (also in Amherici-Rape Crisis Center (24 hours), Tel Aviv 5234819, 5446191 (men), Jerusalem 255558, Halfs 8680111, Eila 31977. Hadassah Medical Organization -Israel Cancar Association telephone support

'Davar Rishon' closes this week

MICHAL YUDELMAN

DAVAR Rishon will elose at the end of the week, following the Hisladrut's decision yesterday not to give the newspaper additional financial support.

12

"We'll publish the paper to the very last mnment as a live and active newspaper," editnr-inchief Ron Beo-Yishai said, "not only in the hope that something can still be dooe to save it, but because even facing death, nne must die on one's feet."

The decision to close Davar Rishon came after a long, tense Histadrut executive session, when it transpired that all the attempts to find investors for the newspaper had failed.

Members of the paper's executive cnmmittee appeared, nutlined the newspaper's husiness and editarial achievements, and requested another $6 millinn over the oext two years, to get "hreathing space" to negotiate with potential investors.

Ben-Yishai said Davar Rishon has a right to exist "as an independent, serious newspaper. The others are tabloids. Ha'aretz, the only other serious paper, is busicess oriented. It is essential that there is at least one serious oews-

OVER 70 Rafael workers who are facing dismissal began a hunger strike yesterday outside the giaot armameots development

The hunger strikers, who have pitched a tent near the plant's eotrance, are pressing management to rescind the firing ootices

They have the full backing of the Rafael works committee and the Histadrut's Haifa branch.

The latter has also submitted a petition to the Haifa Labor Court for an injunction against the dis-

Branch secretary Baruch Zaltz said that although the Civil Ser-missals.

they received in the past week.

authority plant south of Acre.

Rafael staff begins

hunger strike

DAVID RUDGE

paper which has a humanist orientation and social seositivity, like ours." He noted that "most investors, like those who bought Ma'ariv and The Jerusalem Post, knew that even if their investment falls flat, the papers had eoough real estate to cover the costs. In Davar, however, all the real estate was mortgaged a long time befnre I arrived on the scene."

The Histadrut, which decided to get rid of Davar when Haim Ramnn was elected chairman two years ago, agreed to pay $1 million a year for three or four years to support the paper, oo condi-tinn that an investor was found to purchase its stock with the workers. During the past year, the Histadrut paid $35 million to cover the newspaper's debts, severance fees, and maintenance. But the decision to cut off further fioancial support coostituted a death sectence for Davar Rishon.

"This is a sad day for Davar Rishon, but also for the Israeli press, which will remain with three newspapers, privately owned hy three families constantly at war with one another." one worker said.

rather than forced dismissals.

The Histadrut has put forward slternative proposals under employees and 600 contract workers would leave over the oext 12 months, provided they received "acceptable" severance

It has also beeo agreed that remaining workers would accept a wage freeze for the next two years

- equivalent to an overall 14 per cent cut in salary - in return for a commitment that plans to turn Rafael into a public company would

Yigal Cohen, head of the trade union department at the Hista-be frozen for the same period.

terms and pension rights.

THE High Court of Justice yesterday threw out a petitino asking that Ami Avalan's appointment as head of the General Security Service be delayed, saying there publicatioo. is no factual hasis for the petitioners' claims. The petitioo was filed by two men who had served under Ayalon in the navy, Ami Hollander and Ram Golombik. It asked that Ayaion's appointment be delayed until he is investigated on a matter which, the petitioo alleged, revealed flawed hehavior on through voluctary retirement,

Avalon's part. The details of the affair were haooed from

According to Ha'aretz, the two petitioners had been fired by the navy, allegedly for improper behavior, and had countercharged that they were fired because they uncovered improper behavior in the higher ranks and reponed lt. After a hearing that lasted no more than 10 minutes, however, Justices Aharoo Barak, Ya'akoy

NEWS

Kedmi, and Dalla Dorner decided there was oo evidence to justify the petitioners' claims. The affair had already been examined by both the army comptroller and the Judge Advocate-General's Office, and these bodies had also found oo basis to the petitiooers' claims. The affair also has been > hrought before a labor court. After the hearing, both petitiooers declined to comment on wbether they considered Ayalon

Court rejects petition against new GSS head fit to head the GSS, saying that is not for them to decide. However, they stressed that their complaints against Ayalon are not on the professional level.

Monday, February 12, 1996

"On the professional level, I certainly have no criticism of Ami Ayalon," said Hollander.

"He is one of the most talented people ... in Israel," agreed Golombik. 'But on a personal level, I think he's missing something ... If there were errors and cover-. ups by those beneath him, he is responsible."

Psychiatrists examining Amir won't see all police videos

RAINE MARCUS

the week. Workers monrned the passing of a paper with acute social consciousness. One said: 'Not only ratings and business considerations should count. What abont values and social sensitivity?' (Photo: Alon Ron/Israel Sun. Text: Michal Yudelman)

EVELYN GORDON

which around 400 government TEL AVIV District Court vesterday rejected a request hy Yigal Amir's lawyers, who had asked that psychiatrists examining the confessed assassin watch all videos filmed by police of the murder reenactment and hy amateur photographer Roo Kempler. The request was filed last week several times." hy defeose lawyers Shmuel Fleishman and Gabi Shahar who argued that in order to determine the accused's mental stahility, Schools lack proper shelters sector are inadequate. "The rate of 'shelter deficien-THIRTY-NINE percent of the country's schools do not have adequate shelters or protected areas cy' is actually greater than the for pupils in case of emergeocy, figures show, since many of the shelters were built duriog the 1960s, are oot up to standa psychiatrists should watch every secood of the films, "if necessary Amir's mental state.

The team of psychiatrists visited Amir last Friday at Hasharon oo Thursday. Prisoo where he is being held.

Jordan Valley kibbutzim want probe of interest rates DAVID RUDGE

Council chairmao Ze'ey S

They are scheduled to continue their examinations tomorrow before reaching conclusions about

JORDAN Valley Regiocal Jordan Valley kibbutzim tomorhore ler ----

1322 104 1 1 1 1 1

ERC 7 --- -- -- --- ---

Kari .

1003 T TOC - 44

Z Cirra

at at a te a ga

R 12 2 2

Berger ( ) - .

Balast. ....

CE SALE

10 M 10

-----

the second

State in Sec.

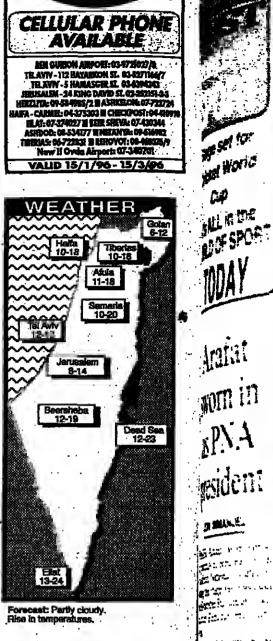

120-20 to 02 ate and the second second

Sec. 2

222/22

3E 10 ......

Ste 2 -

The Jerusalem Post

ISRAEL'S No. 1

PER DAY

vice Commissioo had giveo management a mandate to fire 350 government employees, negotiations were still continuing.

"We believed that management would not use this threat and implement the dismissal procedure, but would continue with the negotiations," Zaltz told reporters yesterday.

The works committees and the Histadrut maintain that the staffiog cutbacks cao he achieved

MEGILLATH ESTHER

JP Price: NIS 33

Links Beyond Fine

 $(T_{i})$

TURNABOUT: The Malbum on Megilias Estber

Yoel T. Cahn

JP Price: NIS 52

JP Price: NIS 69

Horoughly in a book based entirely on the Talmud, with only rare reinforcements from the Targum and Midrash. Hardcover, 194pp.

127 INSIGHTS INTO MEGILLAS ESTHER

drut's Haifa branch, said there were indications that these proposals were acceptable to the Treasury. The ultimate decision, however, has to he made hy Prime Minister and Defense Minister Shimon Peres. Haifa Histadrut officials and representatives of the Rafael works committees were due to meet last oight with Histadrut Chairman Amir Peretz.

DJPN

Speaking at a press conference held with OC Home Froot Commaod Maj.-Gen. Shmuel Arad, Goldman said that 26% of schools in the North do oot have adequate shelters; as do 40% in the Haifa area; some 41% of the schools do not have proper shelters in the central area, 38% in Tel Aviv, 51% in Jerusalem and 30% in the South. Forty-oine perceot of schools in the Arah cha Goldman said yesterday.

Deputy Educatioo Minister Mi-

would harely provide any protection," Goldman said.

The Educatioo Ministry has recommended that the policy be to close schools during times of emergency, hut the security cabioet has oot accepted this recommendation.

The press cooference was called in advance of a nationwide civil defense drill being held in the schools nn Wednesday. (Itim) yesterday called on Supervisor of Banks Ze'ev Abeles to conduct a thorough investigation into bank interest rates in light of the kibbutz debt affair, or resign.

The call was made as a result of the Procaccia Report, which alleged the commercial banks miscalculated charges to kibbutzim over many years.

Shore is organizing an emergency meeting of memhers of inquiry into the matter. There is already strong opposition to proposals that four kibbutzim in the regioo should give some of their land to the banks, as part of the kibbotzim debt agreement with the banks and the government.

Winning cards In yesterday's Mifal Hapayis daily Chance card draw, the lucky cards were the nine of spades, nine of hearts, nine of diamonds, and jack of clubs.

Tel 02-666231 (9:30 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.) Ask for Romit or Tami.

Get ready for London's visiting mayor: Israel's terrorism fight Turnabout more complex than ours BATSHEVA TSUR Hardcover book, fully illustrated, with a new simplified translation. 40pp. Comes with a committee coloring book. JP Price: NIS 31 LONDON'S Inrd mayor said yestivities in the British capital and terday that Friday night's IRA this region, Chalstrey said that bombing in his city had been a Israel's problem is "more comsethack to the peace process in plex. The oumber of people who Translated and adapted by Mendel Weinbach. The Purim story in novelletie form, together with historical background, chronology, literal translation, section on the Malbim and the entire text with Rashi. Hardcover, 178pp. JP Price: NIS 29 Nurthern Ireland, but that he beare prepared to go to such lengths is smaller in our case. But there lieved negotiatinns would resume after a short break. are many similarities." Speaking after a meeting with The lord mayor said that, like President Ezer Weizman at Beit the Israeli government, the Brit-Hanassi yesterday evening, John ish government is working to-Chalstrey said: "We just need to gether with all those who are in-Compiled from the words of Chazal by Mendel Weinbach. Tril half the kingdom ""Who is a Yehudi - Jew" - expressions explained keep cool. We'll not allow them terested in nnn-vinlence to to blow us nff course. There's on achieve peace. "After a short way that this sort of terrorist outbreak, negotiations will restart, I rage can affect the British peothink." ple's resuluting. They should LINKS BEYOND TIME: The Book of Esther in Light of the Life of Yoseph know it's counterproductive." Asked whether there were sim-Light and darkness, exile and redemption, persecution by evil and the triumph ilarities between the terrorist acof good...this thought-provoking book is sure to give a deeper understanding of the Megulah In the light of biblical parallels. Hardcover, 280pp. THE BOOK OF ESTHER: A GLIMPSE BEHIND THE MASK The Commentary of Rabbi Moshe Alshich on Megillath Esther get solitary confinement Translated by Dovid Honig, this is a clear and readable presentation of the 16th century commentary on the Book of Esther, including the full text of the Megillah. 2 hardcover volumes in presentation slipcase. To: Books, The Jerusalem Post, POB 81, Jerusalem 91000 Please send me the following PURIM books: _____ UZI Meshulam and his 11 supparters were placed in solitary

POSTAGE: Please add NIS 5 for 1 book; NIS 10 for 2 or more: Enclosed is my check payable to The Jerusalem Post or credit card details: □ Visa □ Isc/MCD □ Diners □ AmEx CC No_ Name __Address_ City_ _Code_ JD No Tel/Fax(day)___ Signature confinement last night. The move came after the group created more trouble in Ramle's

Ayalon Prisoo following dissatisfaction with a Supreme Court ruling last week. The court reduced Meshulam's eight-year secteoce hy 18 months, but he and his followers believe he should be acquitted. Yesterday, they declared a huoger strike, and the Prisons canceling their rights to make phone calls or receive visitors.

ment, threatening that otherwise it would give the authorities a 'good reason'' to put them into solitary.

An hour later, they began to tear and cut wires attached to closed-circuit TVs and smoke detectors. They were then taken to solitary confinement cells.

With reference to cooperatioo with Israel on urban terrorism, he added: "We'll combat it together whenever we can."

Meshulam and supporters

RAINE MARCUS

Service withdrew their privileges, The group then demanded to be placed in solitary coofine-